Weekend Of Violence; 9 Police Shot

Sergeant Killed At Desk; American Journalist Dies

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Five policemen were shot in Philadelphia over the weekend, one fatally as he sat at his desk.

Four other policemen were wounded as they chased suspects through a Mexican-American section of Riverside.

In New York 2,000 young people, including a group of homosexuals, stoned police in a confrontation in Greenwich Village.

These were some of the major instances of violence that plagued a number of American cities during the weekend.

In Philadelphia, Sgt. Frank Von Colln 43, was shot five times and killed at his desk in the Cobbs Creek Park guardhouse Saturday night. Minutes earlier, a man hailed a patrol wagon driven by policeman James Harrington, 39. Harrington pulled over and the man shot him twice in the face. Sunday night, two highway patrolmen stopped a stolen car carrying two black men in west Philadelphia, the same neighborhood of the previous shootings. The patrolmen were wounded, one critically, in an exchange of gunfire. Later, a wounded man was arrested in a private home.

Police arrested three men in connection with the Saturday night shootings and charged one with murder, possession of explosives and firearms violations. Police said he told them he belonged to a black group that had been "planning to kill pigs for several months."

During the search for the assailants another Philadelphia policeman was wounded today, the fifth in a 36-hour period. Patrolman Frank Eckman, a sharpshooter, was hit in the left leg by someone inside a heavily barricaded residence. The places raided included a Black Panther headquarters. Twenty-three persons were arrested

In Riverside, Calif., four policemen chasing two men through a Mexican-American area Sunday night were wounded by a shotgun blast. Earlier in the evening, 100 young persons had tried to barricade streets. Four men were arrested, one on suspicion of attempted murder.

Nixon Silent On Role In Mideast

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon today refused to speculate on whether U.S. troops might be part of a peacekeeping force policing a Middle East settlement.

Such speculation, he said in a television interview, would be harmful to negotiations now underway at the United Nations between Israel, Jordan and Egypt.

The President's remarks, taped in front of the Western White House Saturday and broadcast today (CBS Morning News), seemed designed to knock down discussion of a possibility raised by one of his chief Middle East advisers last week in a background briefing for news executives.

Pointing out that both the Soviet Union and the United States do not have firm control over the opposing sides they are backing in the conflict, the adviser had said both superpowers might send observer forces to the area to guarantee terms of a final settlement.

"I do not believe that suggestions of that type, well intentioned as they are, are going to be particularly helpful," the President said. "For people from the outside, whoever they may be, in government, out of government, to make this suggestion or that suggestion as to where we move without knowing all the facts, I don't think would be particularly helpful, so I will not comment on it."

The President said he was "neither optimistic nor expectant" about a settlement in the troubled region but said the fact both sides had agreed to the cease-fire brought "some hope."

The President scheduled a full-dress review of the Middle East crisis here Tuesday. He was meeting today with Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., who recently returned from a visit to Israel.

The Tuesday meeting, to be attended by top Defense Department and State Department officials, was expected to focus on Israeli charges Egypt has taken advantage of the American-initiated cease-fire to improve its military position.

In his 15-minute conversation, the President ranged over a number of issues and appeared more optimistic about the chances for peace in Vietnam.

"So far as the United States involvement is concerned in Vietnam, peace is certain. As far as the Mideast is con-

EX-DIPSEA KING WINS AGAIN; RECORD BROKEN

Norman Bright, 60-year-old Seattle school counsellor who set a record for the famed Mill Valley-to-Stinson Beach Dipsea Race in 1937, returned for the first time yesterday and finished first among a field of more than 1,000 runners.

And, to compound the drama of the sporting classic, two Marin Countians bettered Bright's 33-year-old record of 47 minutes, 22 seconds. Don Makela, 19, of Novato was clocked in 46:42 and Richard Delgado, 30-year-old mathematics teacher at San Rafael High School, covered the fog-shrouded 6.8-mile course in 47:01.

In the handicap system, the order of finish was Bright, Delgado and Makela running 1-2-3.

Pro-Thieu Ticket Leading In South Vietnam Election

SAIGON (UPI) — Unofficial returns indicated today that a progovernment slate, an independent ticket and a militantly antigovernment group backed by Buddhists had won seats in the South Vietnamese Senate.

The heaviest level of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks in nearly four months broke out Sunday in an apparent attempt to disrupt the first nationwide voting in South Vietnam in three years.

With votes from most of the nation's major cities and 44 provinces counted, government sources said a slate led by Lt. Gen. Huynh Van Cao (Ret.) had 1,069,800 votes. A ticket backed by miltant An Quang Buddhists and led by attorney Vu Van Mau had 1,053,100 votes and an independent slate headed by Senate Speaker Nguyen Van Huyen had 727,202 votes.

The Mau slate was composed of Buddhists who have long opposed the present Saigon regime and led an uprising in the northern provinces in 1966.

Officials said 4,325,494 persons voted in the Sunday election or 65.7 per cent of the 6.5 million registered voters.

Voters chose three slates of 10 candidates each for 30 seats in the 60-seat senate. The choice was among 160 candidates on 16 slates, including five progovernment Roman Catholic tickets. Each winner will serve a six-year term.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces killed at least 11 civilians in attacks against four polling places. Three of the incidents occurred in Binh Dinh province along the central coast about 240 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

Arsonist Destroys Costumes, Facilities

A disastrous fire set by a persistent arsonist last night ruined $6,000 in costumes and facilities at the Marin Shakespeare Festival in San Rafael's Forest Meadows.

The fire disrupted productions, and director John Brebner said he was rushing to get costumes from other theater groups and universities so the festival can get back on schedule.

The fire, the third set last night at the festival, destroyed the costumes for "Henry V" and for the "Taming of the Shrewd" and some of the costumes for "The Tempest," Brebner reported.

The fire in the costume building already had burned much of the 1,000-square-foot structure when it was reported at 2:43 a.m.

In addition to the costumes, the festival also lost all its drums and other percussion instruments and its sewing machines.

Brebner said the festival — observing its 10th anniversary — may have to cancel all of the remaining performances of "Henry V" unless more costumes can be borrowed. Until more costumes can be found, "Brigadoon" will be substituted for the Thursday and Friday performances this week, he said. As scheduled, "The Tempest" will run on Saturday night, and the "Taming of the Shrew" on Sunday night, but in modern dress.

The fire did $4,500 damage to the costumes and equipment, and $1,500 to the building.

The first two fires were set in piles of leaves and debris during the performance, according to the fire department.

Brebner said that the production schedule for the next four weeks will be worked out later this week, again depending on the success of borrowing costumes.

Fire Chief Vance Trivett said his department had no suspects. San Rafael police were working on the case today.

The festival last year had the most successful season in its history, and held an intensive fund-raising drive to support this year's 10th anniversary season at the outdoor setting.

Successful ABM Test Is Claimed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has successfully intercepted a missile for the first time with its Safeguard Antiballistic missile (ABM) system, the Pentagon announced today.

Assistant Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin said a target Minuteman missile was launched Friday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. A Spartan missile, part of the ABM complex, was fired from Kwajelein Atoll 4,200 miles away in the mid-Pacific.

The Minuteman nose cone was intercepted outside the earth's atmosphere, Henkin said. He would not give the altitude.

COURT SETS HEARING

Southern Schools Integrate Today

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

White parents picketed and boycotted schools in Stockbridge, Ga., today whlie scores of schools across the South opened peacefully for the first time on a totally integrated basis. In Washington, the Supreme Court set a date for hearing whether the Constitution requires a racial balance in the nation's schools.

In Miami, Fla., a Negro man walked into the halls of a newly integrated school and opened fire with a rifle, wounding a Cuban father who was taking his son to school. Police said there were no racial overtones, however.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., police investigated a pre-dawn bomb threat at a newly-desegregated school but no explosives were found and classes began on time.

More than 170 white children registered for classes at Indianola, Miss., where the public schools had been attended by 2,615 Negroes and no whites. Most of the returning whites had been attending private schools costing a few hundred dollars per year tuition.

Education superintendent B. H. Papasan at Tunica, Miss., said "some of the 2,800 students in his school system this year will be white. Last winter all the district's whites abandoned the public school system where they were outnumbered seven to one by blacks.

The Supreme Court set Oct. 12 for its hearing on whether the Constitution requires a racial balance in the schools—rather than just a unitary school system. The court consolidated six cases in Charlotte, N.C., Mobile, Ala., and Clarke County, Ga., involving key issues of racial balance and the means of achieving it—including busing, pairing of schools and rezoning.

School officials in Stockbridge, Ga., south of Atlanta, said 200 white parents were turned away when they tried to enroll their children at an elementary school they attended last year. The school is now integrated.

Atlanta sent 110,000 children back to school, but the potential trouble spot was Savannah where eight elementary schools were paired or combined to achieve integration in the 42,000-student district.

North Carolina's largest school district, Charlotte-Mecklenburg, has been granted until Sept. 9 to institute a desegregation plan requiring the busing of about 20,000 of its 83,000 students.

Music Proves More Popular Than Protest

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The beat of rock music proved much more attractive than the pounding of a drum Sunday for youngsters who had been asked to march in protest of the American Legion.

A total of 40,000 attended two nearby rock festivals while only 1,100 turned out for a 41-block march through downtown Portland in protest of the Legion's 52nd annual convention.

Michael McCuster, a Marine Corps combat veteran and People's Army Jamboree bemoaned the "use of our culture (rock music festivals) to defeat our political purpose."

ANTI-WAR TAUNTS

Those who did march for the PAJ taunted passing Legionnaires and others with anti-war, anti-Legion and anti-government shouts in the 91-degree weather.

Marchers chanted: "Ho Ho, Ho Chi Minh, the NLF is going to win." Some yelled curses or made obscene gestures at Legionnaires along the route.

What reaction there was from bystanders was calm and without incident.

TWO FESTIVALS

Meanwhile, at the festival sites, rock music blared on both sides of the Columbia River, complete with nudity, drugs and even newly born babies.

Clark County authorities ordered an autopsy Sunday at Washougal, Wash., for the body of an unidentified young man found in a nearby river by a skindiver.

The death at the Sky River Rock Festival and Lighter Than Air Fair dampened somewhat the fun of the 20,000 young persons there who had been skinny dipping and smearing themselves with mud.

Authorities guessed the drowned man was between 22 and 25 years old.

VORTEX ONE

The other festival is called Vortex One and is on the Oregon side of the river near Portland. It was approved by Governor Tom McCall as a means of drawing youths and anti-war protesters away from the national American Legion convention.

It also drew some 20,000 persons Sunday and there too there was mud smearing and nude swimming. And lots of bands.

DRUGS COMMON

Although physicians noted only a few "bad trips" as the result of drugs, they were being sold and used. One man was selling "organic mescaline" from an old hearse.

Sky River promotors failed to get permits for their festival but the Clark County sheriff's 35-man force made no move against it.

Chavez Wins Pact With Big Grower

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union, announcing the first victory in its strike to organize field workers in the fertile Salinas Valley, ordered its members back to work today for one firm.

Chavez told a cheering throng of his followers Sunday he had signed a contract with Inter Harvest, Inc., largest lettuce grower in "The Nation's Salad Bowl" and the first company to abandon a joint front against the union.

"This is the best contract we've negotiated," Chavez declared as his AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee voted to approve the contract with the United Fruit Company subsidiary.

"We appeal to the rest of the growers to negotiate with us so we can send the workers back to work," he continued.

Inter Harvest's two-year contract with the union covers between 800 and 1,000 persons in this valley as well as other sections of California. The union is striking both here and around Santa Maria, 130 miles southward.

Still to be settled is a suit brought in San Francisco Superior Court by Pic 'n Pac, a S. S. Pierce Company subsidiary that contends Inter Harvest is breaking an agreement with other valley growers by signing a Chavez contract. A hearing is scheduled Tuesday.

Chavez also said the Teamsters Union, which previously had signed contracts with 35 valley growers, agreed to rescind its agreements with Inter Harvet, which farms 25,000 acres in California and Arizona.

The walkout last week by 5,000 of the valley's 7,000 workers resulted in a dispute over whether the Teamsters or UFWOC would represent field workers. Until the Inter Harvest action, all growers had stood by their Teamster pacts.

Contract terms announced by Mrs. Dolores Huerta, the union vice president, include pay of $2.10 an hour for field hands operating machine lettuce pickers and 40.5 cents per carton for those picking by hand.

Machine pickers had been getting $1.75 and were to get $1.85 under the Teamster contract. Hand pickers had been getting 31.5 cents and would have gotten 36 under the Teamster pact.

In addition, the contract grants 10 cents an hour per worker for a health and welfare fund, gives workers some say in the use of pesticides and brings working foremen under union jurisdiction. Seven pesticides were specifically banned, including DDT, and restrictoins were put on others.

Israel Backs Away From Peace Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Middle East peace efforts bogged down today, with the Israeli cabinet split over its course of action and Egypt claiming charges of cease-fire violations were a "coverup" for an Israeli-American electronic equipment deal.

Political sources in Jerusalem said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan is considering resigning unless Israel revises its stance toward the peace talks initiated by the United States. Dayan holds Israel should not have even begun the talks until the issue of Egypt's alleged installation of missiles in the Suez Canal cease-fire zone was cleared up.

DAYAN VICTORY

Dayan and his backers in the cabinet appeared to have won at least a partial victory Sunday when the cabinet detained Ambassador to the U.N. Yosef Tekoah instead of sending him back to New York for further talks. U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring had hoped to get the pace of the talks stepped up, but the lack of an Israeli negotiator dashed those hopes.

Jarring's only meetings with Tekoah were last Tuesday — the first day of the talks.

With the 90-day cease-fire already in its 24th day, Jarring has met twice each with the Israeli, Jordanian and Egyptian representatives.

'DEAL' CHARGED

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said Israel's charges Egypt moved SAM2 and SAM3 missiles within the 31-mile truce area after the cease-fire went into effect Aug. 7 was regarded in Egyptian military circles "as a deliberate attempt to cover up for an electronic equipment deal between the United States and Israel." It did not give details of the "deal."

"Israel cannot claim the missiles had been moved to the front after the cease-fire took effect because they were already there," Al Ahram said. "Proof of this is the many Phantom and Skyhawk jets which were shot down or crippled by the Egyptian missiles in the one-month period immediately preceding the cease-fire."

NASSER CLAIM

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, in a meeting Sunday with a delegation representing the World Peace Council, said Israel did not want peace — "The Israeli approved the American proposal after a long hesitation, but there is no material evidence to show that they really want peace."

Union Threatens

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union will strike if the Big Three automakers do not meet "legitimate demands" in the current contract negatations, UAW President Leonard Woodcock warned Sunday.

"If we don't have three settlements on Sept. 15, then we'll have one strike," Woodcock told 3,000 members of UAW local 600, the union's largest, at a rally in suburban Dearborn.

Contracts with General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. expire at midnight Sept. 14. The automakers are scheduled to make their economic proposals Tuesday.

Worst Fire

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UPI)—An increased threat of thunderstorms, lightning and gusty winds today worried firefighters battling the worst outbreak for forest fires ever to strike the Wenatchee National Forest.

Just as some of the major blazes began to appear manageable, the inclement weather threatened to spread the flames past the 100,000 acres already charred.

Good weekend weather helped the 8,000 firefighters in the national forest make significant progress toward controlling the fires which began during a lightning storm last Sunday.

Rights Restored

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Uruguay today restored individual constitutional rights which President Jorge Pacheco Areco had suspended for 20 days to facilitate the search for kidnapped American Claude L. Fly and Brazilian diplomat Aloysio Dias Gomide.

Both were still missing. Shortly before the government reinstated full constitutional guarantees at midnight Sunday night, gunmen opened fire at a military instruction center 1.2 miles from downtown Montevideo. Soldiers fired back at the speeding automobile carrying the gunmen, who escaped.

39 Die In Plane

Agnew In Hawaii

The vice president arrived on American soil after a flight from Bangkok Sunday that was broken only by a 90-minute refueling stop on Guam. On the flight he told newsmen he believed there would be much fighting in Cambodia. But he said U.S. forces would not be involved unless "the security of American troops is threatened."

Agnew said officials in Bangkok are not resisting the reduction of U.S. forces in Asia. "Thai officials are extremely understanding of the American position," the vice president said.

Festival Over

FRESHWATER, Isle of Wight (UPI) — Thousands of young people streamed home from the Isle of Wight pop music festival today, the five days of peace and music marred only at the last minute by isolated clashes with police.

Authorities who praised the majority of the estimated 250,000 persons attending the festival said about 200 "troublemakers" ran wild Saturday night, tearing down 60 yards of corrugated iron fence around the arena and looting some temporary shops.

The trouble came even though the festival organizers earlier in the day had given up trying to sell $4.80 tickets for the last-day performances by Joan Baez, Leonard Cohen and Jimi Hendrix and declared the proceedings free.

Friends Say Angela's Trip Was Unlikely

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—Close friends of Angela Davis, wanted in connection with the San Rafael, courthouse slayings, do not believe the 26-year-old Communist came to Birmingham after the slayings despite police reports, Birmingham Post-Herald Columnist Clettus Atkinson said today.

"In the first place, Angela is too smart to have returned to Birmingham," Atkinson said in his column.

Atkinson told UPI that during an intensive series of interviews among friends of Miss Davis he had found none who believed she ever came back to her hometown.

Jefferson County authorities had reported they missed by only 20 minutes arresting Miss Davis at a Black Panther meeting Aug. 15.

"Angela was reportedly attending a Black Panther rally when allegedly seen in Birmingham," Atkinson told UPI. "I talked to three Panthers, one a woman and they denied vehemently that Angela had been here.

"I talked to several of her friends. They also said she had not returned here, that she would have been foolish to do so, that her hometown would be one of the first places the police would look," Atkinson said.

AIP Convention Supports George Wallace Candidacy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The American Independent Party pledged allegiance to its founder — George Wallace — last night and endorsed his campaign to regain the Alabama governorship.

At a statewide platform convention, AIP delegates voted 307 to 93 in favor of Wallace's bid to win back the office from which he will probably launch another drive for the presidency in 1972.

The convention also elected Merv H. Hemp of Pacific Palisades as its new state chairman. The aerospace engineer, who is the AIP's lieutenant governor candidate, will hold office for two years.

Elected vice chairman was Charles C. Ripely, San Jose. Thomas M. Goodloe Jr., of Placerville won the treasurer's post and Maude I. Jordet of Ventura is the new party secretary.

During the weekend convention delegates also wrote a platform on which their candidates will run this fall that included a plank calling for curtailment of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Delegates defeated a resolution which would have called for a military victory and withdrawal from the Southeast Asian nation.

Other planks included a call for poll taxes and literacy tests for voters, a noninvolvement U.S. policy in the Middle East, a repeal of laws governing the reopening of California gold mines, and a recommendation that whiskeymakers be taxed to pay for rehabilitation of alcoholicsm.

Delegates also adopted a resolution calling for the abolition of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Four Killed In Barge Explosion

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI)—Four men were killed Sunday in a work barge explosion on the Belle River at the same site where a blast one month ago claimed four other victims.

The four killed Sunday were repairing damage caused by the earlier explosion.

The bodies of the latest victims were not recovered Sunday night, and deputies from St. Martin and Assumption Parishes said dragging operations on the river were continuing. The river is near the parish line.

Authorities said the cause of the blast was not known.

stayed out of the campaign but sources said he was privately backing the Cao slate.

Meanwhile, in Nha Trang, a South Vietnamese medical officer and about 12 other government soldiers seized a military hospital and held it for six days before Vietnamese troops regained control today.

While holding the hospital, the officer and the squad of soldiers who joined him went on a sniping spree and killed three persons, including a U.S. soldier, government officials said.

The trouble began at this coastal base 188 miles northeast of Saigon the night of Aug. 25 when a medical officer, a major, was shot to death on the Nha Trang beach during an argument over a woman.

Authorities went to the hospital outside the Nha Trang airbase to question Ha, a doctor at the hospital. The doctor and a squad of soldiers backing him disarmed the military police and took control of the hospital.

In Phnom Penh Viet Cong forces overran a town 26 miles southwest of Phnom Penh Sunday and forced Cambodian defenders into what the government called a tactical withdrawal. The South Vietnamese Command said North Vietnamese troops killed 10 persons and wounded 44 in an attack on an orphanage.

"This is just plain murder," said Maj. Thomas J. Pentacost of Camp LeJeune, N.C., of the attack on a Buddhist compound near An Hoa, 352 miles northnortheast of Saigon Sunday.

The report said the uniformed North Vietnamese troops also seized a Buddhist monk, dragged him from his pagoda, bound his wrists and shot him to death when he refused to give them his money. The troops also robbed the orphanage treasury and fled with pigs and chickens.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Communist troops had seized the town of Srang, 26 miles southwest of the capital. Cambodian spokesmen said the Cambodian troops withdrew "to avoid the Viet Cong pressure and give airplanes a clear target."

The Cambodian government today rushed a battalion of its South Vietnamese trained troops into the Srang area 26 miles south of Phnom Penh to block a possible Viet Cong advance on the capital from the town they captured Sunday.

cerned, we cannot speak with certainty due to the fact that the differences between various parties involved are so deep," Nixon said.

He emphasized once again that the new U.S. negotiator in Paris, David K.E. Bruce, has "great flexibility" and is willing to respond to any initiatives from Hanoi. But he would venture no prediction on whether they would be forthcoming.

"Based on the past record, I would expect nothing," the President said, adding that he was awaiting the beginning of discussions with Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, who is expected to show up for next Thursday's session after an absence of several months.

The President said, however, that what little chance there was for negotiations would be ruined by current Senate moves to require a deadline for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

If any such deadlines are set, he said, "It should be accompanied with another paragraph, in any such resolution immediately breaking off the Paris talks. "The negotiator has no reason to stay in Paris in the event there is a deadline, because the other side might as well wait for us to get out."

A resolution requiring U.S. troops to be out of Southeast Asia by January, 1971, sponsored by Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark Hatfield, R-Oregon, is scheduled for a vote in the Senate Tuesday.

Turning to domestic issues, the President said the mood of the nation was volatile. But he said domestic strife had been less severe this summer than two years ago and said he had his "fingers crossed" people were beginning to accept the fact that conflicts must be resolved through constitutional processes. "This is the great issue of our time," he said.

Invasion Of Embassy Ends In Surrender

THE HAGUE (UPI)—A band of Amboinese youths who seized the Indonesian embassy in a burst of gunfire that killed a guard surrendered tonight without carrying out their threat to execute the ambassador's family one by one.

The students had said they would execute the ambassador's wife and their two children if Indonesian President Suharto did not meet with them within the next 48 hours. Suharto, who had been expected here Tuesday, postponed his visit because of the incident.

The students surrendered after talking with Dutch Premier Piet de Jong. He conferred with them after creeping across a garden from the neighboring residence of an American businessman. The raiders left the residence at 5:30 p. m. and boarded police trucks.

Suharto was scheduled to arrive in The Hague on Tuesday on a state visit but Jakarta dispatches tonight said he had postponed the visit for 24 hours and might cancel it altogether to let the Dutch "restore order." The Amboinese youths set a 48-hour deadline on their demand Suharto meet with them.

Jan Ross, who identified himself as news editor of the Netherlands Press Association, told the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) he had spoken to one of the raiders who told him "they are going to start executions; the first execution is tonight at 8 o'clock." The raiders were holding the Indonesian ambassador's wife and their two children.

Summer Intern At The I-J Finds Work Rewarding, Learns A Lot

A San Jose State College student who spent the summer working as a newsroom intern for the Independent-Journal sums up the experience by saying, "I learned a heck of a lot."

Francis M. Dozier Jr., who plans a career in magazine journalism, said that working as a reporter turned out to be much different from what he expected.

"I knew so little that I thought each reporter only wrote one story a day," Dozier laughed.

Although his real interest is in feature writing, Dozier said that learning to write "hard news" stories was an invaluable experience for him.

"I have written all types of stories this summer," he said.

Because he had been an editor on high school and junior college newspapers, the college senior said that he thought he knew how to write newspaper stories and had skipped beginning journalism courses at college.

"I found out I didn't know how," he said.

The 31-year-old senior explained that "I've taken my time" getting an education.

A native of Los Angeles, his home is in Altadena and he graduated from Pasadena High School in 1957. The intervening years have been divided between college and work.

Dozier worked for post offices and as a clerk for the Internal Revenue Service in Southern California while attending junior colleges.

In 1966 he came north and enrolled in Contra Costa College, and two years later switched to San Jose State, where he decided on a journalism major.

Although Dozier's work has paid his way through college for the most part, last year and next year he has been given grants of $500 a year from the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

It was through a list circulated by the association, also, that he found the summer job at the I-J.

Unruh Visits Marin To Lambaste Governor's 'Sad Performance'

The Reagan Administration is spending more money than it is taking in, crime is on the increase and "welfare is up," Unruh asserted.

Reagan's proposed tax revision plan, if passed, would have been "one of the worst atrocities ever perpetrated on the people of California," he contended.

Homeowners would have gotten relief, but renters, "and about 40 per cent of the people in California are renters," would have pair more taxes, Unruh said. Under this setup, a renter making $8,000 would have paid $25 more, and this renter would be helping to pay for the tax relief "someone in a $200,000 home would get," he declared.

Unruh, underdog in the polls, told his followers, "I'm not as far back as Hubert Humphrey or Pat Brown in 1958 or Harry Truman in 1948."

He charged that the Reagan Administration has "struck out" on issues of environment and ecology. "Every major bill on environment went down the tubes."

Unruh said next in order is "to name names of those who have profited from the Ronald Reagan Administration, those who have had their hand in the till, if not illegally, immorally, and to say: "Here's the kind of con game you've been getting."

Unruh also commented that Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, isn't "The little tin god a lot of people might think him."

He said he liked Bagley personally, but saw him "cast one of the worst votes," on an amendment to the governor's tax bill.

Unruh said he had the votes needed to amend the oil depletion allowance so an oil company couldn't get an allowance that was more than 10 times its investment.

The amendment was in the original bill prepared by Bagley, but amended out by the Ways and Means Committee, Unruh explained. "We tried to get it back in."

On a first roll call, Bagley voted for it, but then "left the floor," and when he returned, he had changed his vote and the amendment was defeated, Unruh claimed.

This closing part of the loophole in the oil depletion allowance would have resulted in about $12 million for the state, Unruh reported.

Bagley votes for civil rights and Wilson Riles "because he's smart," but "the people of this country have been hoodwinked long enough," Unruh asserted.

Joseph A. Forest of Bel Main Keys, Democratic candidate for the Seventh Assembly District seat, said the legislation and administration in Sacramento must be "turned around."

William M. Bennett of Kentfield, Democratic candidate for the Third District seat on the State Board of Equalization, said that property held by "large operators" is underappraised, and he "has been appalled by what he has seen.

Mortgage Money Is Loosening Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Prospects of relief for the money-starved housing industry appear brighter because mortgage money is becoming more plentiful, according to a government report.

The report, released Sunday, said mortgage money is more plentiful now than at any time in the past year because of an increase in money available from savings and loan associations, the largest single source of home loans.

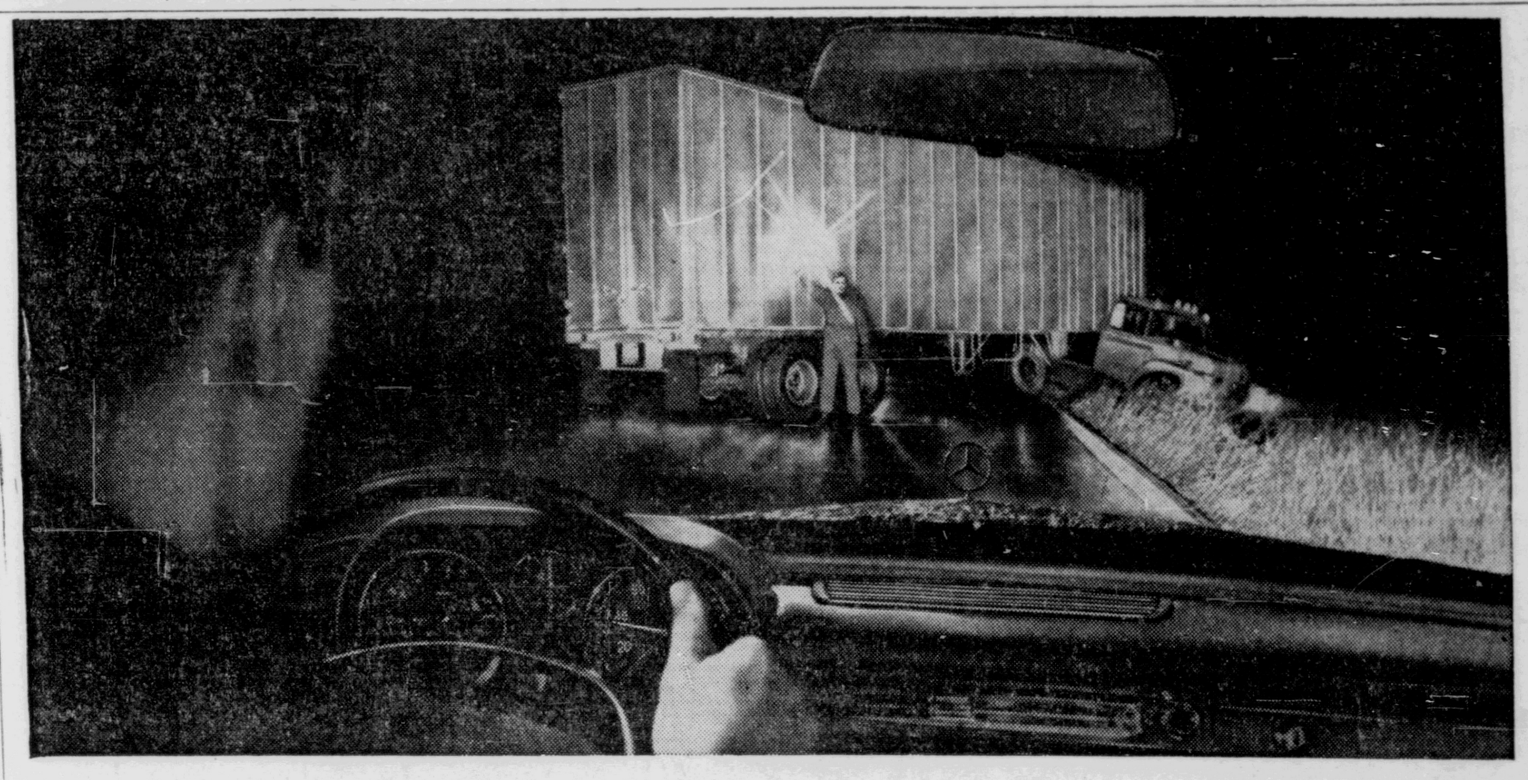

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said savings and loan associations made commitments for future loans totaling $1.7 billion last month, the highest figure since April, 1969, and 27 per cent more than July, 1969.

The board said the associations closed loans totaling $2 billion last month, up 5 per cent from a year ago, and the first year-to-year increase in 12 months.

FUEL UP TO FIGHT CANCER

At your Marin Independent Service Station

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

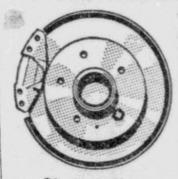

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail.

And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

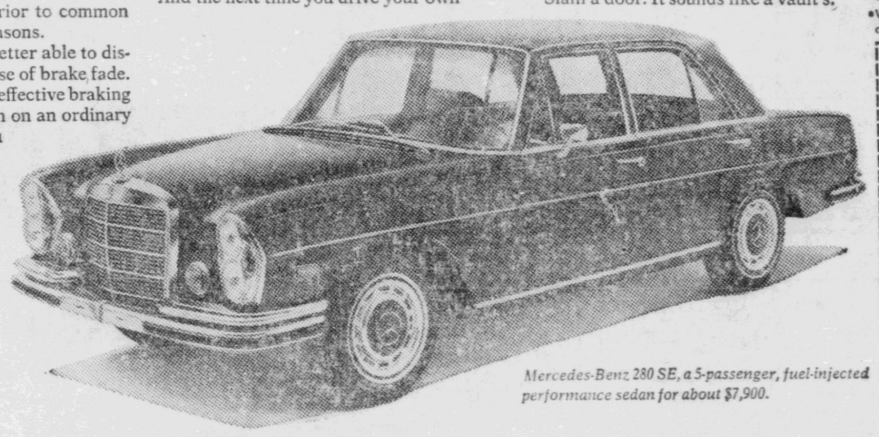

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

New Guide Gives Practical Help–Study This Spade Slam

My friend and rival Alan Truscott, who writes a daily bridge column for a certain large Eastern newspaper, has just put out an excellent new book called "A Guide to Practical Bridge," published by the New York Times. He got a bridge player by the name of Omar Sharif to write the foreward. Today's hand, taken from the new Truscott book, will give you an idea of how useful it is.

DIAMOND LEAD

West leads the ten of diamonds, and South must be careful not to claim his 12 tricks without looking ahead. If South draws trumps and finds that the six missing trumps are divided 4-2, he will be able to take the first 11 tricks. But then West will save the ace of hearts and a diamond to defeat the slam.

If South is in a forethoughtful mood, as readers of bridge columns should be, he will set up a heart trick while dummy still has a trump to stop the diamonds. But the obvious play of leading to the king of hearts will fail, Truscott points out. West will take the ace of hearts and lead another diamond. Dummy must ruff, and South has no way to draw trumps, which are blocked in dummy.

The winning play is unusual. South must lead the queen of hearts from dummy at the second trick. West cannot afford to refuse the trick, since declarer would draw trumps and run the clubs to take the first 12 tricks.

When West takes the ace of hearts and leads a diamond, dummy ruffs. Now after declarer has drawn trumps with the king and queen, he can reach his hand by leading a heart to the king. He draws two more rounds of trumps, runs the clubs and scores a well-earned slam.

If I have to pick a flaw in Truscott's 220-page book, it is that perhaps paperback books at $1.95 are overpriced. It's well game, but can it be that our great Eastern newspaper is contributing to inflation?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

With two four-card suits, respond first in the cheaper suit. If partner has heart support, he can raise; if not, he may bid one spade. If he has neither heart support nor biddable spades, he will make some other bid and you will discover at once that both major suits are unplayable.

Contra Costa Hit By Small Temblor

A spokesman at the University of California seismograph station said the tremblor, which registered 3.1 on the Richter Scale, was centered near Pittsburgh. It occurred at 5:13 a.m.

The moon is new. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1954 Hurricane Carol lashed the New England coast, killing 68 persons and causing damage estimated at $500 million.

In 1968 at least 250 deaths were reported in an Iranian earthquake.

In 1969 the military took over the government of Brazil after the president suffered a stroke.

A thought for the day: William Saroyan said, "If you give to a thief he cannot steal from you, and he is then no longer a thief."

Special Tax Proposed On Nudity In Films

MANILA (UPI) — A bill which would impose a special tax on motion picture films "with nude or undressed persons together on bed, sofa or similar places" has been proposed by Philippine Congressman Felix A. Fuentebella.

Fuentebella says the tax would be mainly to discourage the importation or making of films showing nude persons and only incidentally as a source of revenue.

Rights Panel Asks County Intervention In Dispute

A letter from the Marin Human Rights Commission, asking for county intervention in the Independent-Journal labor dispute, and a letter of reply from I-J publisher Wishard A. Brown will be considered by the Marin County Board tomorrow morning.

James Quiett, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, is asking the county supervisors "to actively support the Marin County clergy in their efforts to bring the Independent-Journal and the Typographical Union to the bargaining table to submit their differences of mediation or binding arbitration."

In his two-page reply, Publisher Brown made these observations:

"We have talked with a large number of Marin's clergy, and we are told that while the clergy, as are we, is in favor of a peaceful settlement to this unfortunate strike, the clergy is overwhelmingly opposed to intervention in it. It would be interesting to know just who constitutes the coalition of clergy to which the Human Right Commission referred."

Brown said the Independent-Journal made several attempts to mediate the issues. Before the strike began, a committee of other unions made an attempt that was aborted by the typographical union. Another try, under auspices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, was also aborted.

"The issues are perfectly clear to the principals," said Brown. "We feel the intervention of third parties has only served to muddy the waters.

"The Independent-Journal has and does decline to negotiate publicly, nor have we ever attempted to debate the issues publicly. We are not aware of any such difficult strike that has been settled by public negotiation or debate.

"At a negotiating meeting held this week (week of Aug. 23-29), the union made no proposals regarding critical issues other than their original strike demands. They refused to enter into meaningful discussion of the issues and they terminated the meeting expressing no desire for further meetings."

Brown said several printers exercised their right to remain at work and some others have returned to their jobs since the strike began. "The union has levied $10,000 fines against them; their homes have been assaulted, and one has had his car set on fire at his home."

Brown cited the long series of abuses and threats suffered by employees who remained on the job, the threats and phone calls received by subscribers and businessmen, and damage estimated at $200,000 from vandalism and destruction at more than 40 businesses.

"Our employees' homes have been firebombed on eight separate occasions endangering their lives and the lives of their wives and children. Allan W. Daly was shot in his home and died, leaving a young wife with two infant children.

"More than a dozen members of the union are awaiting trial on felony charges resulting from these acts.

"These tragic and senseless acts cannot be forgetten by us. We hope they will not be ignored by those who should be most concerned.

"I have talked with many church people, businessmen, and citizens of the community who feel strongly on these issues. Our freedom, of which freedom of the press is a part, cannot exist in a world subject to intimidation, no matter what the source.

"I hope you will consider carefully the propriety of such intervention before you decide."

In his letter to the county supervisors, the publisher enclosed a copy of a letter he received from a printer and a former member of the union.

The printer's letter reads in part:

". . . I was a 'voluntary' picket in February and March. Ever since I ceased participating in this insanity, I have thought to write to you to assure you that there is not now and never was unanimaty of opinion among members of the San Francisco Typographical Union.

". . . I wish to add my expression of sorrow for the pressure that our union and some immature members have exerted. To give in to such unconscionable pressure is to abandon your principles and your business.

"Eventually I will perhaps be forced to pay my 'fine' for not remaining a 'volunteer,' but not without a struggle . . .

"My only thought in writing is to assure you of my personal disagreement with our union officers' tactics. It really shook me up when I reported for picket duty after the vandals worked your plant over. I was personally embarrassed to participate even as a seemingly brainless picket. It was and will always remain against my own scruples to do such a thing . . ."

Arsonists Set $300,000 Berkeley Fire

BERKELEY (UPI) — Arsonists broke open a gasoline pump at a school warehouse Sunday and used the fuel to start fires that caused $300,000 worth of damage.

The Berkeley Unified School District's instructional materials center contained a professional library, visual aides and a film library.

Arnold Grossberg, school board president, called it a "great loss" since much of the material cannot be replaced rapidly.

Arsonists also tried unsuccessfully to ignite three school buses outside the building.

It took 50 firemen 1 1-2 hours to put out the blaze.

It was the fourth school building ignited by arsonists in the San Francisco East Bay Area this summer.

Just the day before, arsonists had thrown two firebombs into a Bank of America branch, causing damage estimated at $2,500.

Playground Aide Shot In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI)—A playground director, shot in the back by a youth described as "high on drugs," was hospitalized today but not in serious condition.

Police said witnesses have identified two youths who attacked Bobby Grant, 26, on Saturday although there has not yet been an arrest.

One youth pulled a derringer when Grant refused them entrance to a closed game room. The weapon fell to the sidewalk as Grant struggled with the youth.

The second youth then pulled a .22-caliber pistol and fired as he ran away.

Supervisors To Set Property Tax Rate At $2.57 Tomorrow

A basic county tax rate, 31.5 cents higher than last year's, will be set by the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning.

Computations by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell show a 1970-71 tax rate of $2.575, which is 7.5 cents higher than the projections made during the June budget sessions and 13.5 cents higher than last year's rate of $2.395.

Last year's rate included the tax levy for the county board of education a separate levy of 13.5 cents this year which brings the total county rate to $2.71 a jump of 31.5 cents.

County Administrator Alan Bruce listed several events, all occurring since June, which added to the county tax rate:

1. The State Legislature adjourned without providing for property tax relief.

2. The adopted state budget reduced state contribution for mental health and Medi-Cal.

3. Congress has not yet come through with new federal grants for mental health staffing.

4. Current trends show that various categories of welfare aid will cost more than expected.

5. The Aug. 7 tragedy, at the Hall of Justice resulted in increased costs for public protection and security.

The county administrator explained that raise in tax rate is the only way for the county to meet its legal responsibilities.

Bruce said the average tax rate increase for California counties this year is projected to be 45 cents.

In addition to the adoption of an increased tax rate, the supervisors will face several other major agenda items.

MORE DEPUTIES Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will ask for more deputies to provide two-man patrols on the principal night shift in key areas, and a change in overtime pay policy so that lieutenants and captains will get overtime along with deputies when called out to special duty such as riots.

COUNTY FAIR — The county administrator will present several options for the 1971 county fair, including the possibility that the county forego the fair for next year.

HOUSEBOATS — The county administrator will present a proposed schedule for cleanup of houseboat violations in Richardson Bay, a report on the status of houseboats and legal actions pending against violators, and recommendations for abatement of persistent violators.

LIVING IN CARS — The County Counsel will submit proposed ordinances to control the use of one-family homes by groups of individuals, and the use of vehicles as residences.

HEARINGS — Public hearings will be held on (1) an appeal by Bel Aire Property Owners Association objecting to the 18-unit apartment plan for Pelican Hill, (2) an appeal of the planning commission's denial of a tentative subdivision map for Laird's Landing subdivision, which is within the Point Reyes Seashore area, and (3) an appeal by Charles Felix, who wants to set up an English-pub type of restaurant at Muir Beach.

Traffic Booking Brings Pot Count

James Russell Phillips, 18, of all points, being booked at Marin County Jail on a traffic charge Saturday night, wound up being booked also on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Phillips, halted by Fairfax police at Pastori Avenue and Center Boulevard at 10:30 p.m. for reportedly going through a stop sign, failed to give his right name, officers said.

While being booked for failure to give satisfactory evidence of his identity, he was searched and what appeared to be marijuana was found in his possession, police said.

He was held in lieu of $2,500 to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Japan To Honor Heroic General

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan will bestow one of its highest decorations on the general who led the bitter defense of Attu island in the Aleutians against attacking American forces in World War II.

A spokesman for Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said today Lt. Gen. Yasuo Yamazaki will be awarded posthumously the second class Order of the Rising Sun.

Yamazaki became a World War II hero in Japan by ordering his soldiers to fight to the last man against an American amphibious invasion of the island in May, 1943.

Yamazaki and 2,630 of his soldiers were killed by Americans, who eventually overran the island in a series of battles fought in blinding snowstorms. Fewer than 50 Japanese survived. All were badly wounded.

GIs Turned Off By Hope, Jessell

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)— Big entertainers like Bob Hope, Art Linkletter and George Jessel are "unacceptable" to most of the U.S. troops now overseas, according to a government official who books the acts.

"The kind of entertainment popular 20 years ago when Americans were serving in Korea fails to bring laughts and applause from soldiers turned on to pot smoking and rock music," Kenneth D. Smith, chief of the U.S. special services agency for entertainment in Europe, said.

He said Bob Hope was so concerned about a lack of response from the troops during a recent tour that he kept three writers awake all night revising jokes for the next show.

Sentimental, patriotic material does not appeal to GI's between the ages of 18 and 25, Smith said.

County Pay Inequities Demand Searching Study

Inequities in pay of Marin County employees that came to light this year deserve searching study.

We commented on the inequities in this column Aug. 20. The county supervisors, urged in June by a wide representation of citizens to hold the line on spending, voted not to give pay raises to managerial employees, but they allowed 5 to 6 per cent increases for non-managerial employees, who were represented by unions or associations. Then they received a blistering letter from the bypassed "management," pointing out that some "non-management" employees got raises although they were already receiving much higher pay than some "management" employees. The result was that the board backed down, gave the bypassed group a 5 per cent raise — and "hold the line" turned, as it so often does, into "give a little."

Supervisor Louis H. Baar objected to applying percentage raise regardless of the pay scale, which means less dollars for the lower paid. He voted with his fellow supervisors only on the understanding that a study would be made of how management salary hikes are handled in private industry.

THAT, WE'RE AFRAID, won't get at either of two very important problems involved.

The study presumably will be made by the county administrator and his staff, who were among those bypassed in the June action and given 5 per cent pay hikes in August. What it will disclose, if it is at all thorough, is that there is no pattern to the handling of such raises in private industry. There is no pattern because, in private industry, the productivity of the worker and the company's profit situation are prime considerations. Neither of these applies in public employment.

THE TWO IMPORTANT problems, as far as the county government is concerned, are (1) the obvious inequity when some department heads and others in managerial jobs are paid less than those who work under them, and (2) the implications of union organization for collective bargaining by all public employees, from the top down.

The first thing that is needed is a thorough review of the salary structure of all county departments. A study by someone from outside the county's own employees would seem in order. Fortunately, right now there are highly qualified men available for just such work, who have been squeezed temporarily out of executive positions through mergers and business setbacks.

The second thing needed is a review by the legislature of the law that permits collective bargaining by public employees. The rationale that the same employer-employee relations techniques used in private industry apply to civil service employees, with their much greater job security, may be a false rationale. This summer we have seen police and firemen in several cities strike or threaten to strike in union-employer pay disputes. And Marin County's managerial rank employees, headed by the county administrator himself, plainly threatened to organize their own union if not granted the 5 per cent increases.

These are not items that should be put on the back burner or forgotten. They need attention.

Plan To Grab New Power Puts ABAG In The Alphabet Soup

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The Association of Bay Area Governments, long suffering under one of officialdom's least inspiring acronyms, now has an additional burden — the enmity of the chairman of the Assembly committee that handles most legislation affecting local governments.

PETERZELL

While this is not quite tantamount to a convict kicking the warden in the shins, it cannot do ABAG any good. Ecpecially since the chairman of the local government committee, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, has vowed to push again next session for regional government in the Bay Area.

Knox favors a regional government run entirely by directly elected officials, but previously was willing to compromise with ABAG by providing that half be city councilmen and county supervisors.

Knox's new enmity for ABAG virtually guarantees he will strike this compromise from his 1971 legislation, leaving ABAG out in the cold.

THE CAUSE of his enmity was ABAG's plan to take control of the new Metropolitan Transportation Commission by using a Knox bill creating regional environmental councils throughout the state. Interlocking provisions in two bills could have allowed ABAG to take over MTC. ABAG wanted to do transportation planning itself.

ABAG's plan to use the Knox bill to take over MTC came to light only in the closing hours of the Legislature, and Knox immediately killed his bill in order to save MTC. He also issued an angry press statement accusing ABAG of a "behind-the-scenes game of power politics" to subvert his bill.

To be fair, while ABAG stood to benefit from passage of the Knox bill, the association was not a direct party to the writing of either his bill or the MTC measure by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco. Actually, the key language in the Foran bill creating MTC was a defensive measure against the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and not designed to aid ABAG.

It said MTC shall merge gional government organization, if it has transportation planning responsibilities." This provision was written by the League of California Cities, to preclude merger with BCDC, since the later has no transportation function.

THE REGIONAL environmental councils in the Knox bill would have had transportation planning responsibilities, and ABAG would have been designated as the regional council in the Bay Area. This would have opened the way for it to take over MTC.

Knox learned about ABAG's plan to use his bill from a newspaper reporter who was told about it by an ABAG official. The official spelled out the scheme after being needled by the reporter about ABAG's unsuccessful opposition to Foran's measure creating MTC.

It's a complicated alphabet soup game, but a game with high stakes from the point of view of parochial local officials fond of their powers. They don't really seem to mind that their powers are too weak to deal with regional problems, and that's the pity of the whole silly affair.

Drug Problems Rising In U.S. Armed Services

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Unpublished Pentagon statistics show that the Army's drug offense rate has been nearly doubled in one year's time.

Totals are maintained, on a worldwide basis, of the number investigated for suspected drug violations. That rate was 10.79 per thousand in 1969 — up from 5.51 per thousand in the 1968 calendar year.

Most of the Army narcotics offenses, about 84 per cent of them, involve marijuana. The so-called "hard" narcotics — heroin, cocaine and the like — pose much less of a problem for Army commanders.

It is, howerver, an unsettling fact that the offense rate for those hard narcotics more than doubled in the same year — from .29 of one per thousand in 1969 to .69 of one last year.

THE RISING drug problem is more and more a chore for Army investigators. In 1968, slightly over 27 per cent of the Army's criminal investigations involved narcotics. In 1969 the percentage was slightly over 37 per cent.

The army is using much the same combination of preventive education and remedial medical treatment as civil authorities use to combat its drug problem. All men entering the Army get drug abuse orientation. Periodic refresher courses are given, and all individuals assigned overseas get a special course before departure, keyed to the area for which they are headed.

In addition, top Army chaplains around the world have been asked to hold workshops aimed at better equipping chaplains to help drug users.

THE OTHER armed services have a similar narcotics problem. Air Force statistics, prepared on a somewhat different basis, tell a somewhat similar story.

The number of Air Force drug abuse investigations was 1,500 in 1967. The total jumped to 3,166 in 1968, and to 3,810 in 1969. That suggests a big jump in Air Force drug traffic — or in official interest in it — during the 1967-68 calendar years.

Maj. Gen. Edward A. McGough III, director of personnel planning for the Air Force, recently told a congressional committee that, as far as Air Force drug problems are concerned, "in virtually all instances, the drug abused was marijuana."

The Air Force, according to McGough, is stepping up a program of specialized training for investigators who deal with narcotics cases and has developed its own narcotics detection equipment.

Like the Army, the Air Force stresses education programs on the dangers of drug abuse. New regulations now require an annual briefing on narcotics for all Air Force personnel.

WITHOUT presenting statistics, Vice Adm. Charles K. Duncan, chief of naval personnel, told the same committee that the drug abuse trend "continues upward in the Navy as in civilian life."

"Although Navy recruiters are not permitted to sign up applicants who have been involved in drug abuse, young men detected for in-service drug abuse frequently have had pre-service experience," Duncan reported.

Like the other services, the Navy finds that marijuana is the drug involved in most of its abuse cases. However, LSD is the drug involved in most of the Navy cases which result in administrative discharges.

REGULATIONS require discharge of Navy men who have used LSD. The Navy is trying to work with those who are involved in offenses connected with marijuana, the barbiturates and the amphetamines and who state their intention to kick their drug involvement.

In that connection, the Navy is reporting what Duncan describes as a "considerable rehabilitation record." According to the admiral, about 2,000 Navy men, who have quit drugs during the early stages of drug use, have been returned to duty in the rehabiltation program. About 97 per cent have avoided further drug involvement so far.

That is just about the only good word to be heard about the drug problem in the services.

In the latest Navy wrinkle, a Navy "operations drug abuse team," headed by a captain and including a psychiatrist, a senior chaplain, an experienced drug investigator, and a legal officer, has been visiting major naval commands to work with local officials on local anti-narcotics programs.

Air Cushions— Why Not Rails?

(Reprinted from Vallejo Times-Herald)

Ground transportation is coming in for considerable attention — and expenditure —at a number of points and, as has become customary, with a world-of-the-future look about it.

Los Angeles and the U.S. Department of Transportation, for example, are going to be partners in constructing the country's first air-cushioned line, running 19 miles from Los Angeles International Airport to the San Fernando Valley. Vehicles will zoom along on a thin layer of ejected air on an elevated guideway-track. Estimated cost of construction for his people-mover system, the in term for far-out mass transit schemes, is $50 million, with service hopefully to begin in late 1972.

The Transportation Department is also seeding, with a $3 million grant, development of another air-cushion project by a Long Island firm. And there are other comparable experiments scattered about the country.

Fine, but one wonders what might be the result if similar funds and interest were devoted to restoring a people-moving system which once functioned splendidly —called trains.

It has been pointed out that updating existing roadbeds is no easy or inexpensive proposition. A recently cited example put the cost at more than $1.3 billion to condition one Washington-to-Boston line to handle 100 m.p.h. service with the new high-speed Metroliners now being tried out.

To be sure, a lot of money. At something like 400 miles for the distance, it works out to something like $300,000 per mile. Los Angeles' air cushions are costing $2.5 million per mile.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A barfly fainted at a suburban railroad station one morning and was revived when a pitcher of cold water was thrown in his face. A few drops trickled into his mouth, and he mumbled in surprise, "So that's what that stuff tastes like without whiskey."

Punctilious and proper indeed is a newspaper girl in the home town of astronaut Richard Gordon. A lady phoned her to ask for Gordon's private number explaining that she wished to invite him to a big luncheon the following Thursday. "I do not believe Mr. Gordon will be able to accept your kind invitation," apologized the newspaper girl politely. "At that time, you see, he will be en route to the moon."

THE DRUMMONDS

Crying Need For Court Reforms Recognized By U.S. Chief Justice

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is a simple way to sharply reduce crime: Enable the courts to try criminal cases within 60 days of indictment.

Our system of justice virtually does not deter the crime which troubles most Americans.

These are not the views of some radical theorist: They are the views of one of the most credible critics of our courts as they function today, U.S. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

The chief justice gives timely backing to the judgment of the law enforcement experts that it is not primarily the severity of punishment which deters the criminal but the likelihood of arrest and speed of trial.

BURGER'S ADVOCACY of sweeping court changes — trained administrators, updated procedures, more judges — should do much to mobilize needed public support by showing so vividly that, among other benefits, judicial reform is directly related to the reduction of crime.

Failure to make these reforms cripples our courts, Burger recently told the American Bar Association, and could dangerosuly erode faith that our system of law can fulfill its primary function to protect people at home, at work and on the street.

Administration of justice has too often become administration of injustice.

The judicial system — from prevention to correction — is near the point of calamitous breakdown unless something adequate is done about it soon.

The courts today are overburdened, understaffed, badly managed and riddled by outdated procedures, rules and methods. Reason: long, pervasive neglect by judges, by the bar association and by Congress.

FORTUNATELY, Chief Justice Burger is showing himself willing to devote and expend his prestige in the cause of imperative judicial reforms.

The response to his nationally televised address is encouraging. He received 1,500 letters from a varied cross-section of the public in a week, and their nearly unanimous theme was: "Keep it up." The speech was well covered. More than 300 editorials appeared and most of them backed the Burger proposal.

There is no doubt that major court reforms are in the making. The question is whether they will come in time to avert the worst — a disastrous breakdown in the administrtion of justice.

EVERY KIND of judicial reform is long overdue. In 30 years, petitions from state prisoners seeking federal habeas corpus relief increased from 89 to 12,000 yearly, personal injury cases went up 500 per cent, the number of judges increased only 70 per cent.

Automobiles were a rarity when 64 years ago Dean Roscoe Paul Pound of Harvard Law School warned that the United States was trying to administer 20th century justice with the methods and machinery of the 19th century. Now automobiles are the largest single category of civil cases in the courts which remain unreformed, unmodern and nearly unworkable.

In the fields of pollution, consumer protection and civil rights, Congress passes new laws which require massive enforcement and neglects doing anything to enable the courts to take on these additional burdens.

Congress rightly votes $58 million to provide free legal services for the poor — almost half of what it costs to run the federal courts — but does nothing to equip the courts to deal with the increased case load.

WE NEED to get things in perspective. Businesses spend more than $2 billion a year on private security, and Congress puts only $128 million into running the whole federal judicial system.

For too long, judges and bar association leaders have been timid in telling Congress and the public what is needed to bring the courts into the second half of the 20th century and to enable them to dispense justice instead of frustration.

Now everything must be done at once.

His voice needs to be heard —and heeded.

Uncalled-For Slur In Political Report

A particular example of shabby newspaper "reporting" was displayed in the "I-J Special Report" of Aug. 24 concerning Irvin H. Sutley Jr. and the Peace and Freedom Party.

Before any comments can be given any credence I must make it eminently clear that I have no particular political polarization regarding this party and that I do not know, or have any special interest in, Mr. Sutley.

Now, to the subject. Mr. Sutley was accused and convicted and paid society in the form of a 90-day sentence for possession of marijuana. In the light of being elected state chairman of the P.F. party, this is, no doubt, proper to report. That Mr. Sutley is an ex-Marine is also proper to note. But that he was charged with a felony for which he has apparently been found not guilty, i.e. sale of marijuana, is certainly most improper to report.

I resent deliberate slurs and implications of complicity or guilt when the courts have not found such accusations are valid or proven . . . tomorrow it could be me who is wrongfully accused and re-tried by the I.J. By the mere mention of a wrongful accusation. Or it could be you . . .

MURIEL J. ASBURY

(The story should have made clear that Sutley was charged with sale of marijuana but the charge was reduced to possession, or else should not have mentioned the original charge. — Editor.)

Writer's Advice Not Based On Fact

Eastern news analysts have long felt frustrated by the failure of westerners to follow their advice in the election of state and federal officials. After making quick trips to the west coast before elections, dashing off a column or two critical of those local candidates who don't appeal to their ideological bent, these pundits rush back to civilization in New York or Washington convinced that they have brought enlightenment to the natives.

Marquis Childs, a recent example, begins his harangues (Independent-Journal Aug. 13 and 15) with the standard disparagement of Senator (George) Murphy as "the song-and-dance man" and of Governor (Ronald) Reagan as "a movie and television performer" — as if prominent men in California's entertainment industry were somehow inferior to professional politicians like "Big Daddy" Unruh. (Would it be equally inappropriate for Wyoming to elect a rancher?)

Our journalistic missionary condemns Senator Murphy for allegedly concealing the fact that he has remained on the payroll of Technicolor Corp., his employer before entering politics . . . . It is not uncommon for lawyer-politicians to continue to receive stipends from their law firms without being censored.

After repeating the fiction that voters elected Governor Reagan solely as a reaction to student unrest, Childs criticizes him for failing to carry out his campaign promises . . . The governor has . . . managed to keep a remarkably tight lid on expenditures and taxes. The budget submitted for fiscal 1970-1971 was down .6 of one per cent from estimated expenditures for this fiscal year and was lower than that of the less populous New York. . . . The governor . . . has increased expenditures for higher education, and has exerted his influence as a (University of California) regent as much as possible to clean up the mess — a mess which Childs acknowledges is complicated by local conditions beyond state control.

Militants Defeat Avowed Aims, Drive Nation Toward Police State

The use of guns and bomb threats to extort social reform and individual freedom is self defeating.

Violence and intimidation, used as a tool for social reform, force every citizen to an extreme. The moderates, who at one time actively supported minorities or looked with sympathy on their causes, are forced to choose up sides.

When the alternatives are to (1) go along with militants who would impose their will at gunpoint or (2) stick with duly constituted agencies empowered by the public to maintain law and order, there is no question which way the moderates will turn.

MILITANTS are thus forcing the heretofore tolerant citizens and the uncommitted to rely more than ever on law enforcement agencies. There's no other choice. The more violent the militants get, the closer to a police state we will become, because individuals will become more willing to forego personal liberties and give law enforcement a freer hand in dealing with violence.

When the polarization is complete and the choice boils down to anarchy or a police state, the big majority will choose the later.

Fears expressed in April of 1969 have been reinforced by subsequent events:

"The vast majority of Americans, who recognize the legitimate gripes of minority groups and are working to correct past errors, will lose enthusiasm. That enthusiasm can turn to distrust, fear and even hatred. The turning of the tide is already evident. We hope it's not too late."

GROWING VIOLENCE also has political repercussions.

If Wilson Riles had any chance at all against incumbent Max Rafferty in the November race for state superintendent of education, his chances are now probably gone.

Actions of black revolutionaries should have no relevancy in the race for the state office, but elections aren't necessarily decided on relevant issues.

DESPITE the growing lawlessness, the big majority continue to be law-abiding and conscientious.

One woman telephoned County Auditor-Controller Mike Mitchell the other day, quite concerned about a $14.95 bill she got for emergency ambulance service she received in Marin several months ago. She was calling from Missouri and spent more than 10 minutes explaining how she had contacted her insurance company and how the bill had been paid.

The auditor estimated that the phone call itself must have cost her another $14.95.

Woman Suffers Crash Injuries

A Greenbrae woman suffered back injuries Friday in an auto accident at the intersection of Third and Irwin streets in San Rafael, police reported.

Police said her auto collided with a car driven by Kathryn A. Starkey, 31, of 246 Morning Sun Avenue, Mill Valley, at 2:07 p.m.

No details of the accident were available.

There's No Communication Gap In The Language Of Love

After 43 years in the United States, Panaggos had mastered two words of the English language: hello, goodby and a grunt. The grunt was extra. It was a touch of genius. He got along beautifully with it.

Close to the turn of the century he had come, along with the others, to this country to rake in the awaiting fortunes in this golden land of golden opportunity and golden riches. They were all going to become Americans and millionaires. Best of all, they would all become American millionaires. It was one thing to become an American and another to become a millionaire but to become an American millionaire was the best of all.

SOME FOUND their hopes quickly smothered by the routine, soul-squelching existence in the smoke-belching textile factories. There, their songs died, their hopes turned to charred embers. That's the way it was for some, but not for Panaggos. His spirit never flagged, his sense of humor never failed. It was hard to tell whether his sense of humor was because of his spirit or whether his spirit was due to his sense of humor. For 43 years he worked at the same mill and at the very same loom. I would not have been surpirsed had I been told his name had been embossed in the black steel of that loom long before he had even been born.

He managed to save enough money to buy a small apartment building that had a large basement. He promptly converted the basement into a wine cellar. The dirty gray concrete walls he painted a spotless white and along these walls he lined the great oaken casks, belly to belly. In the center he put a long and narrow table and in the middle of the table there was a plain clear glass pitcher and around it an assortment of glasses, always clean, always ready.

THEN ONE DAY love came to Panaggos.

Cecilia was her name and she appeared to be about the same age as he, a salt and pepper gray, comely and well-formed widow. Ordinarily this wouldn't have been of any particular interest. After all he was a man and she a woman and everything naturally fell into place, except she was French and he was Greek and neither spoke a common language.

Every afternoon she came to meet him at the factory and they walked home together, to the apartment house, and went directly to the cellar. She would put olives, fetta cheese, some sliced cucumbers and tomatoes, a loaf of French bread on the table while Panaggos filled the pitcher from one of the casks. They laughed and giggled together as if they had a private secret they were keeping from the rest of the world.

Theirs was a beautiful union.

THAT WAS MANY years ago. The last I heard of them, Panaggos had retired and he and his Cecilia were taking care of their apartment house and enjoy their wine cellar.

As far as I know, their communication was practically nil. But gap there was none. I think of them often, particularly when I hear it said so frequently that many of our problems could be solved if only we didn't have a "communication gap."

Communication can be minimal as long as there's a common ground and something on the table; have no common ground and all the ocmmunication possible and you end up arguing over the shape of the table.

Equality Measure In Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee equal rights for women has drawn more opposition than expected and is now in very serious trouble in the Senate, according to one of its chief sponsors.

The amendment, which would declare men and women equal under the law, was approved overwhelmingly by the House recently and is before the Senate Judiciary Committee. With 80 senators co-sponsoring the measure, it had appeared the Senate would give its approvol this fall.

But Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the amendment's chief backer in the Senate, told UPI Thursday a new survey has cast doubt on the measure's future. He said women's liberation representatives asked each senator last Wednesday to indicate how he or she stood on the amendment.

Bayh said only 32 ballots were returned, 31 in favor and one in opposition. The other 68 senators made no reply, he said.

"I AM SURPRISED that there were no more votes for it in light of the fact that there are so many sponsors," Bayh said. "Of course, this was only a symbolic vote. But I can tell you all senators are under tremendous pressure, and if a senator was going to support the amendment, I think he would have said so."

He said the amendment "is now in very serious trouble. There is significantly more opposition to it than there was. I am alarmed, because I think it should pass."

The proposal languished in Congress since 1923, but Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., helped by the growing national debate on women's rights, managed to force the measure onto the House floor for a vote and approval. Critics of the amendment have contended its language could be interpreted as making women eligible for the draft or making them ineligible for other present benefits.

ABOUT SUCH charges Martha Griffiths said, "Special restriction on property rights of married women would be unconstitutional; married women could engage in business as freely as a member of the male sex; inheritance rights of widows would be the same as widowers. Women would be equally subject to jury service and to military service, but women would not be required to serve — in the Armed Forces — where they are not fitted any more than men are required to serve.

"The real effect before this amendment is finally passed would probably be to permit both sexes to volunteer on an equal basis, which is not now the case.

"Where the law confers a benefit, privilege or obligation of citizenship such would be extended to other sex . . . social security ond other social benefits . . . children would be entitled to support from both parents under existing laws of most states.

Child support laws would be affected only if they discriminate on the basis of sex. The amendment would not prohibit the requiring of one parent to provide financial support for children who are in the custody of the other."

Bayh chairs a constitutional rights subcommittee which approved the proposal and sent it to the Judiciary. That committee plans another round of hearings on the matter Sept. 19, despite Bayh's contention no more hearings were needed.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., has said he wants more discussion of the proposal to hear from constitutional experts how such an amendment would affect the draft status of women, their property rights and their rights as wives and mothers.

Bayh also said the militant activity of some women supporting the amendment was not helping its cause. He declined to go into specifics.

If the amendment proposal draws the two-thirds vote of the Senate needed, it would still have to be approved by three-fourths of the states before it would become law.

New Dental Assisting Course At College

Change in job technology which has resulted in the need for retaining and upgrading skills learned a few years ago is one reason College of Marin has scheduled a number of courses in the Communityy Education, non-credit evening school department.

For the first time this fall a 66-week course in certified dental assisting will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The course will provide training for dental assistants who are already employed and wish to upgrade their technical skill and appreciation of the health field and to prepare them for eligibility for the American Dental Assistants' Association certification examination. Intensive study and regular attendance is required. Mrs. Hazel Torres, director of the college's dental assisting program, is the instructor.

AND FOR THE inactive registered nurse, a 12-week comprehensive review course in registered nurse refresher is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Current trends in nursing practice will be presented through lecture, demonstrations, field trips and group seminars. One-half of the course will prepare the inactive R.M. to resume her role as a professional in the medical health team.

The principles of two-way communication in everyday living, to be offered at Red Hill School in San Anselmo Tuesdays from 7:30 to 10 p.m., will concentrate on speech skills and improving listening habits for better communication with family, in committee work and on the job. Lothar Salin is the instructor.

Other courses scheduled with the Marin woman in mind (men may also enroll) are travel agency and tourist industry training, Wednesdays, 7:30 to 10 p.m.; color photography, Mondays, 7 to 10 p.m.; conservation gardening and farming, Wednesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.; interior decorating, Tuesdays, 7:30 to 10 p.m.

There are more than 100 courses in the fall schedule and the college will mail copies upon request. Registration started last week, and classes start the week of Sept. 24.

Women's Clubs And The Amendment

If the proposed 23rd amendment to the Constitution of the United States passes it will be without the help of the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and the Business and Professional Women (BPW) of Marin County.

Although presidents of these women's organizations said it was part of the national policies of their respective organizations to support equal rights for women all said it had not been made national policy to support the amendment which says: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

The amendment was approved by the House of Representatives Aug. 10 at a time when the organizations were not meeting and none of the presidents knew if the amendment would be discussed in fall meetings.

Mrs. Raymond Kaufman, president of the Marin Branch of AAUW said the status of women "is one of the things we watchdog," but she said she was "unfamiliar with this particular piece of legislation."

Angela Dismuke, president of the central Marin chapter of BPW said her group hadn't met during the summer and she did not know what they would work on this fall.

The Southern and Central Marin Leagues of Women Voters study topics are decided upon by a national convention. Mrs. John Ahern of San Francisco, a member of the League's national board said, "The League is concerned with equality for all people and we didn't feel we should support the amendment. The delegates did not choose to adopt it as a study topic."

STEEL RIVET TRIM

Yves St. Laurent introduced this mid-calf length suit in brown suede with steel rivets at the hem, waist, collar and sleeves. The design from Paris was shown earlier in the summer but just now released in photographs.

Judy Pleich Is A Bride

Judy Ann Pleich of Mill Valley became the bride of Timothy Allan Miller of Rohnert Park Saturday in a 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony at St. Raphael's church in San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Michael Pleich of El Cerrito, and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Toney Miller of Rohnert Park.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Christopher Tooker of El Cerrito, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Ray Romelli of Valley Ford, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. John Engels of Santa Rosa, Jeannie Jusaitis of Santa Rosa and Peggy Ausez of San Rafael.

Best man was Thomas Miller of Riverside, twin brother of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were Ray Romelli of Valley Ford, Harvey Linville, Ted Ulberg and Ralph Kostka, all of Santa Rosa.

A champagne buffet dinner was held after the ceremony at the Corte Madera Recreation Center. On their return from a wedding trip to Carmel and San Luis Obispo the couple will live in Mill Valley.

The bride is a graduate of Harry Ells High School in Richmond and Chico State College with a B.A. degree in public administration. She is employed as an assistant traffic manager with the Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. George Pleich of Richmond.

A graduate of Petaluma High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, the bridegroom is employed with the California Highway Patrol in Marin County.

'IT NEEDED SOMETHING'

Photographs In Radiotherapy Section

By JOAN LISETOR

Beyond the x-ray department ot Marin General Hospital is the radio-therapy section — a rather cheerful place.

Before Dr. George A. Jack came to head the department last year it was a dreary, depressing place. The nurses who work for him and the patients receiving cobalt treatment brought plants and flowers to try to perk up the waiting room, offices and treatment room, and that helped a little.

Then in July of 1969 Mrs. Perry Harris began taking cobalt treatment, and the little bit of perking up was not enough for her.

SHE HAD some Audubon prints framed, and they were hung in the treatment room. Then the walls were painted a cheerful blue — better than the original color Jane Harris describes as pea soup yellow.

The stark waiting room was the next target. It needed a planter box, decided Mrs. Harris. So she and other friends of Mrs. Stanley Eager donated that. Mrs. Eager died in January after a 14-year-battle with cancer, and Mrs. Harris has established the Pat Eager Radiotherapy Fund in her honor.

"The Audubon prints were all right because we had to have something," says Mrs. Harris, "but the cobalt treatment room needed more."

Dr. Jack and Mrs. Harris decided on photographic murals.

"The four minutes or so when you are in the treatment room seems like an eternity because you have to lie perfectly quiet," explains Mrs. Harris. "You have to have something to concentrate on."

A NURSE in the department recalls a patient who had to consult a psychiatrist because she couldn't bear the quiet while under treatment. The psychiatrist suggested a radio, which satisfied her ears, but her eyes still needed something on which to concentrate.

Looking for the right photographs, Mrs. Harris contacted a photographer famous for his California scenes.

"I wrote to him several times, and while I was waiting to hear I saw just what I wanted in a bank in San Francisco," Mrs. Harris says.

She found out that the photographs were created by Gabriel Moulin, whose commercial studio is located next door to her husband's yachting outfitters company in San Francisco.

Mrs. Harris and Dr. Jacks selected seven photographs. The Audubon prints were moved to another treatment room, and Mrs. Moulin's were hung so patients are now viewing Cypress Point in Monterey, the Golden Gate and San Francisco Bay Bridges and other California scenes.

The photographs were purchased through the Jane Harris Radiotherapy Fund. Contributions to that fund, the Pat Eager fund and the Stuart Good Linear Accelerator Fund will be used to purchase equipment now that the aesthetic needs of the department have been taken care of.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He Hopes His Brothers Will Help Him Howl For Liberation

DEAR HELEN:

Maybe some of those women can answer me this:

If men are so liberated and women so repressed, how come the girls can wear men's clothing — jeans bought off the boys' rack, shirts belonging to husband, brother or boyfriend, pullover from the men's department, anything and everything except their undershorts — and this is stylish. But if a man dares put on a dress, it's fetish time! Men and women alike shun him and the psychiatrists collect.

Also, a dame can get boozed up and do a strip in a night club bringing only laughs from the customers. But let a man try it and right away he's a sex maniac. He ends up in the pokey or the nut hatch.

One of those females can proposition a guy at a bar and who cares, but let a man approach a woman with the same thing in mind, and she screams for a cop — even though she hasn't got anything to lose.

If these little ladies got all the equality they wanted, how long would it take them to squawk when men became airline stewards, stenographers, and nurses in great number? And think of jockey or athletic clubs getting picketed because they didn't provide ladies' rooms! If they took over traditional men's jobs, they'd soon demand special treatment.

When the women consent to fight our wars for us, start picking up the checks, and don't feel affronted when they are sued for alimony, I'll vote for equality — but first I hope my brothers will join me in howling for men's liberation too. — UNFAIR

DEAR UNFAIR:

Nope, 'taint fair. What is "liberation" for the gals is sometimes termed "libertinism" in men. You guys might organize a resistance group. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Scared to Death" speaking. I want to tell you that name doesn't apply any more. Thank you for answering my letter, and not cracking wise as others might have done.

I am the man who said he males and still liked to put on was raised in a family of fewomen's clothes. I feared this would ruin my coming marriage, though I am definitely not homosexual.

Soon after writing to you I felt a sense of relief, so just before our scheduled marriage, I told my fiancee the truth. Instead of being shocked, she said, "I've been wondering when you'd tell me." As I was stammering, she said she understood, and asked me to model my ladies' wear, including a dress.

We have been married for a month, and I often relax at home at night in what might be called "womanish attire," which is an extremely comfortable toga-like robe. Now that I no longer have to feel ashamed, I find dressing this way is less important. It probably was a fetish, but my wife is making me see that I'm all male, and the man of the family even if sometimes neither of us wears the pants. Somehow, her sympathetic teasing and her ability to understand makes me — NO LONGER SCARED TO DEATH

DEAR NLSTD:

Nor should you be. Consider the Romans, the Athenians, the Scots. It isn't what you wear but why you wear it, right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

An old, old saying seems especially appropriate now with pollution, and other pesty problems bothering us: "If you aren't a part of the solution, you're a part of the problem." — CONCERNED

DEAR CON:

That slogan has been pinned to my bulletin board for going on three years. Every time I get a particularly tough question, I feel like ripping it down. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Shirley Bomio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bomio represented Marin County at the 4-H dress revue held at the 4-H Leadership Conference at the University of California at Davis last week.

She will now compete with 11 other 4-H girls in the state in record book competition, and the winner will go to the national 4-H Congress in Chicago in November.

A graduate of Novato High School and a student at College of Marin, she is in her ninth and final year as a member of the Novato Olompali 4-H Club.

Joanne Skowronek and Lisa Wilburn, members of the Novato 4-H Aggies, won special gold bar medal awards for competition in the clothing division at Davis.

Returning from Hawaii after attending a leadership conference at the University of Hawaii and being entertained by the Hawaiian 4-H girls, are five Marin County girls, who raved about their reception there.

Attending the conference were Peggy Cummings, Miwok 4-H Club, Susan Dimmick, Novato Stars; Emily Eckhoff, Novato Olompali, Jean Thomas, Novato Valley; and Debbie Woods, Novato Jets.

The girls all stayed in the dormitory at the university and each girl had an Hawaiian girl as a roomate. Their chaperone was Miss Beverly Mager of San Rafael.

They were met at the airport in Hawaii by James Shigeta who is in charge of the 4-H Foundation in Hawaii. The theme of the conference was "Talk, See and Do." They toured different places of communications such as the International Business Machines Co., the telephone company and civil defense facility.

"I loved it, I want to go back, the people were really nice," was the response of the girls on their week's stay.

Debbie, Susan and Emily will be juniors in high school this fall, Jean Thomas will be a senior, and Peggy Cummings was graduated from high school in June.

Dance Studios Used Emotional Pressure To Sell Their Lessons

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — A recent ruling by a Federal Trade Commission examiner against four dance studios in the Washington area illustrates the tricky steps that such businesses take with some trusting consumers.

The examiner concluded that the studios had romanced prospective students with fake contests and dance-analysis tests, plus what he called "intense, emotional, and unrelenting sales pressure." The aim was to sell long-term contracts for dancing lessons.

One victim of such pressures was a 69-year-old widow who signed seven dance contracts in one year for a total cost of $17,820. "It was not hard to sign on the dotted line," she said, "because I was more or less pressured into doing it."

When she later became very ill, she got the studio to add a provision in the contract allowing that unused hours "may be willed in case of death." She said she couldn't bear to have all that money go to waste in case she died before the lessons were completed.

Another witness was a divorcee who signed up for $7,000 in instructions. "I tried to say no and get out of it," she told the FTC, "and I got very, very upset because I got frightened at paying out all that money and having nothing to fall back on. I remember I started crying and couldn't stop crying. All I thought of was getting out of there." When she could not raise the total sum, the studio reduced the contract to 250 hours for $4,300, at a rate of more than $17 per hour.

Many victims of such tactics are widows and divorcees who want companionship more than instruction. Their finances are often determined in advance by the studios, according to another witness who formerly conducted interviews for one of the studios cited by the FTC.

He described how the so-called "approval test" was built up to a peak of importance. As a result, he said, some likened the test to an appearance before a judge and jury.

"At this high emotional state," he said, "the student was persuaded to purchase dance instruction. The amount of the contract would depend on the finances of the student, which were ascertained (earlier). The aim of the studio was to sell the student the largest possible program."

The FTC examiner found that advertised contests purporting to offer gift certificates, free lessons and reduced rates were not bona fide, but instead were "lures to get prospects into the studio where they are subject to sales talks to buy further lessons or sign long-term contracts."

The FTC examiner ordered the Washington-area studios not to offer any contracts for more than $1,500, or to tell prospective students that upon completing the course they would achieve a specified standard of proficiency.

One clue to the degree of pressure involved is the "cooling-off period" which the FTC suggested, during which a contract may be canceled without obligation. The usual period of time allowed for contract cancellations in other businesses is three days — that is the cooling-off period given by some firms selling products from house to house, for instance.

For contracts made cheek to cheek, the FTC recommends a cooling-off period of seven days.

That puts dance instructors in a class by themselves when it comes to emotional selling.

Mrs. Virginia Collbran Is Chief Of UBAC Fund Raising

Mrs. Virginia B. Collbran of Belvedere, who has trod both sides of the road in United Bay Area Crusade functions, — allocating contributions to agencies and the spending of those allocations by agencies — is now serving as the county's key fund-raising leader.

Ginny Collbran heads the UBAC Women's Division for the 1970 campaign and, backed by some 500 other volunteers, will contact contributions throughout the county in the once-a-year appeal.

The 1970 campaign, kicking off Sept. 23 with the Marin workers' luncheon at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, seeks $16,850,000 for support of health, welfare and youth organizations in the five Bay Area counties.

With first-hand knowledge of the money needs of voluntary service organizations, Mrs. Collbran is enlisting virtually her entire campaign force from women who also work the year around in crusade and crusade agencies.

Her own record of crusade-affiliated work began when the family moved to Marin from her native Maine in 1946. She volunteered as an American Red Cross Grey Lady at Letterman and Mare Island hospitals and served on the board of the Marin Chapter of Red Cross.

As her daughter, Cindy, and son, James, reached the joining ages, Mrs. Collbran "went through the ranks" in Boy and Girl Scouting, from Den mother and Brownie leader to volunteer executive posts in Marin Councils and later the Bay Area Council of Girl Scouts.

She has supported and led Crusade-supported health and welfare services. She was the first president, in 1961, of Marin Circle of Florence Crittenton Home, which is the Crusade-backed non-sectarian home for unwed mothers in San Francisco, serving all other Bay Area counties, and has been a member of the board and committee chairman at Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo.

MRS. VIRGINIA COLLBRAN

With this varied background of spreading United Crusade allocations to meet expenses within agencies, Mrs. Collbran accepted a volunteer job on the other side of the coin—determining the allocations to agencies from campaign contributions.

For the past five years, she has served with Baywide budget panels, made up of 250 men and women who annually visit agencies and review agency programs and operating costs and who have the final say on where the money goes.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Charles F. Whitehead of Novato and the late Captain Whitehead (USMC), was given in marriage by her grandfather, Charles F. Whitehead of Corte Madera.

After the wedding a reception was given at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club.

Cynthia Lee Hardisty Becomes The Bride Of Richard A. Ogden

Guy Ogden, the bridegroom's brother, was best man, and ushers were Robert and Richard Hardisty, brothers of the bride, and Larry Venton, of Novato.

A reception was held at the Officer's Club at Hamilton Air Force Base followed by a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park. The couple will live in Provo, Utah, where they are both juniors at Brigham Young University.

The bride, the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Vernon R. Hardisty of Laie, Hawaii, is also the sister of Bradley and Wesley Hardisty. Her local grandmother is Mrs. Jeanette Hardisty of Sebastopol. She was graduated from Radford High School and was a student for two years at Novato High School.

Reuben C. Ogden of Indianapolis and Mrs. James Wethington are the bridegroom's parents.

Trio Will Open Fall Concerts

Three musicians from the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra will open the fall concert season at Dominican College of San Rafael with their first public performance as a trio at 8 p.m. on Sept. 8 in Angelico Hall.

The recital by David Smiley, violist, with Anne Adams, harpist, and Lloyd Gowen, flutist, will feature the Duet for Viola and Harp, completed in 1965 by David Sheinfeld, San Francisco Symphony violinist.

Also performed will be Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach's Trio in A Minor, No. 2; Hindemith's Sonata for Viola Alone, Opus 25. No. 1; and Debussy's Sonata for Flute, Viola and Harp.

Smiley is a member of the Dominican College faculty, where he teaches viola and violin. He is starting his tenth year with the San Francisco Symphony and Opera orchestras and has played with the Bloch and Golden Gate String Quartets. He holds a master of music degree from the University of Southern California. The viola he will play was made by Sanino in 1878.

Miss Adams was a scholarship student at the Julliard School of Music in New York under the French harpist Marcel Grandjany. She is principal harpist for the San Francisco Symphony and Opera Orchestras and teaches privately and at Mills College.

Gowen is principal flutist with the San Francisco Symphony and teaches at Stanford, San Francisco Conservatory and Mills College. He studied with William Kincaid at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia. He will play a solid gold flute that was made for him.

The concert will mark the first public performance in Marin by Smiley, who lives in Mill Valley.

Road To Unleaded Gasoline May Be Fraught With Health Danger

DETROIT (UPI)—The rush to change from leaded to unleaded gasoline as fuel for automobiles may be fraught with dangers both to health and pocketbooks.

There is evidence that the use of lead-free gasolines in existing engines of cars not only can damage them but also can cause emissions that are more harmful to health than at present.

The auto companies probably can solve both problems but these engines are in the future. Present engines, even the 1971 models, simply cannot cope satisfactorily with either problem.

Gasoline is composed of an incredibly complex combination of various kinds of hydrocarbons. On the light end of this molecular spectrum are what are called olefins and other aromatic hydrocarbons which, essentially, add to the power of gas and so-called octane or antiknock rating.

Lead tends to boost octane rating of gasolines without a high amount of the aromatics. But to take lead out and still retain a 91-octane rating needed for proper performance of all of today's engines except the very high compression ones, requires the addition of more aromatics.

But these are the "bad actors" in the creation of smog. It is these hydrocarbons which, in the presence of oxides of nitrogen and sunlight, are converted to the highly toxic elements in air that create smog.

There is also evidence that these olefins and other aromatics create in the atmosphere certain elements that are known to cause cancer in mice. While the amounts in air are far below the doses given mice in laboratories to cause cancer, the heavier concentrations caused by increasing these eromatics in gasolines are not healthful.

Some scientists discount any increased danger from the aromatics as a cancer-causing danger, but they are concerned that the smog-causing elements would increase.

When the engineers develop and install catalytic converters, this may be academic because the converters will be able to reduce the hydrocarbons to a minimum.

The danger here is that motorists in present cars using unleaded gas will increase rather than reduce atmospheric pollution.

And they may wreck their engines doing it, too. General Motors discovered this some time ago when engineers experimenting with catalytic converters ran engines with lead-free gas. They found that valve-seat wear after less than 12,000 miles was so bad that the engine heads had to be replaced. The second set of heads did the same after even less mileage. It not only damaged the heads but had raised the pollution emissions sharply.

Engineers can solve that, too, by putting hard-metal valve seat inserts into engine heads. But that is costly.

American Motors Corp. already has recognized the problem in introducing its 1971 engines, which will run on unleaded gas. AMC advised motorists to alternate between leaded and unleaded gas rather than switching to unleaded gas altogether.

Military Spending In U.S. Falls To Four-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The impact of military spending on the nation's economy declined to the lowest point since 1966 in the second quarter of this year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Harold C. Passer, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, predicted: "Further reductions in defense-related economic activity will be forthcoming."

The department said defense purchases of goods and services accounted for 7.9 per cent of the Gross National Product in the April-through-June quarter, down from 8.3 per cent in the first quarter. Defense purchases accounted for 9 per cent of the GNP in 1968 and for 8.5 per cent last year.

Manufacturers' new orders for defense products declined 3.3 per cent in the second quarter but shot up 76. 6 per cent in July, the first month of the third quarter.

Passer said he was unable to explain the July increase but said it might have been the result of a "timing phenomenon," either resulting from statistical aberrations in the seasonal adjustment or from an unusually large number of contracts that were held up until the last fiscal year ended June 30.

Passer said the decline in defense-related activity indcates the nation's economy is shifting from wartime to peacetime conditions.

He said the change was "taking place during a period when national economic policies have been focused on bringing inflation to a halt."

MAYBE SHE PEGGED MATE AS A CAD

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Would you believe an advertisement to sell a 1969 Cadillac in first class condition with low mileage for the sum of $50?

Nobody did for several days when a "little old lady" placed it in Boise. But finally somebody nibbled.

And, sure enough it was all true and there were no "gimmicks" to trick the buyer. Seems the "little old lady," a Boise resident who prefers to remain nameless in the incident, had a good reason for offering the car at that price.

She recently became widowed and her late husband specified in his will that the car or the proceeds from its sale were to go to his girl friend.

Several Bay Area conservationists are expected to offer suggestions at tonight's meeting, said Lee.

Book Sale To Benefit County Free Library

Books ranging from rare to popular, 10,000 in all, will be sold Sept. 11 and 12 by the Friends of the Marin County Free Library for the benefit of the library.

The sale will be held at the Co-Op Center, 71 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with prices reportedly nominal on most books.

Collectors' items, donated by Marin residents, will be offered including presentation copies, first and limited editions, private press issues, antique and rare books.

Proceeds will be turned over to the library staff headed by County Librarian Bruce Bajema for library improvements.

One of the first needs, according to Bajema is for more books with 69,000 needed to bring the library up from its current 176,000 volumes to 245,000 set as a standard by the American Library Association.

Other needs seen by Bajema are recordings, film and filmstrip projectors, locked and lighted display cases and Marin history in all forms.

Among the large collections of children's books to be offered at the sale are several early L. Frank Baum works, including "Father Goose," a Gertrude Stein, illustrated by Clement Hurd, and volumes from the "Seven Little Sisters" series printed in 1861.

Among the collectors' items are books printed by McLoughlin Brothers and William Doxey and multi-volume sets of Kipling, Ruskin, Poe, Stevenson and De Maupassant, many of them leather-bound.

One of the more amusing books in the Americana collection is a yellowed, three-inch thick "La Creole Cook Book," which was: "Specially compiled for the Van Fleet Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn. Sole proprietor of that wonderful preparation La Creole Hair Restorer with complete instructions on household management."

Among the advertisements throughout the book were one-liners such as: "Samson didnt' use La Creole Hair Restorer because he didn't need it — at first," and "Plantation Chill Cure contains no arsenic and will cure you."

The book also contains "medicinal recipes," such as "The worst case of smallpox can be cured in three days simply by use of cream of tartar," and bleeding lungs "can be cured by taking a teaspoonful of strong salt and water every five or six minutes."

One of the antique volumes, dated 1813, is in the form of a series of letters about a tour through Sicily and Malta, another dates, 1843, is "The Fortunes of Hector O'Halloran and his man Mark Antony O'Toole, by W.H. Maxwell and illustrated by J. Leech.

There also is a book entitled "Tenting on the Plains," by Elizabeth B. Custer, widow of Gen. George A. Custer, dated 1887. The book is dedicated "to him whose brave and blithe endurance made those who followed him forget, in his sunshiny presense, half the hardship and the danger."

Donations for the sale can be taken to Marin County branch libraries through Friday.

Group Will Eye Purchase Of Clubhouse

Members of the San Marin Recreation Club decided in a special meeting Saturday to form a membership organization and attempt to purchase the club to keep it open, interim group chairman Donald M. Van Dyke reported today.

Owner if the club, Sunset International Petroleum Corp., is undergoing bankruptcy proceedings, and the probable ultimate owner, G. and R. Associates, has said that it would close the club unless it can operate with no further expense to the company, Van Dkye said.

A 26-member committee was formal Saturday to develop the organization and a second committee of similar size to negotiate purchase of the club, Van Dyke said.

Youth Burned, Booked In Gas Siphon Attempt

An 18-year-old Terra Linda youth, who reportedly tried to siphon gasoline from a school bus while smoking a cigarette, was both burned and booked, sheriff's deputies have reported.

The gasoline ignited, resulting in a fire that caused about $1,500 damage to three buses at the Dixie School District maintenance yard Friday night.

Mark Steven Hanger of 202 Orange Blossom Lane, discovered near the scene suffering burns, was arrested on suspicion of vandalism and petty theft at 11:46 p.m., deputies reported.

Released on his own recognizanve, he is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

FATAL ACCIDENT — California Highway Patrol officers seek to determine the chain of events that strewed this wreckage on Highway 101 at California Park Hill Saturday night. An ambulance waits in the background. Bernice Elizabeth Langer of San Francisco died in one car (right). Those in the other cars were treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries suffered in the accident.

Teams Meeting In Strike Threat

Under the shadow of a possible strike or slowdown by Marin County sheriff's deputies at midnight tonight, last-minute negotiations continued this noon at the Civic Center between the county and the 210 safety employees.

Sheriff's deputies, county firemen and communications employees are working under the old 1969 contract, which was extended from July 1 to 12 o'clock tonight.

James Marshall, state conciliator from San Francisco, shuttled back and forth this morning between the two negotiating teams, each meeting in separate rooms.

In one room were County Administrator Alan Bruce, Assist. Administrator John F. Barrows, and personnel director Maren Rinne.

In an adjoining room were the safety employees negotiating team, headed by Randall M. Prevo, general manager of the Marin County Employees Association; sheriff's Sgt. Wade R. Powell; Newl G. Weaver, president of the employees association; and Alfred Curry, shop steward for the employees group.

Prevo said his team is still holding out for a 12.5 per cent raise for sheriff's deputies. He and Powell had no comment on what action would be taken if today's negotiations fail.

The safety employees last week rejected a county proposal of 7.5 per cent raise for all safety employees except cooks and clerical workers.

Eviction Panel To Be Discussed

A proposed eviction panel — to assist in tenant evictions —will be discussed by commissioners of the Marin County Housing Authority tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

According to Wallace K. Shepherd, authority acting director, the panel would involve tenants and members of other organizations in the eviction process and help alleviate misunderstandings about evictions.

Commissioners will also award bids for outdoor lighting for the authority's modernization program for 300 public housing units in Marin City, Shepherd said.

U.S. 101 Three-Car Crash Kills San Francisco Woman

A 64-year-old San Francisco woman was fatally injured in a three-car collision Saturday night on the south side of California Park Hill along southbound Highway 101, north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Killed was Bernice Elizabeth Langer of 285 Stratford Drive, who suffered internal and head injuries and was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

California Highway Patrol officers reported that a car driven by her husband, Carl Dowse Langer, 67, traveling in the center lane skidded into the center divider at 10:45 p.m.

Still under investigation are the circumstances which led to Langer's car going out of control, officers said.

After hitting the divider, Langer's car was struck on the right side by a car driven by Janet Leslie Farren, 24, of 16 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, which had just come over the crest of the hill, officers said.

The Farren car then collided with a car driven by Charles Lester Miller, 61, of Belmont, San Mateo County. A car driven by Cynthia Louise Caignon, 23, of 802-A Spring Street, Sausalito, pulled off the highway to avoid a collision, officers reported.

Langer, who suffered a cut forehead and multiple body scrapes, Mrs. Farren, who suffered a headache, and James Farren, 28, of 16 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, her passenger, who suffered a cut upper lip, were treated at Marin General hospital.

Funeral for Mrs. Langer will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Ebenezer Lutheran Church, San Francisco. She was a native and lifelong resident of San Francisco.

Surviving are her husband, Carl, and a daughter, Jean Peters.

Mrs. Langer's was the 24th traffic fatality in Marin this year as compared to 20 during the same span last year.

Slithering Snake Shakes Office

A 10-inch snake, slithering inside a paper box in the county counsel's office, sent secretaries running this morning at 10:30, but it turned out to be a harmleess gopher snake.

Jack Heskett, appraiser in the assessor's office, heard the girls screams slapped a lid on the box, and turned the reptile over to the agricultural commissioner, R. Allan Ballard. He released it to the grounds maintenance crew.

Mary Ann Gallardo, secretary in the county counsel's office, spotted the snake wiggling inside a paper carton in the back of her office. "It looked about this long" said Miss Gallardo, indicating about two feet.

She said she has no idea how the snake got into the civic center.

Two Suspects In Possession Of Hashish

Two San Quentin men were booked into Marin County jail Saturday on suspicion of possession of hashish for sale after a California Highway patrolman found in their car a bag believed to contain the drug.

Thomas Maurice Purbaugh, 21, of 100 Main Street, driver of the vehicle, and Robert Earl Kay, 22, of the same address, a passenger, were arrested heading north on Francisco Boulevard at Bellam Boulevard about 11:30 a.m.

The officer said he noticed an auto without a right windshield wiper and no front license plate and pulled it over for a check. During his investigation, he said he noticed a brown paper bag on the floor of the car. The officer opened it and reported he found several cellophane-wrapped packets believed to contain hashish.

Both men were freed on $3,125 bail and to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Wimmer Chosen For Building Inspector Post

Herbert F. Wimmer, 55, of Pinole, will become chief building inspector for Marin County to succeed Hans J. Berge, who retired on July 1 at age 65.

Wimmer will begin working on Sept. 21 at a salary of $1,166 per month. His appointment will be confirmed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

Wimmer has been chief building inspector-planner for the City of Pinole for the past two years, and served as Superintendent of buildings and planing, acting director of public works and building inspector for the city since 1965. From 1962 to 1965, he was building inspector for the City of Berkeley. Prior to 1965, he was a general contractor.

Fifty-seven candidates applied for the Marin job, and 18 were interviewed by an oral board on Aug. 3. From the top five, Wimmer was picked by public works director Donald R. Frost.

Ferryboat Service Interrupted

A malfunction in the port steering linkage of the Golden Gate Bridge District's new Sausalito ferryboat today interrupted service for several hours.

It was the second breakdown on the service. The first was two weeks ago, the first day of weekday service, and involved engine failure. It was returned to service last Tuesday.

The malfunction was discovered just as the vessel was landing at the Ferry Building in San Francisco at 9:05 a.m., but the landing was made with no difficulty, according to district officials.

Service was to resume on schedule from San Francisco at 1:15 p.m.

Political Autumn Starts Officially On Labor Day

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Bikini-clad girls will still frolic on the beaches and vacation campers will clog mountain highways, but for California politicians autumn officially arrives one week from today.

The fall campaign for governor kicks off on Labor Day—traditional final holiday of summer — with old-fashioned barnstorms by two candidates as diverse as the state itself.

Neither Gov. Ronald Reagan nor Democratic challenger Jess Unruh believes the polls which show the Republican incumbent a virtual shoo-in for re-election.

"He's not a shoo-in at all," says Tom Reed, Reagan's campaign chairman. "Political campaigns have a way of tilting the other way when you least expect it."

California's other featured political race, between Republican Sen. George Murphy and Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney, partially begins this Thursday.y

Tunney, accompanied by his father, former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, will inaugurate his campaign amid banners, bands and hotdogs in his home district of Riverside. But Murphy, whose seat President Nixon realizes the GOP must retain for the party to wrest control of the Senate, won't officially commence his re-election effort until Sept. 14.

It would be hard to find two more contrasting candidates than Reagan and Unruh.

Reagan, 59, is a handsome former Hollywood actor who never sought public office until four years ago when he ran as a "citizen politician" and defeated incumbent Democrat Edmund G. Brown by nearly one million votes. He completed with Nixon for the Republican presidential nomintaion and still is regarded as a leading national spokesman for the party's conservative wing.

Unruh, 47, is the son of illiterate Texas sharecroppers who became a tough professional politician and close friend of the Kennedys. Good looks is not one of his strong points. As Assembly speaker—a post he held seven years — Unruh earned the nickname "Big Daddy."

"The 'Big Daddy' image is the 'Big Daddy' fact," contends Reed, who also is Republican national committeeman.

"'Big Daddy' is a boss who has operated in a big-handed fashion with marginal integrtiy. I don't think the people want that in their governor's mansion. I think this really is the number one issue in the campaign. The governor, whether or not you agree with his principles, he has them. He's man of integrity."

Unruh answers, in part, that Reagan is a weak leader who bemoans problems but doesn't know how to solve them.

"One of Jess' strengths," says Unruh campaign manager Phillip H. Schott, a former legislative aide, "is that he can get the job done if the people will give him a crack at it."

"Reagan stands up and wrings his hands and says how awful things are," Schott continues, "but he made them awful. That's what gets me." He notes Reagan still has not been able to push a tax reform program through the legislature, welfare costs soar and campus violence has spread.

"That's a patently absurd statement," says Reed. "Of course the campus problem has gotten worse. It's worse all over the country. But the voters want a man like Reagan who will take a firm stand for law and order, not for appeasement."

Unruh will hit hard on the theme, according to Schott, that "in terms of jobs and prices, California sticks out in worse condition than the rest of the nation."

The retiring legislator will aim his campaign at bluecollar Democrats who helped elect Reagan in 1966 but now face reduced take-home pay due to the inflation-recession spiral.

"The people still feel that economic problems can be solved by Democrats, not Republicans," says Schott.

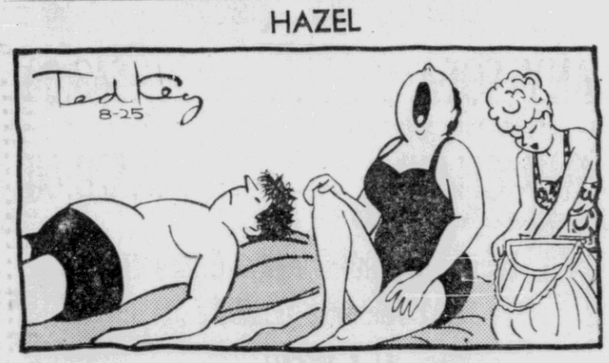

Unruh has his own economic problems politically. Campaign contributions have been relatively small for a gubernatorial race. So the Democrat has decided not to buy campaign billboards, and television commercials are doubtful.

"We haven't got the money for TV," Schott says, "and Reagan would spend five times as much anyway. It's not a thing we can win on toe-to-toe."

Reagan has had little trouble raising campaign contributions. His effort is expected to cost at least $3 million.

The governor will kick off his campaign in Orange County, home of his greatest strength. After a Labor Day address to retail clerks at the Orange County Fairgrounds, Reagan will fly to the San Francisco Bay Area the next day for another round of campaigning. He will politick throughout the state during the next few days.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Van Dellen

Allopurinol (Zyloprim) continues to be an excellent remedy for gout, especially in the advanced form of the disease. In many instances, the drug has eliminated urate crystals in the tissues surrounding the joints and has led to the dispersion of uric acid stones in the kidneys. The product represents an entirely new concept in gout therapy.

In gout, the amount of uric acid in the blood usually is increased. The chemical originates from purines in certain foods and accumulates in the blood of those with gout because they have an inherent disorder of the kidneys that slows down the excretion of uric acid. The excess invades the joints, crystallizes, and irritates the parts. Allopurinol blocks the final stage in the chemical production of uric acid. Xanthine now becomes the end product and it is easily disposed of because it passes through the kidneys 10 times faster than does uric acid.

SECONDARY GOUT develops is persons with acute and chronic leukemia, polycythemia, psoriasis, and in some malignant diseases. Certain drugs, such as the diuretics, do the same. Many persons with too much cholesterol in the blood also have an excess of uric acid. Kidney trouble may be responsible for the failure to eliminate the chemical. Allopurinol is as helpful in secondary gout as it is in primary gout.

The big toe is the favorite target in an acute attack of gout. The pain usually develops suddenly at night and the digit becomes red, swollen, and so tender to the touch, that even the weight of the bedsheet cannot be tolerated. Gouty episodes may follow physical exertion, too much alcohol or coffee, or a high purine diet. The best remedies for an acute bout include colchicine, aspirin, Butazolidin, or a cortisonelike product.

ALLOPURINOL and probenecid are preventives that keep the uric acid within normal limits after the acute attack subsides. They are so effective that the gouty person can be more lenient in his diet.

BRONCHIECTASIS

REPLY

In bronchiectasis, large amounts of thick sputum are produced. Inhalations of a digestive enzyme, such as pancreatic dornase and trypsin, often loosen the tenacious material, making it easier to cough up. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on bronchiectasis.

SPORTS INJURY

J.B. writes: I am a 15-year-old boy who plays in competitive active sports. Very often the part above the back of the heel of my foot gets sore like a muscle was pulled. Could you please tell me what this is?

REPLY

This may represent an injury to the tendon achilles resembling a sprain. If it is higher, the calf muscle also is involved.

CAUSES OF PANTING

P.C. writes: What causes panting?

REPLY

Too little oxygen from a failing heart, lung disease, overexertion, excitement, and extreme fatigue. Panting may also stem from habit, nervousness, and emotions.

THREE KIDNEYS

E.O. writes: If a yerson has three kidneys must the extra one be removed surgically?

REPLY

No —the more the merrier, so long as the structures are healthy and functioning properly.

Algerians Force Plane To Yugoslavia

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Three Algerians waving pistols and a Molotov cocktail held a scimitar-like dagger to the throat of an Air Algerie pilot today and forced him to fly them to Yugoslavia where they asked for political asylum.

The plane, a turboprop Convair 640 with about 30 persons aboard, was ordered to Albania, but the tiny Communist country refused it permission to land and the pilot took the hijackers to Dubrovnik, on the Yugoslav Adriatic coast, after stops in Sardinia and Italy.

The pilot, identified only as a Capt. Ieros, told officials, "I am utterly exhausted. I've been in that plane since 6 a.m. Sunday, a good deal of the time with a dagger at my neck. I need some rest."

Yugoslav officials said it appeared the request for political asylum would be granted. The three Algerians, all described as about 30, refused to give their names. They seized the plane on a flight from Annaba, Algeria to Algiers.

(However, in Algiers, the operations office of Air Algerie announced the three hijackers were arrested by Yugoslav authorities at Dubrovink airport. They said the passengers and crew were safe and would return to Algeria later today.

The hijackers ordered the crew to fly first to Cagliari on the island of Sardinia where they released 11 of the estimated 36 passengers aboard. They told the pilot to fly them to Tirana, the Albanian capital, but instead the plane was forced to land at Brindisi, Italy, only 50 miles across the Adriatic from Albania.

Theyy were equipped with a map showing approaches to the airport at Vlore, Albania, but the Albanians, only European allies of Communist China, said no and the plane continued to Dubrovnik, the first hijacked plane known to have landed in Yugoslavia.

Officials in Dubrovnik said the plane would take off around 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) for the return flight to Algeria. They said there were about 25 to 30 passengers aboard.

First word of the hijacking came when the pilot radioed Elmas field at Cagliari early today and asked for permission to land, refuel and be given a map showing the approaches to the airport at Vlore, a south-central Albanian coast town.

When the plane landed in Cagliari, 11 of the 3 persons aboard — including nine women and two men—were allowed to debark.

The passengers who were released said when the flight was 10 minutes cut of Annaba, a city on Algeria's eastern Mediterranean coast, on its way to Algiers the three men entered the pilot's cabin and ordered him to fly to Albania.

The pilot told them the plane did not have enough gas and it was decided they would stop in Cagliari to refuel.

One of the hijackers kept a curved, eight-inch knife at the pilot's neck during the entire operation, a passenger said. When the stewardess tried to protest the hijacking, she was put "under restraint," the passenger added, apparently meaning she was tied up.

Connection Between Hashish Planes Eyed

HERAKLION, Crete (UPI)—Police from six nations searched for a connection today between U.S. planes seized here and at Lyon, France, with wholesale loads of hashish aboard.

Lebanese, Greek, Italian, British, French and American police cooperated in the investigation of the planes. One aircraft was seized at Lyon during a routine customs examination, the other during an unscheduled landing here following an international chase through the skies.

"Since both the plane that landed here Saturday and this one in Lyon were carrying the same cargo for the United States we cannot exclude some connection between the two," a senior Greek police official said Sunday night.

The five Americans arrested here on charges of illegal possession and importation of narcotics were going before a judge today. They were held in isolation after police found 1,452 pounds of "excellent quality" packaged hashish aboard their twin-engined Convair. A U.S. embassy official from Athens was to handle their case in court.

They were identified by police as John Moore, 41, New York State, pilot; Phillip E. Ammos, 30, California, Co-pilot: Jerry O'Connel, 28, California; David Manel, 30, Ohio, and Robert Black, 29, Illinois. No home towns were available.

Their plane allegedly flew from Lebanon and landed here after a chase by Lebanese helicopters and British jets based on Cyprus. The jets tried to force the plane to land at Cyprus.

Beirut police sources said the plane took a cargo of smuggled cigarettes to Lebanon in exchange for the hashish, which a Heraklion police spokesman said was worth as much as $5 million in the United States.

"It was the largest haul we have ever made," he said.

He said the five Americans carried a large but unspecified sum in U.S. money but had no weapons,

Even before they were arrested, the five were given cholera shots since they had come from a region where the disease was reported.

They could be sentenced up to 10 years each in jail if convicted of importing narcotics or posessing them. Nine Americans now are serving Greek prison sentences of up to seven years for similar offenses.

The plane seized in Lyon, its pilots said, had flown from Turkey via Brindisi, Italy, and was en route to the United States via Scotland.

A total of 600 pounds of hashish was confiscated at Lyon from the twin-engine Beechcraft.

Police identified the two men held there as Al Clemons, 30, and Auguste Males, 24, both employes of a Miami-based airplane charter service. They said they found a snub-nosed revolver and a Walther automatic pistol on board.

Panther Is Convicted In '69 Slaying

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Black Panther Lonnie McLucas was convicted today of murder conspiracy in the 1969 torture slaying of former Panther Alex Rackley.

The guilty verdict was returned in the sixth day of deliberations by a jury of 10 whites and two blacks after Superior Court Judge Harold M. Mulvey rejected a defense motion for mistrial.

McLucas could be sentenced up to 15 years in prison.

He was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to kidnap and binding with intent to commit a crime.

The jury had deliberated for 37 hours.

McLucas is the first of eight Panthers — including National Chairman Bobby G. Seale--to be tried in Rackley's death.

The judget set Sept. 18 as the sentencing date. McLucas left the courtroom smiling.

The formal written note requesting a mistrial was delivered earlier today to the judge in his chambers. The defense contended the jury was "apparently hopelessly deadlocked." The judge rejected the mistrial motion.

Make Your Own Peace

You can say anything you want about the world. You can say it's beyond help. That man is more evil than good. That you never asked for the world you got. And you could be right. You can say anything you want about the Peace Corps. That it's just do-gooders. That it doesn't help peace. That it hasn't made any difference. The Peace Corps isn't disagreeing. That's not what it's about. The Peace Corps doesn't shout, "Come make peace." Peace doesn't come that easily. It's more of a separate peace. Maybe yours. No banners. No bands. No medals. The Peace Corps might be for you if you could enjoy feeding children. Or repairing a tractor. Or teaching birth control. Or building a schoolhouse. Even if no one ends up using it. (Don't think it hasn't happened.) The Peace Corps has no delusions of grandeur. Ask anyone who's been in it. But there are enough people who come out of the Peace Corps with things they've learned they can't forget. Good things. There are more ways than you can find to help the world. The Peace Corps is just one way. It's for someone who would rather do something. Anything. Instead of nothing. It could be your way. Write The Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

Goldwater Shoots Down Appointment Of Newsman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., persuaded the State Department to drop its appointment of Arthur J. Olsen as director of the Office of Public Affairs because of articles he wrote critical of Goldwater during the 1964 presidential campaign.

The State Department confirmed that Olsen, former foreign correspondent for United Press and The New York Times, would not get the office to which he had been named Aug. 18.

Olsen was to have taken up his duties as the department's official spokesman today.

Robert J. McCloskey, press adviser to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, acknowledged there had been "objections to Olsen's appointment," and that after "serious review" it had been agreed Olsen would remain in his present position as public affairs officer for the Bureau of European Affairs.

McCloskey's statement did not say what the objections were or who made them, but official sources said they came from Goldwater, who had warned Rogers that Olsen was "personally obnoxious" because of stories he wrote for the Times linking Goldwater with extreme rightist elements in Germany during the campaign.

Students Wait Cholera Check

KITAKYUSHU, Japan (UPI) —Thirty-nine Japanese students just back from a visit to Korea were in quarantine today because six members of the party showed symptoms of cholera.

The 38-member group from Tokyo's Meiji University returned from Pusan to Shimonoseki, Japan, by ferry boat Saturday.

TV IN REVIEW

White House Drug Drive To Be Seen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The results of President Nixon's suggestion that network television shows deal with the dangers of narcotics use will be evident to viewers during the new video season starting in September.

As the show business newspaper "Variety" puts it, the networks "will launch an unprecedented drive against narcotics addiction" in response to the White House request with numerous prime time series offering stories "warning one way or another of the dangers of being hooked," Samples:

—The Sept. 18 debut of Andy Griffith's new CBS-TV series, "Headmaster," in which he portrays the head of a small private high school, concerns "the problem of . . . students who 'turn on' with dangerous drugs—and their effect on a student who doesn't."

—Also on Sept. 18, the season premiere of NBC-TV's "The Name Of the Game" deals with "a Senate subcommittee hearing on narcotics and a young girl who is ruining her life with drugs." Presidential aide Robert Finch will appear as himself in this episode.

—An "Ironside" episode will tell of a successful engineer who has become a narcotics addict.

—NBC-TV's new "Four-In-One" series will have one of its programs, "Psychiatrist," tell of an ex-addict who backslides trying to get off drugs "and is placed on methadone, a controversial synthetic drug."

In a related type of series drama that tries to be topical and constructive, ABC-TV's high-rated "Marcus Welby, M.D." will present on its Sept. 22 season premiere a story about a case of teen-age venereal disease.

The story, "A Very Special Sailfish," concerns a high school girl who successfully completes a diet, becomes a beauty and gets involved "in her school's version of the swinging set. Promiscuity and venereal disease follow."

"Welby" executive producer David Victor notes that the episode "shows what happens to her mother and father, to her special boyfriend... It's not something that happens to somebody else. It can hit any family."

Film Of Sex Book Set

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paramount will make a movie of the popular non-fiction book, "Evehything You Always Wanted to Know about Sex —But Were Afraid to Ask."

Channel Chuckles

"Brought to you by Chung Sen Won Ton Soup and Egg Rolls."

Over 30? More Jogging Needed

CHICAGO (UPI)—A man over 30 has to jog 45 minutes a day, four or five days a week, for three months before making a significant health improvement, according to a University of Illinois researcher.

Alli Tooshi, a former college wrestler from Iran, made the report after completing a 20-week experiment with 30 volunteers. The first eight weeks of the experiment were spent in getting the subjects fit to jog up to 45 minutes, he said.

Tooshi said subjects who regularly jogged for 45 minutes during the final 12 weeks reduced their average cholesterol level from 201 milligrams to a safe 173 milligrams per 100 milliliters of blood.

Eight Killed In Hotel Blast

PEDASO, Italy (UPI)—Gas leaking from tanks connected to kitchen stoves blew apart a small hotel Sunday, killing eight persons, police said.

Authorities said the victims were residents of this town on the Adriatic coast. One was a man called in to repair the gas leak.

Police said if the explosion had occurred an hour later, the hotel restaurant would have been crowded with lunching tourists.

Most of the victims were hotel employes.

Manufacturing Jobs Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department says job opportunities in manufacturing are declining, especially in the instruments, machinery and electronic equipment industries.

The cutback in job openings was attributed to defense spending reductions and the general economic slowdown.

The bureaus of Labor statistics and Manpower Administration said in a joint statement the total number of vacant jobs in manufacturing in June, 1970, was 123,000 as opposed to 240,000 a year earlier.

In the instruments manufacturing industry in June, there were 7 vacancies for every 1,000 jobs. A year ago the figure was 21 per 1,000.

Bright's Winning Return To Dipsea

THE WINNER — Sixty-year-old Norman Bright of Seattle, who held the Dipsea Race Record since 1937, returned for the first time yesterday and led a field of more than 1,000 runners across the 6.8-mile course from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach.

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

A 60-year-old Seattle school counsellor, a 19-year-old College of Marin sophomore and a stout-hearted supporting cast of more than 1,000 men, women and children teamed up yesterday to make the 60th running the most memorable of all the Dipsea handicap races.

Sexagenarian Norman Bright, whose name has been synonymous with the Mill Valley to Stinson Beach classic since his record of 47 minutes, 22 seconds was set in 1937, returned for the first time yesterday and merely finished first. Incredible!

RECORD

But, while the winner was just catching his breath, Don Makela, a blond, mustachioed distance star from COM via Novato, broke Bright's venerable record with a clocking of 46 minutes, 22 seconds over the fog-shrouded 6.8-mile course. Remarkable!

And, to add further fuel to this cross country drama run under leaden skies, 30-year-old Richard Delgado of Woodacre also broke Bright's record with a 47:01 run. Wow!

Bright, getting a 15-minute handicap, covered the mountainous course in the time of 59:46 and corrected clocking of 44:46.

Delgado, the skinny, curley haired math teacher at San Rafael High who is well known and honored in distance running circles, had a two-minute handicap and finished second in corrected time of 45:01, just five seconds behind the winner with a sensational finishing kick.

Makela started from scratch, fought his way through the darnedest pedestrian traffic jam the old Dipsea trail has ever known, to finish third. But what a show!

MARIN A.C.

Marin Countians made further headlines as Makela led the Marin Athletic Club to the team championship, along with teammates Wes Hildreth, Darryl Beardall, Bob Biancalana and Larry Hoyt; 17-year-old Novato High School star Ron Elijah was the first high schooler to finish 12th in 49:01, and Don Pickett of Tiburon, the 1968 winner, was the fastest over-40-year-old in the field. He's a fast 42, coming in 13th in 55:03.

Dipsea chairman Bill Devlin of the sponsoring Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce said: "I'm sure we had more than 1,000 runners. At the finish line we ran out of more than 900 identification tags and a lot more finished after that." That easily surpassed last year's 733 starters.

Total entries, times, winners, etc. are all considered unofficial until an IBM brain expectorates the official results "probably in a week or so," according to a Jaycee official.

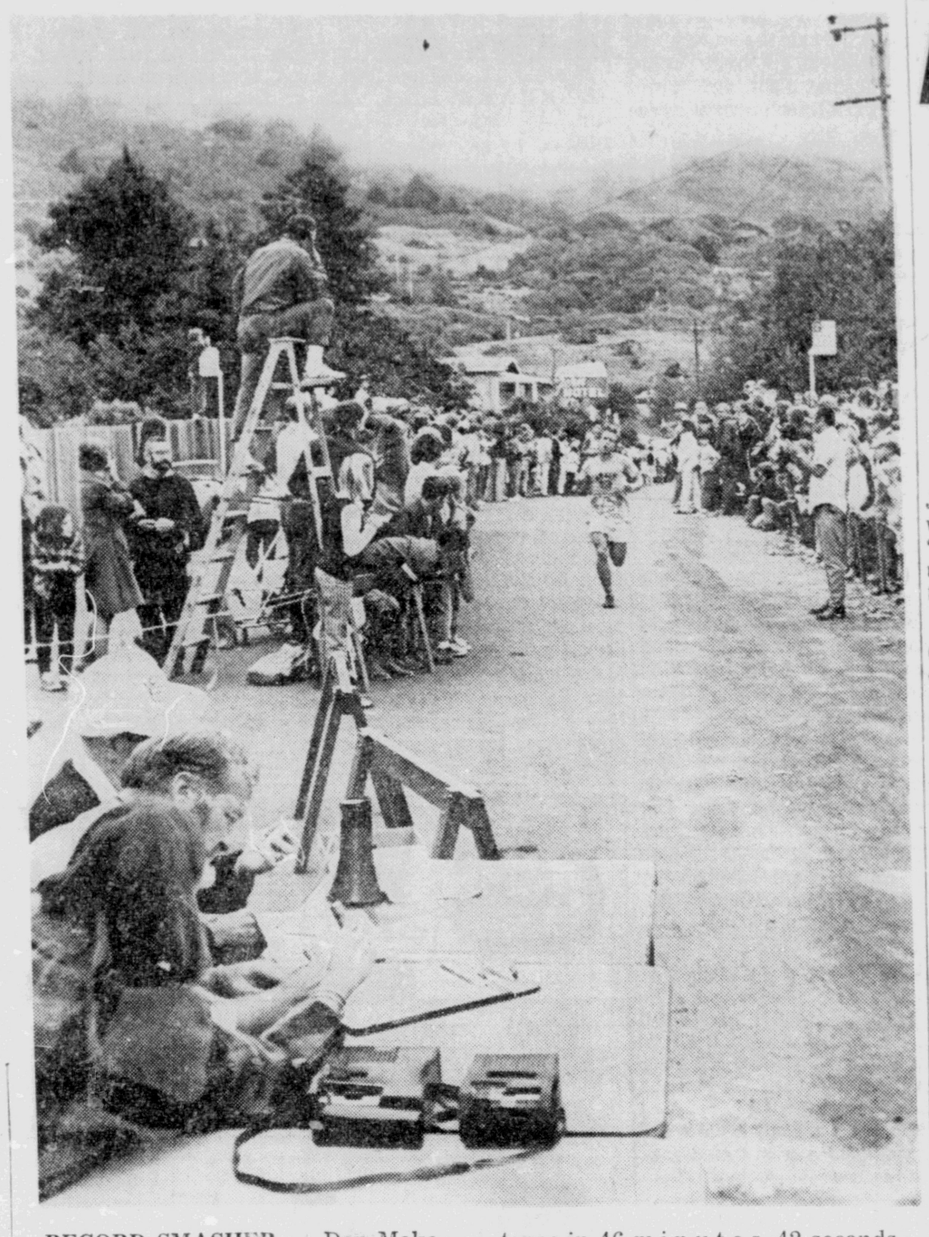

Bright, who ran for the San Francisco Olympic Club just as he had in 1937, beamed to the crowd: "Wasn't this fun today?" The West Seattle High School counsellor visited the Dipsea last year as a spectator for the first time since his famous 1937 run. "I'd hoped to see my record broken then," he said, "so I decided to run this year. I started training last November and have run 1,910 miles in practice for this race today, including about 20 times over this course. No, I wasn't at all disappointed to see the record broken. In fact, I'm glad."

NOVATO LAD

Makela, a stocky 5-foot-7, 140 pounder who has been running competitively for about four years, first came into prominence at Novato High where in 1968 he won the Marin County Athletic League cross-country championship. Last spring, as a freshman at College of Marin, he placed second in the Camino Norte Conference two-mile. Next month he'll be back at the Kentfield campus shooting for conference, northern California and state junior college cross-country honors.

This was Makela's fourth Dipsea. His best previous performance was a ninth place in 1967 and his best previous RECORD SMASHER — Don Makela, 19-year-old Novatan, streaked out of the fog to smash a 33-year-old record in the 60th running of the famed Dipsea Race. The College of Marin track star covered the distance in 46 minutes, 42 seconds. Richard Delgado of Woodacre also broke the old record in 47:01. The Dipsea is a handicap race. Makela finished third behind Delgado and winner Norman Bright.

Raiders Bombed By Pack

OAKLAND (UPI) — Coach John Madden keeping in line with the Oakland Raider motto "Pride and Poise," managed to utter a wisecrack after his team's worst beating since 1967.

"Our play was probably worse than the score indicated," Madden quipped Sunday after the Green Bay Packers thrashed Oakland 37-7.

"I can't think of anything we did right. We looked good on the ground at times only because the Packers were laying back a bit against the run," Madden said.

The defeat was the worst the Raiders have suffered since being beaten 48-0 in a 1967 preseason game against Kansas City.

Daryle Lamonica threw four pass interceptions in the first half and reserve quarterback Ken Stabler added three more in the second.

The mistakes, combined with sloppy execution on the line, helped Green Bay run away to an awesome 24-0 lead after only 12 minutes had elapsed.

Following a field goal by Booth Lusteg to open the scoring, Bart Starr put together a pair of quick touchdown drives for a 17-0 lead. Then linebacker Dave Robinson picked off a Lamonica pass and lumbered 23 yards for the final first period tally.

Lamonica snuck across the goal line in the second period to climax the only Oakland scoring drive of the game.

Linebacker Fred Carr, a continual tormentor of Lamonica, scored in the fourth period on a 55-yard run with a fumble recovery. Then Green Bay signal caller Don Horn closed the damage with a six-yard pass to Rich McGeorge.

The victory made the Packers 2-0-2 in the preseason and left the Raiders with three losses in four games.

Lamonica offered no excuses for himself or his teammates.

"We're going to have to get serious about playing football," he said in the dressing room.

Oakland next faces its Bay Area rival, the San Francisco 49ers, in an exhibition game Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

THE FRIENDS

Football Saved At Sonoma State

The financial crisis in the athletic department at Sonoma State College is a long way from being solved, but it looks now as if the 1970 football program, at least, has been saved.

Edward Hochuli, secretary of the Friends of Sonoma State, an organization which has been conducting a campaign to save the school's sports program, announced Saturday that enough money has been raised to finance insurance for the football team.

The athletic department has been practically bankrupt since last June when the school's student body voted to abolish student government, thus depriving the department of most of its $16,500 annual budget.

THE GOAL

Athletic Director Dr. Edward Rudloff had set a goal of $6,000 to be raised by Sept. 1, an amount which would have covered insurance for all sports and football equipment. $5,300 has been raised, and since it now looks as though the initial figure will not be reached in time, alternate plans are being arranged to finance other fall sports for both men and women.

Earlier in the summer the Friends loaned the school money for equipment.

The Friends have accounted for $2,700 and the Alumni Association $350, both through advanced ticket sales. A thousand dollars are assured through advertising funds in the football program and members of the athletic department contributed another $950. The rest of the $5,300 came from other sources.

SUPPORT

Persons or businesses can help support the sports program by purchasing season ticket packages from the Friends. Twenty-five dollars buys one reserved seat ticket for each of the four home football games and 11 home basketball games, plus membership in the organization. For more information persons can get in touch with Rudloff or Publicity Director Bob Lipman at the college.

Slumping Athletics Return To Home

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland A's have been betrayed by the supposed ace of their pitching staff.

Jim Hunter, a consistent winner early in the season, has claimed only two victories since the All-Star break. Trying for the seventh time to notch win No. 16, the Catfish was blasted from the hill as the A's absorbed a 6-5 beating Sunday by Detroit.

The loss was the seventh of a dismal nine-game road trip in which Cleveland, Baltimore and the Tigers battered Oakland's starting pitchers and darkened the A's hopes for a drive toward the first place Minnesota Twins.

SEVEN OUT

Oakland failed to take advantage of Minnesota's loss Sunday to New York. Thus the A's remain seven games behind in the American League West pennant fight. After a day off today, they open a six-game homestand Tuesday night against Chicago and Kanass City.

Hunter survived only five innings, giving up four runs and seven hits. Five of the Detroit safeties against Hunter went for extra bases. The defeat went to reliever Bob Locker, so Hunter's record remained 15-12.

Locker blew a 5-4 Oakland edge when he allowed three hits, the final one a tie-breaking single by Dick McAuliffe, in the eighth inning.

BIG BLAST

Reggie Jackson had given the A's the lead with a mammoth two-run homer in the top of the eighth. Jackson's blast, his 16th, sailed into the upper deck

An Easy Davis Cup Victory

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Blond Stan Smith, putting all the power of his 6-foot-4 frame behind the racket, slammed a shot past two West Germans for match point in the easiest Davis Cup victory in the history of tennis.

The Mutt and Jeff Southern California doubles team of Smith and Bob Lutz, both 23, crushed Wilhelm Bungert and Christian Kuhnke in straight sets Sunday, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

SINGLES

Arthur Ashe, 27, of Gum Spring, Va., defeated Bungert, 6-2, 10-8, 6-2, and Cliff Richey, 23, of San Angelo, Tex., beat Kuhnke 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, in singles matches Saturday at Harold T. Clark Stadium.

Never before has an American team won the Davis Cup in three matches, all in straight sets. The nine sets took a total of only four hours. Only the great Australian teams of 1962 and 1967 have defended the cup so efficiently.

The swift American triumph reduced the singles matches today to exhibitions with nothing but personal and national pride at stake. Richey, still smarting from criticism of his selection on his past record

Miss Walsh Triumphs In Doubles

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, who beat Eliza Pande of Palo Alto for the national junior women's tennis championship two weeks ago in Philadelphia, met her in both the singles and doubles finals of the U.S. Women's Amateur Championships Saturday at Wilmington, Del., and came away with a win and a loss.

Miss Pande took the season edge in her rivalry with Miss Walsh by defeating her, 3-6, 9-7, 6-2 in singles, but Miss Walsh and Gail Hansen, also of Palo Alto, came back to down Miss Pande and Janet Newberry of La Jolla in the doubles finals, 6-3, 7-5.

Miss Walsh's other loss to Miss Pande this year came in the California women's championships.

A Great Month For Giants; There's Still Second Place

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"It's a shame we couldn't have gotten started earlier," manager Charlie Fox was saying.

This was minutes after his San Francisco Giants had swept the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3 and 2-1, Sunday to complete August action with a 20-11 won-loss record.

First place is an impractical goal for the Giants this year but second now seems within reach, provided they play in September the way they did in August.

The Giants who have scored 12 victories and lost six against strictly Eastern Division competition the last two weeks, are idle today before beginning a six-game road trip in Cincinnati Tuesday night, a game in which Gaylord Perry shoots for his 18th victory for the third time.

EAST RACE

San Francisco's play since Aug. 11 has been primarily responsible for making a race again in the Eastern Division. Sunday's sweep left the Pirates, who now have lost six straight, only a game ahead of the Cubs, two ahead of the Mets and 5 1-2 ahead of the Cards.

In the West, the Giants are 15 1-2 games behind Cincinnati and four behind second place Los Angeles. The Giants play both clubs six more tiues this year.

In Sunday's doubleheader, the Giants, who have 30 games left to play, looked more like pennant contenders than the Pirates.

They needed hitting in the opener because of early shaky pitching, and they got it. In the nightcap, with rookie Dred Cambira pitching a fine game, the Giants needed an equally good pitching perfomance, and again they got it.

34TH HOMER

Willie McCovey drove in two of the opening game runs with a double and his 34th homer. Bobby Bonds, who had two doubles, Willie Mays, Kenny Henderson and Dick Dietz chipped in with an RBI each in support of McCovey.

Frank Reberger started the opener and left in the second with the Giants ahead, 3-2 and the Pirates with two men on via a pair of walks. Jerry Johnson pitched the next 3 2-3 innings to pick up the victory and Rich Robertson added four scoreless relief innings in his best showing in a long time.

Ron Bryant, with his first big league complete game, Jim Hart and Johnny Stephenson were the heroes of the nightcap. Bryant pitched a six-hitter, struck out eight and walked two to even his record at 5-5. Hart doubled leading off the eighth and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Tito Fuentes and a sacrifice fly by Stephenson.

McCovey's fielder's choice grounder which the Pittsburgh infield messed up drove in San Francisco's other run in the opening inning.

Sacramentans Defeat Koss

Muzio's of Sacramento dropped Paul Koss Supply into the loser's bracket of the Northern Pacific Regional Softball Tournament yesterday with a 4-1 victory in the Stockton heat.

Koss Supply's only run came in the third inning when San Rafael's Ron Reagan got aboard on an error and scored on a double by Rich Mantuffel off the left field fence.

Koss Supply will meet Hayward next Thursday night when the two-weekend tournament resumes.

An Old Putter Does Job For Bobby Nichols

CLIFTON, N.J. (UPI) — It was a $300,000 golf tournament but for Bobby Nichols, the difference between victory and defeat was only five bucks.

Nichols won the Dow Jones Open by a stroke Sunday, the worlds richest golf tournament, but he said he never expected to win it and didn't think he played all that well.

He credited the $60,000 first place check to an old, beaten-up $5 putter he pulled out of a closet at home last week.

VALUABLE

"That thing looks like a dog's been chewing on it, but it's been a very valuable putter to me," said Nichols. "I've done everything to it, even put it in a vice at home and fooled with it."

The bargain-basement putter was a purchase Nichols made in 1964 and used to win the PGA championship that year. But he retired it a couple of years ago and brought it out again only for this tournament.

At the 18th green Sunday, he used it to run in a birdie putt that gave him a one-stroke victory over Labron Harris.

"I don't feel like I played any better, but I putted well and that was the difference," said the likable Nichols, who spends a lot of his time tending to duties as home pro at Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio.

"I can't win unless I putt well. I'm not like Nick (Jack Nicklaus) or (Arnold) Palmer or (Billy) Casper, guys who can go out there and win every four weeks or so. It's been a long time since I've win."

NOT CERTAIN

49ers Impressive Against Broncos

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers finally have proven they can put the football beyond the goal line.

San Francisco regrouped from a pair of morbid preseason showings to defeat the Denver Broncos 23-7 Saturday night in Eugene, Ore.

The victory was the first for the Niners in 1970 and their first in exhibition play since 1968. Coach Dick Nolan now has a three-year preseason record of 2-13.

Quarterback John Brodie, entering his 14th season with San Francisco, enlivened an offense which had produced only seven points in each of the first two preseason contests.

19 OF 32

Brodie found the mark on 19 of 32 passes for 264 yards and three touchdowns. He connected on scoring plays of 13 yards to tight end Ted Kwalick, 56 yards to wide receiver Gene Washington and four yards to wide receiver Dick Witcher.

Steve Spurrier, benched as reserve quarterback, showed his worth as a punter. He kept the Niners in good field position throughout the game by averaging a healthy 44.8 yards on eight kicks.

Taking over following Spurrier's punts, the 49er defense stymied the Denver offense, forced three fumbles and picked off one interception.

TOP GAINERS

Jimmy Thomas and rookie Jim Strong combined for 80 yards in 15 carries to pace the San Francisco ground game while Washington, Kwalick and Witcher joined for 11 catches of Brodie's aerials.

"Brodie was very sharp," Nolan said. "He was due to begin sharpening his timing. He did a great job, and I felt that our defense had its third straight good game."

The only negative note was an ankle injury to Thomas, the severity of which will not be known for a couple of days.

time a 49:15. Asked about the toughest part of the course yesterday, he grinned: "Just getting through the crowd."

The course, which starts in the heart of beautiful downtown Mill Valley, includes such scenic attractions as the 671 steps one-half mile out of the start, Windy Gap at about 800-foot elevation, Muir Woods, Hog's Back Rise, Cardiac Hill leading to 1,500-foot Lone Pine Spring, thence the long grind home to Sinson Beach, where the population is suddenly doubled just by people running into town in their underwear.

HONORS

Some of the other honors: Wes Hildreth, a Harvard graduate, was first Mill Valleyan to finish, 11th; Marty Wright, 12, was first Stinson Beach resident to finish in 68th position; Mary Cortez, 16, of Redwood City was the first female to finish.

Mill Valley Mayor George Wickham and Dipsea Queen Arlinda Sebring helped Jaycee officials distribute trophies at the finish line.

The first 20 finishers and their elapsed times were: 1. Norman Bright, 59:46; 2. Richarl Delgado, 47: 01; 3. Don Makela, 46:42; 4. David Cortez, 53:45; 5 Bill Gray, 51:37; 6. Jack Kirk, 62:50; 7. Bill Scobey, 48:21; 8. Ed Sias, 56:42; 9. Howard Labrie, 48:50; 10. Darryl Beardall, 50:54.

by the thought of collecting the largest check in PGA tournament history.

"I was concentrating so hard I had trouble swinging the club," he said. "I didn't think it would go in...I never thought it would go in. I figured it would hust hang there on the lip, and it did."

It did, for a split second, and then the approxmiate 10-footer fell into the hole.

Only moments earlier, Harris, the 1962 U.S. Amateur champ who is winless as a pro, had made a seven-foot birdie putt at 18, a 600-yard par-5, and it looked like he and Nichols were headed for a playoff.

Nichols, with a 3-under-par 69 Sunday, finished at 276. Harris had a final-round 70 for 277 and the $34,200 runnerup check.

Nichols' last individual victory was in the 1966 Minnesota Classic, although he teamed with George Archer to capture the PGA team championship in 1968.

CHANCES

"I've had good opportunities to win four or five times, but I've blown them," Nichols said. "I haven't putted well, that's why I used this putter this week.' '

Dan Sikes finished with a 68 for 279 and 21,300 for third place. Larry Hinson was fourth at 280, Charles Coody fifth at 281.

Bruce Devlin, Orville Moody —who set a course record with his 64 Friday—Homero Blancas and John Miller were at 282, Tom Weiskopf and Bruce Crampton at 283.

Some of golf's big names had their problems with the long, narrow 7,085-yard par-72 Upper Montclair Country Club course, including Arnold Palmer. Palmer never was in contention and finshed with a 75 Sunday for 295 total after going to a desperation, cross-handed putting style on the final few holes. Only three players were below him.

Raiders Release Cannon

OAKLAND (UPI)—Durable Billy Cannon, a key figure in the growth of the American Football League, has been sliced from the roster of the Oakland Raiders.

In a mysterious and surprising disclosure Sunday, coach John Madden said simply: "Billy Cannon is no longer with the team."

MISSING

Cannon was missing from the field and the sidelines as well Sunday when the Raiders absorbed a 37-7 preseason beating from Green Bay. He had been in his usual position as starting tight end during Oakland's three previous exhibitions.

The 32-year-old Cannon, one of the biggest names in the history of college football, earned a doctorate in dentistry from the University of Tennessee during the winter. But he gave no indication that he was ready to quit football at this time.

"I can be a dentist the rest of my life," Cannon said in an interview several weeks ago. "We're so close to winning the world's championship anl frankly, I want to be a part of it. I can still run with speed."

FIRST PRIZE

The 1959 Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State University was the first major claim of the American Football League in its talent war with the established National Football League.

His presence in the inaugural year of 1960 helped the new league stay alive. After Cannon turned down a bid from Los Angeles of the NFL and signed with Houston of the AFL, other top college stars followed his lead. A decade later, the leagues called a truce and underwent a merger.

Cannon, a swift and powerful running back, led LSU to the national collegiate championship in 1959. He helped Houston win three successive division championships and two AFL titles between 1960-62.

Hampered in 1963 by a back injury, Cannon was traded the next seasen to Oakland. The injury, though healed, cut down Cannon's lateral movement and quickness as a runner. So Davis, then coach of the Raiders, switched him to tight end.

BOWLING TIPS

My approach is classified as unusual in that I barely lift my feet as I make it. This shuffling motion, I believe, makes a smoother delivery. If you adopt this style, you'll discover shorter steps are necessary. However, there is no disadvantage to this. The objective is smoothness.

McLaren Team Wins In Can-Am

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (UPI)—It was the McLaren team all the way again Sunday, but the track stewards rewrote the script and the wrong teammate won.

Peter Gethin, a 30-year-old Londoner who's been on the Canadian-American Challenge Cup circuit for just a few weeks, was declared the winner of the $80,000 Road America Can-Am after the McLaren team leader, Denis Hulme, was penalized 13 laps for getting a push from corner workers to get his car started.

Hulme had actually finished a couple of seconds and a couple of feet ahead of Gethin—coming from behind three times to do in. But the stewards, after meeting an hour and a half, declared Gethin, also on the McLaren team, the winner and said Hulme had finished the race on the 37th lap—after 148 miles of the 200 mile jaunt.

Intrepid Carries U.S. Hopes In America's Cup Challenge

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—"Ficker is Quicker."

That's been the word along the waterfront for weeks now. You see it on buttons and signs, and one pretty young lady was even spotted with it emblazoned across her shirt.

And finally on Sunday, the New York Yacht Club selection committee agreed and made skipper Bill Ficker's Intrepid the 21st defender of the America's Cup against Gretel II of Australia next month.

It took Intrepid six consecutive victories over Valiant before the committee decided Ficker really was quicker. The committee wanted to see how the two yachts would perform in brisk winds, like those off Newport in September, and Intrepid put on a real show when she got a chance on Sunday, coming from behind on the fourth leg to beat Valiant by 1:51 in 15-knot breezes.

SIX STRAIGHT

After losing the first rave to Valiant in the final eliminations, Intrepid spun off six consecutive victories. Throughout the summer, inclusing races against Weatherly and Heritage, Intrepid had 22 victories and five losses, while Valiant was 12 and 15.

"I got a few grey hairs in last Friday's race, when it was so close," the 42-year-old Ficker said. "And then in the last race I lost them again." Given a choice in his worrying, the yachting architect from Newport Beach, Calif., would probably prefer getting grey hairs, considering the deep tan covering his head.

Ficker and the Intrepid crew had one of their closest calls in the series in the last race, trailing from the start until midway through the windward fourth leg. Valiant had won the start by two seconds, and sat on Intrepid's weather beam for the first 20 minutes to hold a 29 second margin at the first mark. But Intrepid cut the lead to 22 seconds on the second let and 10 on the third by a series of quick tacks.

27 SECONDS

On the fourth leg, Intrepid split away from Valiant and then tacked back to reduce the margin even more. Valiant took a port tack, and Ficker brought Intrepid across to go ahead by 27 seconds at the mark.

By the fifth mark, Ficker had moved her into a 1:02 lead.

The seven-man selection committee decked out in their traditional blue blazers and white ducks, puttered up to the dock as soon as the yachts arrived.

After a polite, but brief "thank you" to Bob McCullough, skipper of Valiant, they tipped their straw hats in unison and went to Intrepid's dock to tell Ficker he would defend the 121-year-old bottomless cup that has never left the United States since it was won by the America in 1851.

McCullough and Valiant's crew also visited Intrepid for three cheers and a taste of victory champagne.

GRETEL II

Gretel II won four straight in a best-of-seven series against France, and the France's millionaire owner, part-time skipper, Baron Marcel Bich, still believes three of those victories were by luck, including the last one when he got lost in a heavy fog and had friends take him in tow 42 minutes after Gretel finished.

The Intrepid now goes against Gretel II in the best-of-seven America's Cup series beginning Sept. 15. And Ficker again must prove "Ficker is Quicker."

Jackie Ickx Wins First Of Season

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI)—Jackie Ickx of Belgium won his first Formula Two victory of the season Sunday by taking the international race at the Salzburg Speedway.

Ickx finished the race in one hour, three minutes, 24.3 seconds to beat Vittorio Brambiller of Italy and Dieter Quester of Austria.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Eastern Race Up For Grabs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With the Mets and the Pirates both in the doldrums, the Chicago Cubs are gaining ground slowly but surely in a division in which it seems no one is really interested in winning the championship.

Joe Pepitone hit a three-run homer with one out in the ninth inning to give the Cubs and righthander Bill Hands a 3-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Sunday and a sweep of their three-game series. Meanwhile the San Francisco Giants swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 7-3 and 2-1, and New York dropped a 9-5 decision to the Houston Astros.

GOOD SHAPE

Cub manager Leo Durocher said after the Chicago victory "we're in pretty good shape now." Pitching coach Herman Franks, a new addition to the coaching staff agreed, "I'd say our chances are pretty good."

Both are in trouble. The Pirates have dropped 10 of their last 13 and the Mets have lost eight of their last 11.

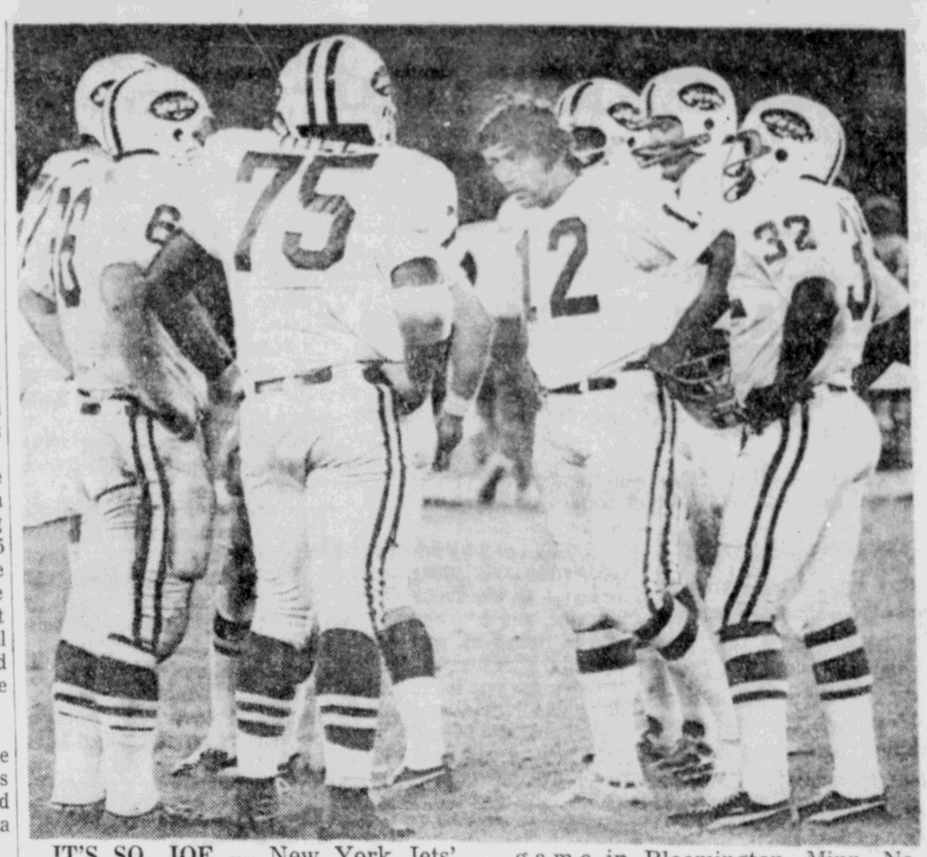

The Cubs, five games out a week ago, have closed to within one game of the first place Pirates, yet their play also has been something less than spectacular, with only six wins in their last 11 games.

All three contenders have played poorly in August, with the Mets showing a 12-18 log .400), the Pirates playing 14-15 ball (.483) and the Cubs the best at a mere 15-15 (.500). The Miracle Mets of 1969 aren't out of it, insists their manager, Gil Hodges. "We're just in a bad streak, the most crucial of the season," Hodges says.

OTHER SCORES

In other National League action St. Louis stopped Los Angeles 2-1, Montreal downed Cincinnati 5-1 and Philadelphia defeated Atlanta 4-2.

In American League play, Boston swept a twinbill from Chicago, 21-11 and 4-1, Detroit downed Oakland 6-5, New York beat Minnesota 5-2, Milwaukee defeated Baltimore 5-2, California nipped Cleveland 10-9, and Kansas City edged Washington 4-3.

IT'S SO, JOE — New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath removed his helmet and consulted his frustrated teammates during the second quarter of last night's exhibition game in Bloomington, Minn. Namath played only briefly, and the Jets were routed by the Vikings, 52-21. (UPI Telephoto)

Mantle Back With Yanks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK — Mickey Mantle is back in a New York Yankee uniform, this time as a coach.

Mantle made his coaching debut for the Yanks Sunday during a game with the Minnesota Twins, handling three innings of coaching on the first base line.

The former Yankee star said he came back to baseball, "because I was tired of doing nothing."

Auto Racing

ONTARIO, Calif. — The lineup of 33 cars is set today for the inaugural California 500 at Ontario Motor Speedway Sunday next with Lloyd Ruby, the Texan who has a history of hard luck, in the pole position.

Ruby who has had many mishaps in the Indianapolis 500, the history-laden Memorial Day race for big cars, qualified on the new 2.5 mile oval here Saturday with a four-lap average of 177.567 miles an hour.

Tennis

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. — The Rocket is ready for Forest Hills this Wednesday for the U.S. Open Tennis championships.

Rod Laver, The Rocket, had little or no difficulty in the final of the $25,000 Marlboro Open Sunday, brushing aside Bob Carmichael, another Aussie who now resides in France. Laver whipped through in 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 and picked up the $5,000 top money.

Baseball

DETROIT — Pitcher Denny McLain of Detroit reacted to his second lengthy suspension of the season by asking to be traded and blaming the Tigers' general manager —a longtime supporter of his —for the team's collapse.

On Friday, Campbell suspended McLain for up to 30 days without his estimated $500-a-day pay for dousing two sportswriters with ice water.

GIANTS

four-hitter when he walked John Jeter after two out. Jeter then stole second and scored on a single by Dave Cash.

"That's the best game he's ever pitched," said Fox. "After that performance I'll try to run him back in there soon and give one of the regular rotation pitchers an extra day off."

Fox, of course, is wondering about the way things could have been had the Giants started playing this well a little sooner.

"I'll tell you," he said, "we could have been right up there scaring the Reds. These fellows (the Giants) look more like contenders, and are playing like contenders, than some of the clubs I've seen the last two weeks."

Bryant was as pleased as he could be with his performance.

"This is the kind of game I always knew I could pitch," said the curly haired lefthander. "I'll admit, though, it was the first time this year I've had all three of my pitches (fastball, curve and slider) working the way I wanted. It makes a difference."

of weakness on cement courts and temperamental outbursts, played Bungert and Ashe, trying to recapture first American ranking, took on Kuhnke.

HEROES

Until they arrived here, the two Germans were national heros. Bungert, 31, a Dusseldorf sporting goods wholesaler, and Kuhnke, also 31, a lefthanded Cologne lawyer, won six interzonal matches to qualify for the challenge round.

"We lost like sheep being led to the slaughter," said Ingo Buding, the German Davis Cupper, court captain and unofficial spokesman.

"Kuhnke and Bungert were asleep out there. I tried to wake them up, but . . ." said the doleful Buding.

U.S. Davis Cup team captain Edward Turville said Smith and Lutz "are one of the greatest American doubles teams of all time."

Smith of Pasadena, had his scorching service at its best. His great reach and power made him impassable and ferocious at the net.

Lutz, of Los Angeles, struggled to hold his service in the first set, but he won with ease later on.

GAME PLAN

Turville said the singles victories of Richey and Ashe "followed our game plan."

He said he thought the Germans would expect the 5-foot-7 Richey to follow his normal style and stay back at the baseline.

The 70-year-old tennis trophy will stay in the United States for a third straight year—its longest sojourn in America since the late 1940s.

Turville indicated confidence for next year, even if Ashe sticks to his plan to retire from cup competition unless it is opened to contract pros.

Cuozzo, Vikings Too Much For N.Y. Jets

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe who?

The Minnesota Vikings vs. the New York Jets. Joe Kapp vs. Joe Namath. A natural, right? Wrong.

The two clubs met in a preseason game at Bloomington, Minn., Sunday night with the Kapp-less Vikings whipping the Jets and their Broadway Joe 52-21.

Kapp, the quarterback who led Minnesota to its National Football League title last year but is a holdout this season, was hardly missed Sunday as backup signal caller Gary Cuozzo fired three touchdown passes in the first half for the Vikings.

Namath, late in reporting to camp as usual because of "personal problems" made his first appearance of the exhibition campaign a short one as he played only the second quarter during which time he completed only two of six passes and failed to move the Jets.

Cuozzo, who seems a more than capable replacement for Kapp, hit on nine of 16 passes in the first half, including scoring strikes of 42 yards to Bob Grim, 74 yards to Gene Washington and 14 yards to John Beasley.

The Jets were held scoreless until the third quarter when Matt Snell scored on a two yard run and the already tough Viking defense got good news Sunday when All Pro end Carl Eller ended his holdout. With Eller in the fold, can Kapp be far behind?

The only other game Sunday saw the Green Bay Packers score 24 points in the first quarter and roll to a 37-7 triumph over the Oakland Raiders.

The four-day long exhibition weekend ends tonight with the Philadelphia Eagles meeting the Lions at Detroit.

In Saturday night's action, Atlanta upset Super Bowl champion Kansas City 22-17 thanks to Tom McCauley's 98-yard return of a missed field goal attempt; Miami presented new coach Don Shula with a 20-13 victory over his former team the Baltimore Colts; Jess Phillips' two touchdowns sparked Cincinnati past Cleveland 31-24 as Bengals' coach Paul Brown also had the pleasure of beating his former team.

John Brodie tossed three touchdown passes as San Francisco beat Denver 23-7; flanker Jerry Levias tallied three touchdowns in helping Houston upset Dallas 37-21; David Ray's three field goals enabled Los Angeles to down San Diego 16-14; two touchdown passes by Bill Kilmer pushed New Orleans past Boston 26-20; and St. Louis downed Chicago 24-3.

Freehan Out For Season

DETROIT (UPI) — Catcher Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season because of back surgery scheduled later this week.

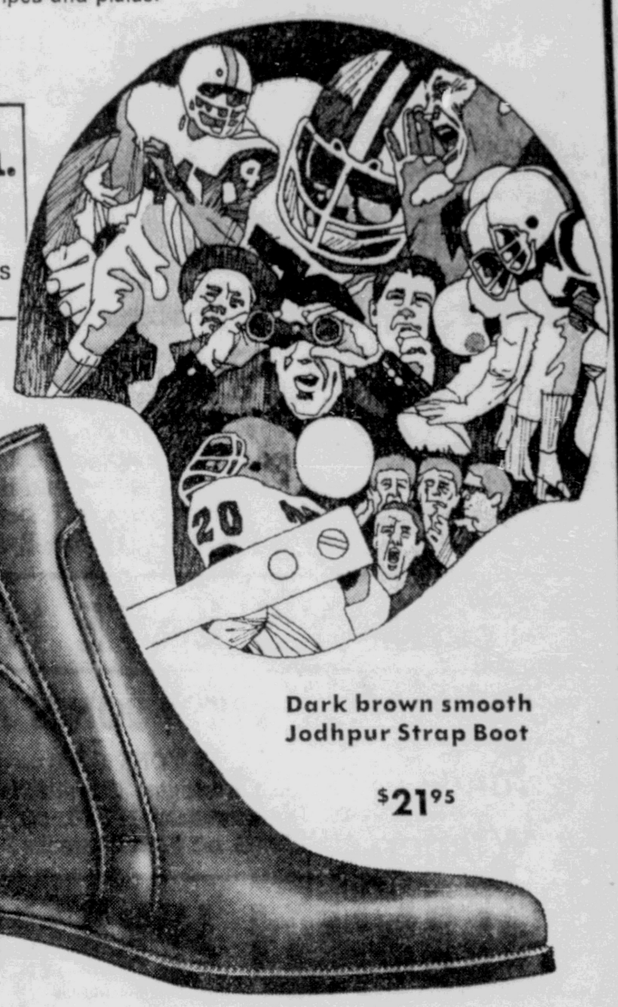

Freehan will undergo surgery Wednesday. He has a bith defect in his back, which has caused him considerable pain this season. Jim Price and rookie Gene Lamont will handle the catching duties in his absence.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

High-Grade Utilities A Safe Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am nearing retirement and have a sizeable amount in the bank earning the usual low rate of interest. A friend has suggested putting some of this money into Gulf and Western bonds. I also have other investments. What do you think of this suggestion? B.S.

A. Not much. Gulf and Western has $952 million in long-term debt, including two straight debt issues and three classes of convertible bonds. All are rated single B and sell to yield around 12 per cent to maturity, strongly indicative of the market's low appraisal of the quality of these bonds. As one approaches retirement, preservation of capital becomes increasingly important and a speculative investemnt, whether in bonds or stocks, is unwise. However, you can increase the rate of return on your capital without fear of loss by investing half your savings in short-term, high-grade utility notes to be held to maturity. Duquesne Light 8¼s of 1976 and Florida Power 8⅛s of 1975 carry AA ratings and sell at a slight premium to yield about 8 per cent to maturity. Either of these issued would suit your purpose.

Q. I have shares of Pacific Power and Light purchased at 23. The shares now trade at around 16½ and I am considering buying more. This will lower my average cost and raise my average yield. Do you think this is a wise move? R.E.

A. As long as you are primarily concerned with income rather than growth your plan has merit. A 10 per cent nincrease in Pacific P&L's common shares outstanding may restrict earnings improvement this year. The company has applied for rate relief in the three states it serves which would add 31 cents a share to annual earnings if granted. At recent trading levels, shares yield a generous 7.8 per cent, a portion of which is nontaxable as income. This tax shelter — last year 70 per cent of the dividend was exempt — will probably remain in effect until mid-1972. Because yield is figured on current share price, not cost, your average return is not affected by the purchase.

Gas Consumption Shows Giant Hikes

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — Of America's three major fuels, natural gas has made the greatest increase in use during recent decades, according to a geological survey conducted under direction of the Illinois State Department of Registration and Education.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association says the survey also revelaed that while energy consumption from fuels grew 82 per cent in a recent 10-year period, gas consumption rose 324 per cent.

Profit Taking Turns Stock Market Mixed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking turned the stock market mixed Monday after a strong advance last week turnover was moderate.

But of the 1,572, issues crossing the tape, advances topped declines, 685 to 614.

Turnover of around 10,750,000 shares was down from 13,820,000 shares Friday.

Steels, rails, chemicals, airlines and aircrafts generally traded in fractions and on both ides of previous closings. Motors also moved over a narrow range as investors waited for developments in talks between car makers and the United Auto Workers.

Packard Owners Form Club

FRESNO (UPI) —During the first half of the century the Packard automobile was to status conscious car owners what the Rolls Royce and Bentley are today. Packards were presidential cars and several supreme court justices owned one.

In the late 1950's, the Packard went the way of the Edsel and the Packard Corporation tapered off production and began producing Studebakers. By 1959, Packards were out of production.

The love of Packards, however, lingered in many people and two weeks ago, a 23-year-old Fresno car salesman decided to launch a local Packard owners club.

A recent Fresno State College graduate, he said his idea met with such response - there are 50 Packard owners in Fresno - that he has decided to expand the club to the entire central San Joaquin Valley.

"We are inviting every Packard owner in the valley to join the club," Kendig said "Membership cards are free."

The club plans to meet the last Sunday of every month and go on motor tours around the valley. The first meeting was held here.

Kendig bought his first Packard, a 1955 Clipper, nearly three years ago. He says his parents had owned three and he had always wanted one.

What was their attraction?

"They were a luxury car," Kendig answers, "carefully made with a high performance engine and loaded with features which became standard only in the 1960's."

Because only a few Packards were made from 1957 to 1959 they have become collector's items and hence extremely valuable. Kendig says a 1958 Packard sedan or hardtop in good condition is now worth $5,000.

One Fresno club member, Doug Judy, owns 15 Packards. Another owns a 1909 Roadster worth $10,000. Kendig says there are probably some Packard owners in the valley who aren't aware that they might be driving a collector's item.

Sunday, he says, they might find out.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

New Lemonade And Pastry Shop Will Turn Out Complete Line

A new tenant has taken over the bakery space in the United Market on Third Street, formerly occupied by the Sugar Plum Bakers.

Jonas Curtis of Fairfax, through Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty, has leased the location and will open tomorrow as Kimbo's Lemonade and Pastry Shop, a corporation which he heads. The bakery is completely equipped and will turn out pastries, wedding cakes, bread and other baked goods. There will also be a fruit juice and coffee bar. It will have a separate entrance here and will open at 7 a.m. daily.

Curtis was formerly in the baking industry in Syracuse, N.Y. He has also had a furniture business — also known as Kimbo's (taken from his daughter's name). He plans to open other bakeries and is considering an additional retail outlet for his goods in Marin County.

A CENTRAL LOCATION for individual antique dealers and collectors to display their wares is planned by Anthony and Patricia Barbera of San Anselmo, who have bought the former R. G. Fontana building at 316 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

They will remodel the 3,600-square foot structure extensively and divide it into 100-square foot areas partitioned by satin ropes. These will be rented out for a minimum of three months. The entire display, to be known as Collective Antiques, will be open Tuesdays through Sundays, with private viewings for decorators and preferred customers on the first Monday of each month.

Other services will include monthly newsletters to Bay Area decorators listing items available and to their tenants listing items in demand. Front show window displays will be on a rotation basis.

ROBERT F. MASON of Marinwood has been promoted to manager of the Greenbrae office of Wells Fargo Bank. Formerly assistant manager of the New Montgomery office in San Francisco, he succeeds Richard A. Olrich who has been assigned to West Bay Division headquarters. Mason joined the bank in 1962 with three years previous banking and business experience. At one time he was credit officer of the San Anselmo branch and subsequently assistant manager there.

A new leaflet is now available from the Small Business Administration, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, Box 36044, San Francisco entitled "Problems in Managing a Family-Owned Business" — number 208 in the Management Aid series. It discusses suggestions for solving management and disagreement on method of operation and other family-business problems.

Weekend Of Violence; 9 Police Shot

Sergeant Killed At Desk; American Journalist Dies

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Five policemen were shot in Philadelphia over the weekend, one fatally as he sat at his desk.

Four other policemen were wounded as they chased suspects through a Mexican-American section of Riverside.

In New York 2,000 young people, including a group of homosexuals, stoned police in a confrontation in Greenwich Village.

These were some of the major instances of violence that plagued a number of American cities during the weekend.

In Philadelphia, Sgt. Frank Von Colln 43, was shot five times and killed at his desk in the Cobbs Creek Park guardhouse Saturday night. Minutes earlier, a man hailed a patrol wagon driven by policeman James Harrington, 39. Harrington pulled over and the man shot him twice in the face. Sunday night, two highway patrolmen stopped a stolen car carrying two black men in west Philadelphia, the same neighborhood of the previous shootings. The patrolmen were wounded, one critically, in an exchange of gunfire. Later, a wounded man was arrested in a private home.

Police arrested three men in connection with the Saturday night shootings and charged one with murder, possession of explosives and firearms violations. Police said he told them he belonged to a black group that had been "planning to kill pigs for several months."

During the search for the assailants another Philadelphia policeman was wounded today, the fifth in a 36-hour period. Patrolman Frank Eckman, a sharpshooter, was hit in the left leg by someone inside a heavily barricaded residence. The places raided included a Black Panther headquarters. Twenty-three persons were arrested

In Riverside, Calif., four policemen chasing two men through a Mexican-American area Sunday night were wounded by a shotgun blast. Earlier in the evening, 100 young persons had tried to barricade streets. Four men were arrested, one on suspicion of attempted murder.

Nixon Silent On Role In Mideast

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon today refused to speculate on whether U.S. troops might be part of a peacekeeping force policing a Middle East settlement.

Such speculation, he said in a television interview, would be harmful to negotiations now underway at the United Nations between Israel, Jordan and Egypt.

The President's remarks, taped in front of the Western White House Saturday and broadcast today (CBS Morning News), seemed designed to knock down discussion of a possibility raised by one of his chief Middle East advisers last week in a background briefing for news executives.

Pointing out that both the Soviet Union and the United States do not have firm control over the opposing sides they are backing in the conflict, the adviser had said both superpowers might send observer forces to the area to guarantee terms of a final settlement.

"I do not believe that suggestions of that type, well intentioned as they are, are going to be particularly helpful," the President said. "For people from the outside, whoever they may be, in government, out of government, to make this suggestion or that suggestion as to where we move without knowing all the facts, I don't think would be particularly helpful, so I will not comment on it."

The President said he was "neither optimistic nor expectant" about a settlement in the troubled region but said the fact both sides had agreed to the cease-fire brought "some hope."

The President scheduled a full-dress review of the Middle East crisis here Tuesday. He was meeting today with Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., who recently returned from a visit to Israel.

The Tuesday meeting, to be attended by top Defense Department and State Department officials, was expected to focus on Israeli charges Egypt has taken advantage of the American-initiated cease-fire to improve its military position.

In his 15-minute conversation, the President ranged over a number of issues and appeared more optimistic about the chances for peace in Vietnam.

"So far as the United States involvement is concerned in Vietnam, peace is certain. As far as the Mideast is con-

EX-DIPSEA KING WINS AGAIN; RECORD BROKEN

Norman Bright, 60-year-old Seattle school counsellor who set a record for the famed Mill Valley-to-Stinson Beach Dipsea Race in 1937, returned for the first time yesterday and finished first among a field of more than 1,000 runners.

And, to compound the drama of the sporting classic, two Marin Countians bettered Bright's 33-year-old record of 47 minutes, 22 seconds. Don Makela, 19, of Novato was clocked in 46:42 and Richard Delgado, 30-year-old mathematics teacher at San Rafael High School, covered the fog-shrouded 6.8-mile course in 47:01.

In the handicap system, the order of finish was Bright, Delgado and Makela running 1-2-3.

Pro-Thieu Ticket Leading In South Vietnam Election

SAIGON (UPI) — Unofficial returns indicated today that a progovernment slate, an independent ticket and a militantly antigovernment group backed by Buddhists had won seats in the South Vietnamese Senate.

The heaviest level of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks in nearly four months broke out Sunday in an apparent attempt to disrupt the first nationwide voting in South Vietnam in three years.

With votes from most of the nation's major cities and 44 provinces counted, government sources said a slate led by Lt. Gen. Huynh Van Cao (Ret.) had 1,069,800 votes. A ticket backed by miltant An Quang Buddhists and led by attorney Vu Van Mau had 1,053,100 votes and an independent slate headed by Senate Speaker Nguyen Van Huyen had 727,202 votes.

The Mau slate was composed of Buddhists who have long opposed the present Saigon regime and led an uprising in the northern provinces in 1966.

Officials said 4,325,494 persons voted in the Sunday election or 65.7 per cent of the 6.5 million registered voters.

Voters chose three slates of 10 candidates each for 30 seats in the 60-seat senate. The choice was among 160 candidates on 16 slates, including five progovernment Roman Catholic tickets. Each winner will serve a six-year term.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces killed at least 11 civilians in attacks against four polling places. Three of the incidents occurred in Binh Dinh province along the central coast about 240 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

Arsonist Destroys Costumes, Facilities

A disastrous fire set by a persistent arsonist last night ruined $6,000 in costumes and facilities at the Marin Shakespeare Festival in San Rafael's Forest Meadows.

The fire disrupted productions, and director John Brebner said he was rushing to get costumes from other theater groups and universities so the festival can get back on schedule.

The fire, the third set last night at the festival, destroyed the costumes for "Henry V" and for the "Taming of the Shrewd" and some of the costumes for "The Tempest," Brebner reported.

The fire in the costume building already had burned much of the 1,000-square-foot structure when it was reported at 2:43 a.m.

In addition to the costumes, the festival also lost all its drums and other percussion instruments and its sewing machines.

Brebner said the festival — observing its 10th anniversary — may have to cancel all of the remaining performances of "Henry V" unless more costumes can be borrowed. Until more costumes can be found, "Brigadoon" will be substituted for the Thursday and Friday performances this week, he said. As scheduled, "The Tempest" will run on Saturday night, and the "Taming of the Shrew" on Sunday night, but in modern dress.

The fire did $4,500 damage to the costumes and equipment, and $1,500 to the building.

The first two fires were set in piles of leaves and debris during the performance, according to the fire department.

Brebner said that the production schedule for the next four weeks will be worked out later this week, again depending on the success of borrowing costumes.

Fire Chief Vance Trivett said his department had no suspects. San Rafael police were working on the case today.

The festival last year had the most successful season in its history, and held an intensive fund-raising drive to support this year's 10th anniversary season at the outdoor setting.

Successful ABM Test Is Claimed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has successfully intercepted a missile for the first time with its Safeguard Antiballistic missile (ABM) system, the Pentagon announced today.

Assistant Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin said a target Minuteman missile was launched Friday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. A Spartan missile, part of the ABM complex, was fired from Kwajelein Atoll 4,200 miles away in the mid-Pacific.

The Minuteman nose cone was intercepted outside the earth's atmosphere, Henkin said. He would not give the altitude.

COURT SETS HEARING

Southern Schools Integrate Today

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

White parents picketed and boycotted schools in Stockbridge, Ga., today whlie scores of schools across the South opened peacefully for the first time on a totally integrated basis. In Washington, the Supreme Court set a date for hearing whether the Constitution requires a racial balance in the nation's schools.

In Miami, Fla., a Negro man walked into the halls of a newly integrated school and opened fire with a rifle, wounding a Cuban father who was taking his son to school. Police said there were no racial overtones, however.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., police investigated a pre-dawn bomb threat at a newly-desegregated school but no explosives were found and classes began on time.

More than 170 white children registered for classes at Indianola, Miss., where the public schools had been attended by 2,615 Negroes and no whites. Most of the returning whites had been attending private schools costing a few hundred dollars per year tuition.

Education superintendent B. H. Papasan at Tunica, Miss., said "some of the 2,800 students in his school system this year will be white. Last winter all the district's whites abandoned the public school system where they were outnumbered seven to one by blacks.

The Supreme Court set Oct. 12 for its hearing on whether the Constitution requires a racial balance in the schools—rather than just a unitary school system. The court consolidated six cases in Charlotte, N.C., Mobile, Ala., and Clarke County, Ga., involving key issues of racial balance and the means of achieving it—including busing, pairing of schools and rezoning.

School officials in Stockbridge, Ga., south of Atlanta, said 200 white parents were turned away when they tried to enroll their children at an elementary school they attended last year. The school is now integrated.

Atlanta sent 110,000 children back to school, but the potential trouble spot was Savannah where eight elementary schools were paired or combined to achieve integration in the 42,000-student district.

North Carolina's largest school district, Charlotte-Mecklenburg, has been granted until Sept. 9 to institute a desegregation plan requiring the busing of about 20,000 of its 83,000 students.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Union Threatens

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union will strike if the Big Three automakers do not meet "legitimate demands" in the current contract negatations, UAW President Leonard Woodcock warned Sunday.

"If we don't have three settlements on Sept. 15, then we'll have one strike," Woodcock told 3,000 members of UAW local 600, the union's largest, at a rally in suburban Dearborn.

Contracts with General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. expire at midnight Sept. 14. The automakers are scheduled to make their economic proposals Tuesday.

Worst Fire

WENATCHEE, Wash. (UPI)—An increased threat of thunderstorms, lightning and gusty winds today worried firefighters battling the worst outbreak for forest fires ever to strike the Wenatchee National Forest.

Just as some of the major blazes began to appear manageable, the inclement weather threatened to spread the flames past the 100,000 acres already charred.

Good weekend weather helped the 8,000 firefighters in the national forest make significant progress toward controlling the fires which began during a lightning storm last Sunday.

Rights Restored

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Uruguay today restored individual constitutional rights which President Jorge Pacheco Areco had suspended for 20 days to facilitate the search for kidnapped American Claude L. Fly and Brazilian diplomat Aloysio Dias Gomide.

Both were still missing. Shortly before the government reinstated full constitutional guarantees at midnight Sunday night, gunmen opened fire at a military instruction center 1.2 miles from downtown Montevideo. Soldiers fired back at the speeding automobile carrying the gunmen, who escaped.

39 Die In Plane

CALCUTTA (UPI) — An Indian Airlines airliner has crashed in the jungles of Assam state in Eastern India, killing all 39 persons aboard, the Press Trust of India reported Sunday. PTI said the plane's wreckage was sighted early Sunday 60 miles northeast of Silichar City.

Agnew In Hawaii

The vice president arrived on American soil after a flight from Bangkok Sunday that was broken only by a 90-minute refueling stop on Guam. On the flight he told newsmen he believed there would be much fighting in Cambodia. But he said U.S. forces would not be involved unless "the security of American troops is threatened."

Agnew said officials in Bangkok are not resisting the reduction of U.S. forces in Asia. "Thai officials are extremely understanding of the American position," the vice president said.

Festival Over

FRESHWATER, Isle of Wight (UPI) — Thousands of young people streamed home from the Isle of Wight pop music festival today, the five days of peace and music marred only at the last minute by isolated clashes with police.

Authorities who praised the majority of the estimated 250,000 persons attending the festival said about 200 "troublemakers" ran wild Saturday night, tearing down 60 yards of corrugated iron fence around the arena and looting some temporary shops.

The trouble came even though the festival organizers earlier in the day had given up trying to sell $4.80 tickets for the last-day performances by Joan Baez, Leonard Cohen and Jimi Hendrix and declared the proceedings free.

Friends Say Angela's Trip Was Unlikely

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—Close friends of Angela Davis, wanted in connection with the San Rafael, courthouse slayings, do not believe the 26-year-old Communist came to Birmingham after the slayings despite police reports, Birmingham Post-Herald Columnist Clettus Atkinson said today.

"In the first place, Angela is too smart to have returned to Birmingham," Atkinson said in his column.

Atkinson told UPI that during an intensive series of interviews among friends of Miss Davis he had found none who believed she ever came back to her hometown.

Jefferson County authorities had reported they missed by only 20 minutes arresting Miss Davis at a Black Panther meeting Aug. 15.

"Angela was reportedly attending a Black Panther rally when allegedly seen in Birmingham," Atkinson told UPI. "I talked to three Panthers, one a woman and they denied vehemently that Angela had been here.

"I talked to several of her friends. They also said she had not returned here, that she would have been foolish to do so, that her hometown would be one of the first places the police would look," Atkinson said.

Music Proves More Popular Than Protest

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The beat of rock music proved much more attractive than the pounding of a drum Sunday for youngsters who had been asked to march in protest of the American Legion.

A total of 40,000 attended two nearby rock festivals while only 1,100 turned out for a 41-block march through downtown Portland in protest of the Legion's 52nd annual convention.

Michael McCuster, a Marine Corps combat veteran and People's Army Jamboree bemoaned the "use of our culture (rock music festivals) to defeat our political purpose."

ANTI-WAR TAUNTS

Those who did march for the PAJ taunted passing Legionnaires and others with anti-war, anti-Legion and anti-government shouts in the 91-degree weather.

Marchers chanted: "Ho Ho, Ho Chi Minh, the NLF is going to win." Some yelled curses or made obscene gestures at Legionnaires along the route.

What reaction there was from bystanders was calm and without incident.

TWO FESTIVALS

Meanwhile, at the festival sites, rock music blared on both sides of the Columbia River, complete with nudity, drugs and even newly born babies.

Clark County authorities ordered an autopsy Sunday at Washougal, Wash., for the body of an unidentified young man found in a nearby river by a skindiver.

The death at the Sky River Rock Festival and Lighter Than Air Fair dampened somewhat the fun of the 20,000 young persons there who had been skinny dipping and smearing themselves with mud.

Authorities guessed the drowned man was between 22 and 25 years old.

VORTEX ONE

The other festival is called Vortex One and is on the Oregon side of the river near Portland. It was approved by Governor Tom McCall as a means of drawing youths and anti-war protesters away from the national American Legion convention.

It also drew some 20,000 persons Sunday and there too there was mud smearing and nude swimming. And lots of bands.

DRUGS COMMON

Although physicians noted only a few "bad trips" as the result of drugs, they were being sold and used. One man was selling "organic mescaline" from an old hearse.

Sky River promotors failed to get permits for their festival but the Clark County sheriff's 35-man force made no move against it.

Chavez Wins Pact With Big Grower

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union, announcing the first victory in its strike to organize field workers in the fertile Salinas Valley, ordered its members back to work today for one firm.

Chavez told a cheering throng of his followers Sunday he had signed a contract with Inter Harvest, Inc., largest lettuce grower in "The Nation's Salad Bowl" and the first company to abandon a joint front against the union.

"This is the best contract we've negotiated," Chavez declared as his AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee voted to approve the contract with the United Fruit Company subsidiary.

"We appeal to the rest of the growers to negotiate with us so we can send the workers back to work," he continued.

Inter Harvest's two-year contract with the union covers between 800 and 1,000 persons in this valley as well as other sections of California. The union is striking both here and around Santa Maria, 130 miles southward.

Still to be settled is a suit brought in San Francisco Superior Court by Pic 'n Pac, a S. S. Pierce Company subsidiary that contends Inter Harvest is breaking an agreement with other valley growers by signing a Chavez contract. A hearing is scheduled Tuesday.

Chavez also said the Teamsters Union, which previously had signed contracts with 35 valley growers, agreed to rescind its agreements with Inter Harvet, which farms 25,000 acres in California and Arizona.

The walkout last week by 5,000 of the valley's 7,000 workers resulted in a dispute over whether the Teamsters or UFWOC would represent field workers. Until the Inter Harvest action, all growers had stood by their Teamster pacts.

Contract terms announced by Mrs. Dolores Huerta, the union vice president, include pay of $2.10 an hour for field hands operating machine lettuce pickers and 40.5 cents per carton for those picking by hand.

Machine pickers had been getting $1.75 and were to get $1.85 under the Teamster contract. Hand pickers had been getting 31.5 cents and would have gotten 36 under the Teamster pact.

In addition, the contract grants 10 cents an hour per worker for a health and welfare fund, gives workers some say in the use of pesticides and brings working foremen under union jurisdiction. Seven pesticides were specifically banned, including DDT, and restrictoins were put on others.

AIP Convention Supports George Wallace Candidacy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The American Independent Party pledged allegiance to its founder — George Wallace — last night and endorsed his campaign to regain the Alabama governorship.

At a statewide platform convention, AIP delegates voted 307 to 93 in favor of Wallace's bid to win back the office from which he will probably launch another drive for the presidency in 1972.

The convention also elected Merv H. Hemp of Pacific Palisades as its new state chairman. The aerospace engineer, who is the AIP's lieutenant governor candidate, will hold office for two years.

Elected vice chairman was Charles C. Ripely, San Jose. Thomas M. Goodloe Jr., of Placerville won the treasurer's post and Maude I. Jordet of Ventura is the new party secretary.

During the weekend convention delegates also wrote a platform on which their candidates will run this fall that included a plank calling for curtailment of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Delegates defeated a resolution which would have called for a military victory and withdrawal from the Southeast Asian nation.

Other planks included a call for poll taxes and literacy tests for voters, a noninvolvement U.S. policy in the Middle East, a repeal of laws governing the reopening of California gold mines, and a recommendation that whiskeymakers be taxed to pay for rehabilitation of alcoholicsm.

Delegates also adopted a resolution calling for the abolition of the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Four Killed In Barge Explosion

MORGAN CITY, La. (UPI)—Four men were killed Sunday in a work barge explosion on the Belle River at the same site where a blast one month ago claimed four other victims.

The four killed Sunday were repairing damage caused by the earlier explosion.

The bodies of the latest victims were not recovered Sunday night, and deputies from St. Martin and Assumption Parishes said dragging operations on the river were continuing. The river is near the parish line.

Authorities said the cause of the blast was not known.

Israel Backs Away From Peace Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Middle East peace efforts bogged down today, with the Israeli cabinet split over its course of action and Egypt claiming charges of cease-fire violations were a "coverup" for an Israeli-American electronic equipment deal.

Political sources in Jerusalem said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan is considering resigning unless Israel revises its stance toward the peace talks initiated by the United States. Dayan holds Israel should not have even begun the talks until the issue of Egypt's alleged installation of missiles in the Suez Canal cease-fire zone was cleared up.

DAYAN VICTORY

Dayan and his backers in the cabinet appeared to have won at least a partial victory Sunday when the cabinet detained Ambassador to the U.N. Yosef Tekoah instead of sending him back to New York for further talks. U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring had hoped to get the pace of the talks stepped up, but the lack of an Israeli negotiator dashed those hopes.

Jarring's only meetings with Tekoah were last Tuesday — the first day of the talks.

With the 90-day cease-fire already in its 24th day, Jarring has met twice each with the Israeli, Jordanian and Egyptian representatives.

'DEAL' CHARGED

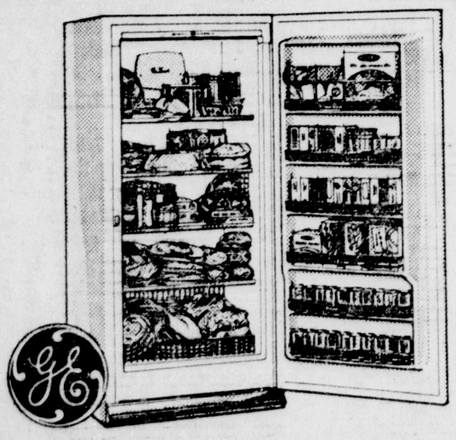

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said Israel's charges Egypt moved SAM2 and SAM3 missiles within the 31-mile truce area after the cease-fire went into effect Aug. 7 was regarded in Egyptian military circles "as a deliberate attempt to cover up for an electronic equipment deal between the United States and Israel." It did not give details of the "deal."

"Israel cannot claim the missiles had been moved to the front after the cease-fire took effect because they were already there," Al Ahram said. "Proof of this is the many Phantom and Skyhawk jets which were shot down or crippled by the Egyptian missiles in the one-month period immediately preceding the cease-fire."

NASSER CLAIM

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, in a meeting Sunday with a delegation representing the World Peace Council, said Israel did not want peace — "The Israeli approved the American proposal after a long hesitation, but there is no material evidence to show that they really want peace."

stayed out of the campaign but sources said he was privately backing the Cao slate.

Meanwhile, in Nha Trang, a South Vietnamese medical officer and about 12 other government soldiers seized a military hospital and held it for six days before Vietnamese troops regained control today.

While holding the hospital, the officer and the squad of soldiers who joined him went on a sniping spree and killed three persons, including a U.S. soldier, government officials said.

The trouble began at this coastal base 188 miles northeast of Saigon the night of Aug. 25 when a medical officer, a major, was shot to death on the Nha Trang beach during an argument over a woman.

Authorities went to the hospital outside the Nha Trang airbase to question Ha, a doctor at the hospital. The doctor and a squad of soldiers backing him disarmed the military police and took control of the hospital.

In Phnom Penh Viet Cong forces overran a town 26 miles southwest of Phnom Penh Sunday and forced Cambodian defenders into what the government called a tactical withdrawal. The South Vietnamese Command said North Vietnamese troops killed 10 persons and wounded 44 in an attack on an orphanage.

"This is just plain murder," said Maj. Thomas J. Pentacost of Camp LeJeune, N.C., of the attack on a Buddhist compound near An Hoa, 352 miles north-northeast of Saigon Sunday.

The report said the uniformed North Vietnamese troops also seized a Buddhist monk, dragged him from his pagoda, bound his wrists and shot him to death when he refused to give them his money. The troops also robbed the orphanage treasury and fled with pigs and chickens.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Communist troops had seized the town of Srang, 26 miles southwest of the capital. Cambodian spokesmen said the Cambodian troops withdrew "to avoid the Viet Cong pressure and give airplanes a clear target."

The Cambodian government today rushed a battalion of its South Vietnamese trained troops into the Srang area 26 miles south of Phnom Penh to block a possible Viet Cong advance on the capital from the town they captured Sunday.

SCHOOLS

Lumbee Indians today reluctantly agreed to abide by a new desegregation ruling after earlier vowing to continue sending their children to traditional Indian schools. Many parents were not happy and said gerrymandering had made the program as "phoney as a $9 bill."

About 50 school districts opened in Alabama and state School Supt. Ernest Stone called for the maintenance of public schools. Stone said he was not opposed to private schools, but warned that any city which abandons its public school system "will be a ghost town within 24 months."

Demo Shape Good Despite Debts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien says his party is in reasonably good shape despite its $9.3 million debt.

O'Brien said the party was meeting its day-to-day operating expenses and "has turned the corner in that we are not going further into debt."

O'Brien was interviewed Sunday on ABC-TV's issues and answers.

He predicted the party would overcome its financial handicaps and maintain its majority in Congress as well as increase the number of Democratic governors.

"We have difficulty in funding campaigns," he said. "The tremendous costs of campaigning these days, it causes great problems . . . overall, however, we're in reasonably good shape."

Producer Misses Real Life Drama

A British television producer filming at the Manzanita Center in Marin City missed a shot outside of someone stealing the front wheels from his rented car outside.

Sheriff's deputies reported yesterday that the producer, John E. Percival of British Broadcasting Co., London, England, reported the theft Thursday night.

The two front tires and rims were taken from a car rented from Hertz Auto Rental at the San Francisco Airport. The film crew was at the Marin City Council meeting shooting final scenes for a documentary on the Sausalito School District.

Defendant's Illness Delays Tate Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Tate murder trial was delayed again today when Susan Atkins, pale and tottering as she walked out of the courtroom, complained that she was too ill to attend the session.

Judge Charles H. Older recessed the session and asked that the defense lawyers give him the findings of a doctor who examined Miss Atkins over the weekend.

cerned, we cannot speak with certainty due to the fact that the differences between various parties involved are so deep," Nixon said.

He emphasized once again that the new U.S. negotiator in Paris, David K.E. Bruce, has "great flexibility" and is willing to respond to any initiatives from Hanoi. But he would venture no prediction on whether they would be forthcoming.

"Based on the past record, I would expect nothing," the President said, adding that he was awaiting the beginning of discussions with Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, who is expected to show up for next Thursday's session after an absence of several months.

The President said, however, that what little chance there was for negotiations would be ruined by current Senate moves to require a deadline for the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

If any such deadlines are set, he said, "It should be accompanied with another paragraph, in any such resolution immediately breaking off the Paris talks. "The negotiator has no reason to stay in Paris in the event there is a deadline, because the other side might as well wait for us to get out."

A resolution requiring U.S. troops to be out of Southeast Asia by January, 1971, sponsored by Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark Hatfield, R-Oregon, is scheduled for a vote in the Senate Tuesday.

Turning to domestic issues, the President said the mood of the nation was volatile. But he said domestic strife had been less severe this summer than two years ago and said he had his "fingers crossed" people were beginning to accept the fact that conflicts must be resolved through constitutional processes. "This is the great issue of our time," he said.

Invasion Of Embassy Ends In Surrender

THE HAGUE (UPI)—A band of Amboinese youths who seized the Indonesian embassy in a burst of gunfire that killed a guard surrendered tonight without carrying out their threat to execute the ambassador's family one by one.

The students had said they would execute the ambassador's wife and their two children if Indonesian President Suharto did not meet with them within the next 48 hours. Suharto, who had been expected here Tuesday, postponed his visit because of the incident.

The students surrendered after talking with Dutch Premier Piet de Jong. He conferred with them after creeping across a garden from the neighboring residence of an American businessman. The raiders left the residence at 5:30 p. m. and boarded police trucks.

Suharto was scheduled to arrive in The Hague on Tuesday on a state visit but Jakarta dispatches tonight said he had postponed the visit for 24 hours and might cancel it altogether to let the Dutch "restore order." The Amboinese youths set a 48-hour deadline on their demand Suharto meet with them.

Jan Ross, who identified himself as news editor of the Netherlands Press Association, told the British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) he had spoken to one of the raiders who told him "they are going to start executions; the first execution is tonight at 8 o'clock." The raiders were holding the Indonesian ambassador's wife and their two children.

Marine Deserter Returns To U.S.

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — John M. Sweeney, a U.S. Marine who spent 18 months with the Viet Cong before flying to Sweden last week to seek asylum, has returned to the United States, the Swedish Vietnam Committee said today.

The committee said the 21-year-old Marine, who arrived Aug. 25 and applied for asylum, left for home Sunday night accompanied by his parents.

His parents, who live in West Babylon, N.Y., flew to Sweden during the weekend.

"They apparently managed to convince Sweeney to return. They left for New York via London Sunday night," the committee said.

Gray posted $3,750 bail and is to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

used tear gas to break up a crowd of 500 persons Sunday night in the Mexican-American district of Wilmington, in the second night of violence. At least 15 fires were set over a 12-square-block area and four persons arrested.

Saturday night, in the same area, Ruben Salazar, a columnist for the Los Angeles Times and news director of Spanish-language television station KMEX, was killed when a tear gas shell fired into a bar to clear a crowd struck his head.

Trouble had broken out during a Mexican-American rally attended by 20,000 persons. Police estimated 400 persons fought them. There were 185 arrests and more than $1 million in property damage caused in what some officials described as the worst rioting in Los Angeles since the Watt riots of 1965.

In Tucson, Ariz., trouble began when 50 young blacks forced their way into a movie theater and other persons inside demanded a refund. Fights then broke out, police were called to the scene and looting and vandalism occurred.

The New York City violence began Saturday night and early Sunday when 350 homosexuals marched from a rally for "Gay Power" in Times Square to Greenwich Village. Young people joined htem in fights with police.

Chicago was the scene of two separate black gang shootings Sunday, police said. Eight persons were wounded when a group of youths fired at them with shotguns and handguns while yelling "Supreme Gansters." Police said the "gansters" and the "African Snipers" are rival gangs in the South Side area. One youth lost an eye.

Earlier Sunday, two members of the Disciples street gang were arrested after somebody fired a shotgun at a parade of 400 persons led by the Black P Stone Nation, a coalition of gangs. The parade was to celebrate the coming school season.

In other incidents during the weekend:

New York —A 29-year-old policeman was shot and wounded "for no apparent reason" by an unidentified man in the Bronx early Sunday.

Summer Intern At The I-J Finds Work Rewarding, Learns A Lot

A San Jose State College student who spent the summer working as a newsroom intern for the Independent-Journal sums up the experience by saying, "I learned a heck of a lot."

Francis M. Dozier Jr., who plans a career in magazine journalism, said that working as a reporter turned out to be much different from what he expected.

"I knew so little that I thought each reporter only wrote one story a day," Dozier laughed.

Although his real interest is in feature writing, Dozier said that learning to write "hard news" stories was an invaluable experience for him.

"I have written all types of stories this summer," he said.

Because he had been an editor on high school and junior college newspapers, the college senior said that he thought he knew how to write newspaper stories and had skipped beginning journalism courses at college.

"I found out I didn't know how," he said.

The 31-year-old senior explained that "I've taken my time" getting an education.

A native of Los Angeles, his home is in Altadena and he graduated from Pasadena High School in 1957. The intervening years have been divided between college and work.

Dozier worked for post offices and as a clerk for the Internal Revenue Service in Southern California while attending junior colleges.

In 1966 he came north and enrolled in Contra Costa College, and two years later switched to San Jose State, where he decided on a journalism major.

Although Dozier's work has paid his way through college for the most part, last year and next year he has been given grants of $500 a year from the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

It was through a list circulated by the association, also, that he found the summer job at the I-J.

Unruh Visits Marin To Lambaste Governor's 'Sad Performance'

The Reagan Administration is spending more money than it is taking in, crime is on the increase and "welfare is up," Unruh asserted.

Reagan's proposed tax revision plan, if passed, would have been "one of the worst atrocities ever perpetrated on the people of California," he contended.

Homeowners would have gotten relief, but renters, "and about 40 per cent of the people in California are renters," would have pair more taxes, Unruh said. Under this setup, a renter making $8,000 would have paid $25 more, and this renter would be helping to pay for the tax relief "someone in a $200,000 home would get," he declared.

Unruh, underdog in the polls, told his followers, "I'm not as far back as Hubert Humphrey or Pat Brown in 1958 or Harry Truman in 1948."

He charged that the Reagan Administration has "struck out" on issues of environment and ecology. "Every major bill on environment went down the tubes."

Unruh said next in order is "to name names of those who have profited from the Ronald Reagan Administration, those who have had their hand in the till, if not illegally, immorally, and to say: "Here's the kind of con game you've been getting."

Unruh also commented that Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, isn't "The little tin god a lot of people might think him."

He said he liked Bagley personally, but saw him "cast one of the worst votes," on an amendment to the governor's tax bill.

Unruh said he had the votes needed to amend the oil depletion allowance so an oil company couldn't get an allowance that was more than 10 times its investment.

The amendment was in the original bill prepared by Bagley, but amended out by the Ways and Means Committee, Unruh explained. "We tried to get it back in."

On a first roll call, Bagley voted for it, but then "left the floor," and when he returned, he had changed his vote and the amendment was defeated, Unruh claimed.

This closing part of the loophole in the oil depletion allowance would have resulted in about $12 million for the state, Unruh reported.

Bagley votes for civil rights and Wilson Riles "because he's smart," but "the people of this country have been hoodwinked long enough," Unruh asserted.

Joseph A. Forest of Bel Main Keys, Democratic candidate for the Seventh Assembly District seat, said the legislation and administration in Sacramento must be "turned around."

William M. Bennett of Kentfield, Democratic candidate for the Third District seat on the State Board of Equalization, said that property held by "large operators" is underappraised, and he "has been appalled by what he has seen.

Mortgage Money Is Loosening Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Prospects of relief for the money-starved housing industry appear brighter because mortgage money is becoming more plentiful, according to a government report.

The report, released Sunday, said mortgage money is more plentiful now than at any time in the past year because of an increase in money available from savings and loan associations, the largest single source of home loans.

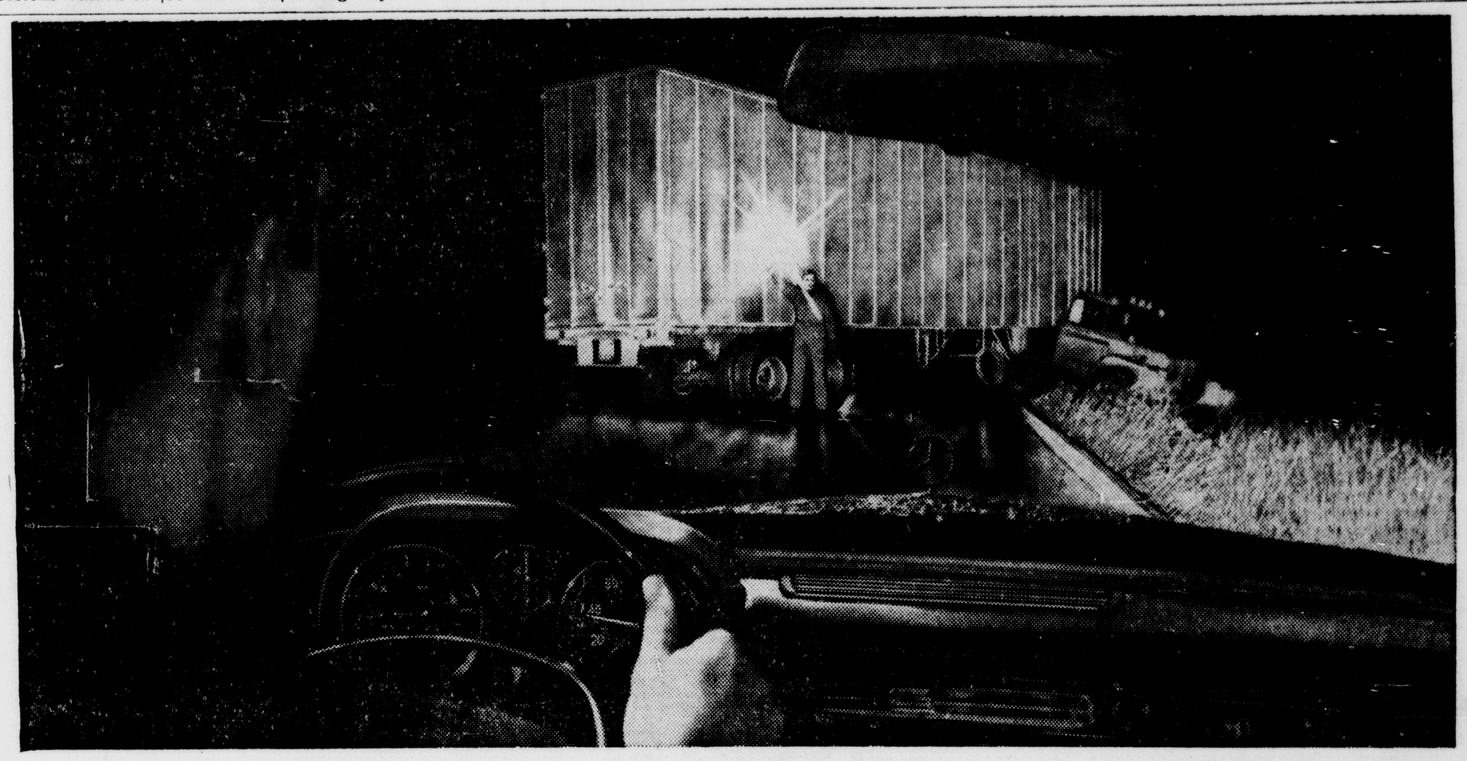

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board said savings and loan associations made commitments for future loans totaling $1.7 billion last month, the highest figure since April, 1969, and 27 per cent more than July, 1969.

The board said the associations closed loans totaling $2 billion last month, up 5 per cent from a year ago, and the first year-to-year increase in 12 months.

SEPTEMBER 4

FUEL UP TO FIGHT CANCER

At your Marin Independent Service Station

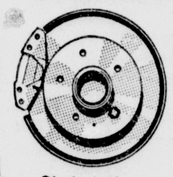

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock. Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

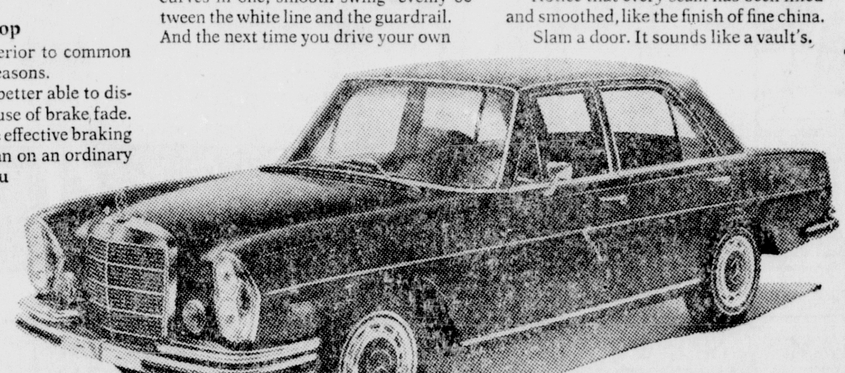

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

Special Tax Proposed On Nudity In Films

MANILA (UPI) — A bill which would impose a special tax on motion picture films "with nude or undressed persons together on bed, sofa or similar places" has been proposed by Philippine Congressman Felix A. Fuentebella.

Fuentebella says the tax would be mainly to discourage the importation or making of films showing nude persons and only incidentally as a source of revenue.

New Guide Gives Practical Help–Study This Spade Slam

My friend and rival Alan Truscott, who writes a daily bridge column for a certain large Eastern newspaper, has just put out an excellent new book called "A Guide to Practical Bridge," published by the New York Times. He got a bridge player by the name of Omar Sharif to write the foreward. Today's hand, taken from the new Truscott book, will give you an idea of how useful it is.

DIAMOND LEAD

West leads the ten of diamonds, and South must be careful not to claim his 12 tricks without looking ahead. If South draws trumps and finds that the six missing trumps are divided 4-2, he will be able to take the first 11 tricks. But then West will save the ace of hearts and a diamond to defeat the slam.

If South is in a forethoughtful mood, as readers of bridge columns should be, he will set up a heart trick while dummy still has a trump to stop the diamonds. But the obvious play of leading to the king of hearts will fail, Truscott points out. West will take the ace of hearts and lead another diamond. Dummy must ruff, and South has no way to draw trumps, which are blocked in dummy.

The winning play is unusual. South must lead the queen of hearts from dummy at the second trick. West cannot afford to refuse the trick, since declarer would draw trumps and run the clubs to take the first 12 tricks.

When West takes the ace of hearts and leads a diamond, dummy ruffs. Now after declarer has drawn trumps with the king and queen, he can reach his hand by leading a heart to the king. He draws two more rounds of trumps, runs the clubs and scores a well-earned slam.

If I have to pick a flaw in Truscott's 220-page book, it is that perhaps paperback books at $1.95 are overpriced. It's well game, but can it be that our great Eastern newspaper is contributing to inflation?

DAILY QUETSION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ - A J 7 5
♥ - K 9 4 2
♦ - J 7 5
♣ - 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

With two four-card suits, respond first in the cheaper suit. If partner has heart support, he can raise; if not, he may bid one spade. If he has neither heart support nor biddable spades, he will make some other bid and you will discover at once that both major suits are unplayable.

Rights Panel Asks County Intervention In Dispute

A letter from the Marin Human Rights Commission, asking for county intervention in the Independent-Journal labor dispute, and a letter of reply from I-J publisher Wishard A. Brown will be considered by the Marin County Board tomorrow morning.

James Quiett, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, is asking the county supervisors "to actively support the Marin County clergy in their efforts to bring the Independent-Journal and the Typographical Union to the bargaining table to submit their differences of mediation or binding arbitration."

In his two-page reply, Publisher Brown made these observations:

"We have talked with a large number of Marin's clergy, and we are told that while the clergy, as are we, is in favor of a peaceful settlement to this unfortunate strike, the clergy is overwhelmingly opposed to intervention in it. It would be interesting to know just who constitutes the coalition of clergy to which the Human Right Commission referred."

Brown said the Independent-Journal made several attempts to mediate the issues. Before the strike began, a committee of other unions made an attempt that was aborted by the typographical union. Another try, under auspices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, was also aborted.

"The issues are perfectly clear to the principals," said Brown. "We feel the intervention of third parties has only served to muddy the waters.

"The Independent-Journal has and does decline to negotiate publicly, nor have we ever attempted to debate the issues publicly. We are not aware of any such difficult strike that has been settled by public negotiation or debate.

"At a negotiating meeting held this week (week of Aug. 23-29), the union made no proposals regarding critical issues other than their original strike demands. They refused to enter into meaningful discussion of the issues and they terminated the meeting expressing no desire for further meetings."

Brown said several printers exercised their right to remain at work and some others have returned to their jobs since the strike began. "The union has levied $10,000 fines against them; their homes have been assaulted, and one has had his car set on fire at his home."

Brown cited the long series of abuses and threats suffered by employees who remained on the job, the threats and phone calls received by subscribers and businessmen, and damage estimated at $200,000 from vandalism and destruction at more than 40 businesses.

"Our employees' homes have been firebombed on eight separate occasions endangering their lives and the lives of their wives and children. Allan W. Daly was shot in his home and died, leaving a young wife with two infant children.

"More than a dozen members of the union are awaiting trial on felony charges resulting from these acts.

"These tragic and senseless acts cannot be forgetten by us. We hope they will not be ignored by those who should be most concerned.

"I have talked with many church people, businessmen, and citizens of the community who feel strongly on these issues. Our freedom, of which freedom of the press is a part, cannot exist in a world subject to intimidation, no matter what the source.

"I hope you will consider carefully the propriety of such intervention before you decide."

In his letter to the county supervisors, the publisher enclosed a copy of a letter he received from a printer and a former member of the union.

The printer's letter reads in part:

". . . I was a 'voluntary' picket in February and March. Ever since I ceased participating in this insanity, I have thought to write to you to assure you that there is not now and never was unanimaty of opinion among members of the San Francisco Typographical Union.

". . . I wish to add my expression of sorrow for the pressure that our union and some immature members have exerted. To give in to such unconscionable pressure is to abandon your principles and your business.

"Eventually I will perhaps be forced to pay my 'fine' for not remaining a 'volunteer,' but not without a struggle . . .

"My only thought in writing is to assure you of my personal disagreement with our union officers' tactics. It really shook me up when I reported for picket duty after the vandals worked your plant over. I was personally embarrassed to participate even as a seemingly brainless picket. It was and will always remain against my own scruples to do such a thing . . ."

Arsonists Set $300,000 Berkeley Fire

BERKELEY (UPI) — Arsonists broke open a gasoline pump at a school warehouse Sunday and used the fuel to start fires that caused $300,000 worth of damage.

The Berkeley Unified School District's instructional materials center contained a professional library, visual aides and a film library.

Firemen estimated damage to the materials at $200,000 and to the brick structure at $100,000.

Arnold Grossberg, school board president, called it a "great loss" since much of the material cannot be replaced rapidly.

Arsonists also tried unsuccessfully to ignite three school buses outside the building.

It took 50 firemen 1 1-2 hours to put out the blaze.

It was the fourth school building ignited by arsonists in the San Francisco East Bay Area this summer.

Just the day before, arsonists had thrown two firebombs into a Bank of America branch, causing damage estimated at $2,500.

Playground Aide Shot In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI)—A playground director, shot in the back by a youth described as "high on drugs," was hospitalized today but not in serious condition.

Police said witnesses have identified two youths who attacked Bobby Grant, 26, on Saturday although there has not yet been an arrest.

One youth pulled a derringer when Grant refused them entrance to a closed game room. The weapon fell to the sidewalk as Grant struggled with the youth.

The second youth then pulled a .22-caliber pistol and fired as he ran away.

Supervisors To Set Property Tax Rate At $2.57 Tomorrow

A basic county tax rate, 31.5 cents higher than last year's, will be set by the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow morning.

Computations by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell show a 1970-71 tax rate of $2.575, which is 7.5 cents higher than the projections made during the June budget sessions and 18.5 cents higher than last year's rate of $2.395.

Last year's rate included the tax levy for the county board of education a separate levy of 13.5 cents this year which brings the total county rate to $2.71 a jump of 31.5 cents.

County Administrator Alan Bruce listed several events, all occurring since June, which added to the county tax rate:

1. The State Legislature adjourned without providing for property tax relief.

2. The adopted state budget reduced state contribution for mental health and Medi-Cal.

3. Congress has not yet come through with new federal grants for mental health staffing.

4. Current trends show that various categories of welfare aid will cost more than expected.

5. The Aug. 7 tragedy, at the Hall of Justice resulted in increased costs for public protection and security.

The county administrator explained that raise in tax rate is the only way for the county to meet its legal responsibilities.

Bruce said the average tax rate increase for California counties this year is projected to be 45 cents.

In addition to the adoption of an increased tax rate, the supervisors will face several other major agenda items.

MORE DEPUTIES Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will ask for more deputies to provide two-man patrols on the principal night shift in key areas, and a change in overtime pay policy so that lieutenants and captains will get overtime along with deputies when called out to special duty such as riots.

COUNTY FAIR — The county administrator will present several options for the 1971 county fair, including the possibility that the county forego the fair for next year.

HOUSEBOATS — The county administrator will present a proposed schedule for cleanup of houseboat violations in Richardson Bay, a report on the status of houseboats and legal actions pending against violators, and recommendations for abatement of persistent violators.

LIVING IN CARS — The County Counsel will submit proposed ordinances to control the use of one-family homes by groups of individuals, and the use of vehicles as residences.

HEARINGS — Public hearings will be held on (1) an appeal by Bel Aire Property Owners Association objecting to the 18-unit apartment plan for Pelican Hill, (2) an appeal of the planning commission's denial of a tentative subdivision map for Laird's Landing subdivision, which is within the Point Reyes Seashore area, and (3) an appeal by Charles Felix, who wants to set up an English-pub type of restaurant at Muir Beach.

Traffic Booking Brings Pot Count

James Russell Phillips, 18, of all points, being booked at Marin County Jail on a traffic charge Saturday night, wound up being booked also on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Phillips, halted by Fairfax police at Pastori Avenue and Center Boulevard at 10:30 p.m. for reportedly going through a stop sign, failed to give his right name, officers said.

While being booked for failure to give satisfactory evidence of his identity, he was searched and what appeared to be marijuana was found in his possession, police said.

He was held in lieu of $2,500 to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Japan To Honor Heroic General

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan will bestow one of its highest decorations on the general who led the bitter defense of Attu island in the Aleutians against attacking American forces in World War II.

A spokesman for Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said today Lt. Gen. Yasuo Yamazaki will be awarded posthumously the second class Order of the Rising Sun.

Yamazaki became a World War II hero in Japan by ordering his soldiers to fight to the last man against an American amphibious invasion of the island in May, 1943.

Yamazaki and 2,630 of his soldiers were killed by Americans, who eventually overran the island in a series of battles fought in blinding snowstorms.

Fewer than 50 Japanese survived. All were badly wounded.

GIs Turned Off By Hope, Jessell

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)— Big entertainers like Bob Hope, Art Linkletter and George Jessel are "unacceptable" to most of the U.S. troops now overseas, according to a government official who books the acts.

"The kind of entertainment popular 20 years ago when Americans were serving in Korea fails to bring laughts and applause from soldiers turned on to pot smoking and rock music," Kenneth D. Smith, chief of the U.S. special services agency for entertainment in Europe, said.

He said Bob Hope was so concerned about a lack of response from the troops during a recent tour that he kept three writers awake all night revising jokes for the next show.

Sentimental, patriotic material does not appeal to GI's between the ages of 18 and 25, Smith said.

County Pay Inequities Demand Searching Study

Inequities in pay of Marin County employees that came to light this year deserve searching study.

We commented on the inequities in this column Aug. 20. The county supervisors, urged in June by a wide representation of citizens to hold the line on spending, voted not to give pay raises to managerial employees, but they allowed 5 to 6 per cent increases for non-managerial employees, who were represented by unions or associations. Then they received a blistering letter from the bypassed "management," pointing out that some "non-management" employees got raises although they were already receiving much higher pay than some "management" employees. The result was that the board backed down, gave the bypassed group a 5 per cent raise — and "hold the line" turned, as it so often does, into "give a little."

Supervisor Louis H. Baar objected to applying percentage raise regardless of the pay scale, which means less dollars for the lower paid. He voted with his fellow supervisors only on the understanding that a study would be made of how management salary hikes are handled in private industry.

THAT, WE'RE AFRAID, won't get at either of two very important problems involved.

The study presumably will be made by the county administrator and his staff, who were among those bypassed in the June action and given 5 per cent pay hikes in August. What it will disclose, if it is at all thorough, is that there is no pattern to the handling of such raises in private industry. There is no pattern because, in private industry, the productivity of the worker and the company's profit situation are prime considerations. Neither of these applies in public employment.

THE TWO IMPORTANT problems, as far as the county government is concerned, are (1) the obvious inequity when some department heads and others in managerial jobs are paid less than those who work under them, and (2) the implications of union organization for collective bargaining by all public employees, from the top down.

The first thing that is needed is a thorough review of the salary structure of all county departments. A study by someone from outside the county's own employees would seem in order. Fortunately, right now there are highly qualified men available for just such work, who have been squeezed temporarily out of executive positions through mergers and business setbacks.

The second thing needed is a review by the legislature of the law that permits collective bargaining by public employees. The rationale that the same employer-employee relations techniques used in private industry apply to civil service employees, with their much greater job security, may be a false rationale. This summer we have seen police and firemen in several cities strike or threaten to strike in union-employer pay disputes. And Marin County's managerial rank employees, headed by the county administrator himself, plainly threatened to organize their own union if not granted the 5 per cent increases.

These are not items that should be put on the back burner or forgotten. They need attention.

Drug Problems Rising In U.S. Armed Services

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Unpublished Pentagon statistics show that the Army's drug offense rate has been nearly doubled in one year's time.

Totals are maintained, on a worldwide basis, of the number investigated for suspected drug violations. That rate was 10.79 per thousand in 1969 — up from 5.51 per thousand in the 1968 calendar year.

Most of the Army narcotics offenses, about 84 per cent of them, involve marijuana. The so-called "hard" narcotics — heroin, cocaine and the like — pose much less of a problem for Army commanders.

It is, howerver, an unsettling fact that the offense rate for those hard narcotics more than doubled in the same year — from .29 of one per thousand in 1969 to .69 of one last year.

THE RISING drug problem is more and more a chore for Army investigators. In 1968, slightly over 27 per cent of the Army's criminal investigations involved narcotics. In 1969 the percentage was slightly over 37 per cent.

The army is using much the same combination of preventive education and remedial medical treatment as civil authorities use to combat its drug problem. All men entering the Army get drug abuse orientation. Periodic refresher courses are given, and all individuals assigned overseas get a special course before departure, keyed to the area for which they are headed.

In addition, top Army chaplains around the world have been asked to hold workshops aimed at better equipping chaplains to help drug users.

THE OTHER armed services have a similar narcotics problem. Air Force statistics, prepared on a somewhat different basis, tell a somewhat similar story.

The number of Air Force drug abuse investigations was 1,500 in 1967. The total jumped to 3,166 in 1968, and to 3,810 in 1969. That suggests a big jump in Air Force drug traffic — or in official interest in it — during the 1967-68 calendar years.

Maj. Gen. Edward A. McGough III, director of personnel planning for the Air Force, recently told a congressional committee that, as far as Air Force drug problems are concerned, "in virtually all instances, the drug abused was marijuana."

The Air Force, according to McGough, is stepping up a program of specialized training for investigators who deal with narcotics cases and has developed its own narcotics detection equipment.

Like the Army, the Air Force stresses education programs on the dangers of drug abuse. New regulations now require an annual briefing on narcotics for all Air Force personnel.

WITHOUT presenting statistics, Vice Adm. Charles K. Duncan, chief of naval personnel, told the same committee that the drug abuse trend "continues upward in the Navy as in civilian life."

"Although Navy recruiters are not permitted to sign up applicants who have been involved in drug abuse, young men detected for in-service drug abuse frequently have had pre-service experience," Duncan reported.

Like the other services, the Navy finds that marijuana is the drug involved in most of its abuse cases. However, LSD is the drug involved in most of the Navy cases which result in administrative discharges.

REGULATIONS require discharge of Navy men who have used LSD. The Navy is trying to work with those who are involved in offenses connected with marijuana, the barbiturates and the amphetamines and who state their intention to kick their drug involvement.

In that connection, the Navy is reporting what Duncan describes as a "considerable rehabilitation record." According to the admiral, about 2,000 Navy men, who have quit drugs during the early stages of drug use, have been returned to duty in the rehabilitation program. About 97 per cent have avoided further drug involvement so far.

That is just about the only good word to be heard about the drug problem in the services.

In the latest Navy wrinkle, a Navy "operations drug abuse team," headed by a captain and including a psychiatrist, a senior chaplain, an experienced drug investigator, and a legal officer, has been visiting major naval commands to work with local officials on local anti-narcotics programs.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

PETERZELL

The Association of Bay Area Governments, long suffering under one of officialdom's least inspiring acronyms, now has an additional burden — the enmity of the chairman of the Assembly committee that handles most legislation affecting local governments.

While this is not quite tantamount to a convict kicking the warden in the shins, it cannot do ABAG any good. Ecpecially since the chairman of the local government committee, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, has vowed to push again next session for regional government in the Bay Area.

Knox favors a regional government run entirely by directly elected officials, but previously was willing to compromise with ABAG by providing that half be city councilmen and county supervisors.

Knox's new enmity for ABAG virtually guarantees he will strike this compromise from his 1971 legislation, leaving ABAG out in the cold.

THE CAUSE of his enmity was ABAG's plan to take control of the new Metropolitan Transportation Commission by using a Knox bill creating regional environmental councils throughout the state. Interlocking provisions in two bills could have allowed ABAG to take over MTC. ABAG wanted to do transportation planning itself.

ABAG's plan to use the Knox bill to take over MTC came to light only in the closing hours of the Legislature, and Knox immediately killed his bill in order to save MTC. He also issued an angry press statement accusing ABAG of a "behind-the-scenes game of power politics" to subvert his bill.

To be fair, while ABAG stood to benefit from passage of the Knox bill, the association was not a direct party to the writing of either his bill or the MTC measure by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco. Actually, the key language in the Foran bill creating MTC was a defensive measure against the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and not designed to aid ABAG.

It said MTC shall merge gional government organization, if it has transportation planning responsibilities." This provision was written by the League of California Cities, to preclude merger with BCDC, since the later has no transportation function.

THE REGIONAL environmental councils in the Knox bill would have had transportation planning responsibilities, and ABAG would have been designated as the regional council in the Bay Area. This would have opened the way for it to take over MTC.

Knox learned about ABAG's plan to use his bill from a newspaper reporter who was told about it by an ABAG official. The official spelled out the scheme after being needled by the reporter about ABAG's unsuccessful opposition to Foran's measure creating MTC.

It's a complicated alphabet soup game, but a game with high stakes from the point of view of parochial local officials fond of their powers. They don't really seem to mind that their powers are too weak to deal with regional problems, and that's the pity of the whole silly affair.

THE DRUMMONDS

Crying Need For Court Reforms Recognized By U.S. Chief Justice

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — There is a simple way to sharply reduce crime: Enable the courts to try criminal cases within 60 days of indictment.

Our system of justice virtually does not deter the crime which troubles most Americans.

These are not the views of some radical theorist: They are the views of one of the most credible critics of our courts as they function today, U.S. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

The chief justice gives timely backing to the judgment of the law enforcement experts that it is not primarily the severity of punishment which deters the criminal but the likelihood of arrest and speed of trial.

BURGER'S ADVOCACY of sweeping court changes — trained administrators, updated procedures, more judges — should do much to mobilize needed public support by showing so vividly that, among other benefits, judicial reform is directly related to the reduction of crime.

Failure to make these reforms cripples our courts, Burger recently told the American Bar Association, and could dangerosuly erode faith that our system of law can fulfill its primary function to protect people at home, at work and on the street.

Administration of justice has too often become administration of injustice.

The judicial system — from prevention to correction — is near the point of calamitous breakdown unless something adequate is done about it soon.

The courts today are overburdened, understaffed, badly managed and riddled by outdated procedures, rules and methods. Reason: long, pervasive neglect by judges, by the bar association and by Congress.

FORTUNATELY, Chief Justice Burger is showing himself willing to devote and expend his prestige in the cause of imperative judicial reforms.

The response to his nationally televised address is encouraging. He received 1,500 letters from a varied cross-section of the public in a week, and their nearly unanimous theme was: "Keep it up." The speech was well covered. More than 300 editorials appeared and most of them backed the Burger proposal.

There is no doubt that major court reforms are in the making. The question is whether they will come in time to avert the worst — a disastrous breakdown in the administrtion of justice.

EVERY KIND of judicial reform is long overdue. In 30 years, petitions from state prisoners seeking federal habeas corpus relief increased from 89 to 12,000 yearly, personal injury cases went up 500 per cent, the number of judges increased only 70 per cent.

Automobiles were a rarity when 64 years ago Dean Roscoe Paul Pound of Harvard Law School warned that the United States was trying to administer 20th century justice with the methods and machinery of the 19th century. Now automobiles are the largest single category of civil cases in the courts which remain unreformed, unmodern and nearly unworkable.

In the fields of pollution, consumer protection and civil rights, Congress passes new laws which require massive enforcement and neglects doing anything to enable the courts to take on these additional burdens.

Congress rightly votes $58 million to provide free legal services for the poor — almost half of what it costs to run the federal courts — but does nothing to equip the courts to deal with the increased case load.

WE NEED to get things in perspective. Businesses spend more than $2 billion a year in private security, and Congress puts only $128 million into running the whole federal judicial system.

For too long, judges and bar association leaders have been timid in telling Congress and the public what is needed to bring the courts into the second half of the 20th century and to enable them to dispense justice instead of frustration.

Now everything must be done at once.

It is all to the good that the chief justice is not proving timid.

His voice needs to be heard —and heeded.

Air Cushions— Why Not Rails?

(Reprinted from Vallejo Times-Herald)

Ground transportation is coming in for considerable attention — and expenditure —at a number of points and, as has become customary, with a world-of-the-future look about it.

Los Angeles and the U.S. Department of Transportation, for example, are going to be partners in constructing the country's first air-cushioned line, running 19 miles from Los Angeles International Airport to the San Fernando Valley. Vehicles will zoom along on a thin layer of ejected air on an elevated guideway-track. Estimated cost of construction for his people-mover system, the in term for far-out mass transit schemes, is $50 million, with service hopefully to begin in late 1972.

The Transportation Department is also seeding, with a $3 million grant, development of another air-cushion project by a Long Island firm. And there are other comparable experiments scattered about the country.

Fine, but one wonders what might be the result if similar funds and interest were devoted to restoring a people-moving system which once functioned splendidly —called trains.

It has been pointed out that updating existing roadbeds is no easy or inexpensive proposition. A recently cited example put the cost at more than $1.3 billion to condition one Washington-to-Boston line to handle 100 m.p.h. service with the new high-speed Metroliners now being tried out.

To be sure, a lot of money. At something like 400 miles for the distance, it works out to something like $300,000 per mile. Los Angeles' air cushions are costing $2.5 million per mile.

Uncalled-For Slur In Political Report

A particular example of shabby newspaper "reporting" was displayed in the "I-J Special Report" of Aug. 24 concerning Irvin H. Sutley Jr. and the Peace and Freedom Party.

Before any comments can be given any credence I must make it eminently clear that I have no particular political polarization regarding this party and that I do not know, or have any special interest in, Mr. Sutley.

Now, to the subject. Mr. Sutley was accused and convicted and paid society in the form of a 90-day sentence for possession of marijuana. In the light of being elected state chairman of the P.F. party, this is, no doubt, proper to report. That Mr. Sutley is an ex-Marine is also proper to note. But that he was charged with a felony for which he has apparently been found not guilty, i.e. sale of marijuana, is certainly most improper to report.

I resent deliberate slurs and implications of complicity or guilt when the courts have not found such accusations are valid or proven . . . tomorrow it could be me who is wrongfully accused and re-tried by the I.J. By the mere mention of a wrongful accusation. Or it could be you . . .

MURIEL J. ASBURY
Mill Valley.

(The story should have made clear that Sutley was charged with sale of marijuana but the charge was reduced to possession, or else should not have mentioned the original charge. — Editor.)

Writer's Advice Not Based On Fact

Eastern news analysis have long felt frustrated by the failure of westerners to follow their advice in the election of state and federal officials. After making quick trips to the west coast before elections, dashing off a column or two critical of those local candidates who don't appeal to their ideological bent, these pundits rush back to civilization in New York or Washington convinced that they have brought enlightenment to the natives.

Marquis Childs, a recent example, begins his harangues (Independent-Journal Aug. 13 and 15) with the standard disparagement of Senator (George) Murphy as "the song-and-dance man" and of Governor (Ronald) Reagan as "a movie and television performer" — as if prominent men in California's entertainment industry were somehow inferior to professional politicians like "Big Daddy" Unruh. (Would it be equally inappropriate for Wyoming to elect a rancher?)

Our journalistic missionary condemns Senator Murphy for allegedly concealing the fact that he has remained on the payroll of Technicolor Corp., his employer before entering politics . . . . It is not uncommon for lawyer-politicians to continue to receive stipends from their law firms without being censored.

After repeating the fiction that voters elected Governor Reagan solely as a reaction to student unrest, Childs criticizes him for failing to carry out his campaign promises . . . The governor has . . . managed to keep a remarkably tight lid on expenditures and taxes. The budget submitted for fiscal 1970-1971 was down .6 of one per cent from estimated expenditures for this fiscal year and was lower than that of the less populous New York. . . . The governor . . . has increased expenditures for higher education, and has exerted his influence as a (University of California) regent as much as possible to clean up the mess — a mess which Childs acknowledges is complicated by local conditions beyond state control.

Militants Defeat Avowed Aims, Drive Nation Toward Police State

The use of guns and bomb threats to extort social reform and individual freedom is self defeating.

Violence and intimidation, used as a tool for social reform, force every citizen to an extreme. The moderates, who at one time actively supported minorities or looked with sympathy on their causes, are forced to choose up sides.

When the alternatives are to (1) go along with militants who would impose their will at gunpoint or (2) stick with duly constituted agencies empowered by the public to maintain law and order, there is no question which way the moderates will turn.

MILITANTS are thus forcing the heretofore tolerant citizens and the uncommitted to rely more than ever on law enforcement agencies. There's no other choice. The more violent the militants get, the closer to a police state we will become, because individuals will become more willing to forego personal liberties and give law enforcement a freer hand in dealing with violence.

When the polarization is complete and the choice boils down to anarchy or a police state, the big majority will choose the later.

Fears expressed in April of 1969 have been reinforced by subsequent events:

"The vast majority of Americans, who recognize the legitimate gripes of minority groups and are working to correct past errors, will lose enthusiasm. That enthusiasm can turn to distrust, fear and even hatred. The turning of the tide is already evident. We hope it's not too late."

GROWING VIOLENCE also has political repercussions.

If Wilson Riles had any chance at all against incumbent Max Rafferty in the November race for state superintendent of education, his chances are now probably gone.

Actions of black revolutionaries should have no relevancy in the race for the state office, but elections aren't necessarily decided on relevant issues.

DESPITE the growing lawlessness, the big majority continue to be law-abiding and conscientious.

One woman telephoned County Auditor-Controller Mike Mitchell the other day, quite concerned about a $14.95 bill she got for emergency ambulance service she received in Marin several months ago. She was calling from Missouri and spent more than 10 minutes explaining how she had contacted her insurance company and how the bill had been paid.

The auditor estimated that the phone call itself must have cost her another $14.95.

Headline Wrong

A headline on page one of Friday's Independent-Journal was in error regarding Senate action on President Nixon's proposed defense budget. The upper chamber did not impose a $66 billion spending ceiling as the headline said.

Woman Suffers Crash Injuries

A Greenbrae woman suffered back injuries Friday in an auto accident at the intersection of Third and Irwin streets in San Rafael, police reported.

Irene C. Kiger, 56, of 22 Bretano Way, was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for a bruised and strained back.

Police said her auto collided with a car driven by Kathryn A. Starkey, 31, of 246 Morning Sun Avenue, Mill Valley, at 2:07 p.m.

No details of the accident were available.

After 43 years in the United States, Panaggos had mastered two words of the English language: hello, goodby and a grunt. The grunt was extra. It was a touch of genius. He got along beautifully with it.

Close to the turn of the century he had come, along with the others, to this country to rake in the awaiting fortunes in this golden land of golden opportunity and golden riches. They were all going to become Americans and millionaires. Best of all, they would all become American millionaires. It was one thing to become an American and another to become a millionaire but to become an American millionaire was the best of all.

SOME FOUND their hopes quickly smothered by the routine, soul-squelching existence in the smoke-belching textile factories. There, their songs died, their hopes turned to charred embers. That's the way it was for some, but not for Panaggos. His spirit never flagged, his sense of humor never failed. It was hard to tell whether his sense of humor was because of his spirit or whether his spirit was due to his sense of humor. For 43 years he worked at the same mill and at the very same loom. I would not have been surpirsed had I been told his name had been embossed in the black steel of that loom long before he had even been born.

He managed to save enough money to buy a small apartment building that had a large basement. He promptly converted the basement into a wine cellar. The dirty gray concrete walls he painted a spotless white and along these walls he lined the great oaken casks, belly to belly. In the center he put a long and narrow table and in the middle of the table there was a plain clear glass pitcher and around it an assortment of glasses, always clean, always ready.

THEN ONE DAY love came to Panaggos.

Cecilia was her name and she appeared to be about the same age as he, a salt and pepper gray, comely and well-formed widow. Ordinarily this wouldn't have been of any particular interest. After all he was a man and she a woman and everything naturally fell into place, except she was French and he was Greek and neither spoke a common language.

Every afternoon she came to meet him at the factory and they walked home together, to the apartment house, and went directly to the cellar. She would put olives, fetta cheese, some sliced cucumbers and tomatoes, a loaf of French bread on the table while Panaggos filled the pitcher from one of the casks. They laughed and giggled together as if they had a private secret they were keeping from the rest of the world.

Theirs was a beautiful union.

THAT WAS MANY years ago. The last I heard of them, Panaggos had retired and he and his Cecilia were taking care of their apartment house and enjoy their wine cellar.

As far as I know, their communication was practically nil. But gap there was none. I think of them often, particularly when I hear it said so frequently that many of our problems could be solved if only we didn't have a "communication gap."

Communication can be minimal as long as there's a common ground and something on the table; have no common ground and all the ocmmunication possible and you end up arguing over the shape of the table.

Petaluma To Hear Re-Zoning Request

A request to permit a 100-unit apartment building will be considered at the Petaluma Planning Commission meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

C & S Enterprises of San Rafael is seeking rezoning of 833 Petaluma Boulevard north from service commercial to multi-family. Nineteen apartment buildings are planned with five acres set aside as a "mini park."

Equality Measure In Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee equal rights for women has drawn more opposition than expected and is now in very serious trouble in the Senate, according to one of its chief sponsors.

The amendment, which would declare men and women equal under the law, was approved overwhelmingly by the House recently and is before the Senate Judiciary Committee. With 80 senators co-sponsoring the measure, it had appeared the Senate would give its approvol this fall.

But Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the amendment's chief backer in the Senate, told UPI Thursday a new survey has cast doubt on the measure's future. He said women's liberation representatives asked each senator last Wednesday to indicate how he or she stood on the amendment.

Bayh said only 32 ballots were returned, 31 in favor and one in opposition. The other 68 senators made no reply, he said.

"I AM SURPRISED that there were no more votes for it in light of the fact that there are so many sponsors," Bayh said. "Of course, this was only a symbolic vote. But I can tell you all senators are under tremendous pressure, and if a senator was going to support the amendment, I think he would have said so."

He said the amendment "is now in very serious trouble. There is significantly more opposition to it than there was. I am alarmed, because I think it should pass."

The proposal languished in Congress since 1923, but Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., helped by the growing national debate on women's rights, managed to force the measure onto the House floor for a vote and approval. Critics of the amendment have contended its language could be interpreted as making women eligible for the draft or making them ineligible for other present benefits.

ABOUT SUCH charges Martha Griffiths said, "Special restriction on property rights of married women would be unconstitutional; married women could engage in business as freely as a member of the male sex; inheritance rights of widows would be the same as widowers. Women would be equally subject to jury service and to military service, but women would not be required to serve — in the Armed Forces — where they are not fitted any more than men are required to serve.

"The real effect before this amendment is finally passed would probably be to permit both sexes to volunteer on an equal basis, which is not now the case.

"Where the law confers a benefit, privilege or obligation of citizenship such would be extended to other sex . . . social security ond other social benefits . . . children would be entitled to support from both parents under existing laws of most states.

Child support laws would be affected only if they discriminate on the basis of sex. The amendment would not prohibit the requiring of one parent to provide financial support for children who are in the custody of the other."

Bayh chairs a constitutional rights subcommittee which approved the proposal and sent it to the Judiciary. That committee plans another round of hearings on the matter Sept. 19, despite Bayh's contention no more hearings were needed.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., has said he wants more discussion of the proposal to hear from constitutional experts how such an amendment would affect the draft status of women, their property rights and their rights as wives and mothers.

Bayh also said the militant activity of some women supporting the amendment was not helping its cause. He declined to go into specifics.

If the amendment proposal draws the two-thirds vote of the Senate needed, it would still have to be approved by three-fourths of the states before it would become law.

New Dental Assisting Course At College

Change in job technology which has resulted in the need for retaining and upgrading skills learned a few years ago is one reason College of Marin has scheduled a number of courses in the Communityy Education, non-credit evening school department.

For the first time this fall a 66-week course in certified dental assisting will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The course will provide training for dental assistants who are already employed and wish to upgrade their technical skill and appreciation of the health field and to prepare them for eligibility for the American Dental Assistants' Association certification examination. Intensive study and regular attendance is required. Mrs. Hazel Torres, director of the college's dental assisting program, is the instructor.

AND FOR THE inactive registered nurse, a 12-week comprehensive review course in registered nurse refresher is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Current trends in nursing practice will be presented through lecture, demonstrations, field trips and group seminars. One-half of the course will prepare the inactive R.M. to resume her role as a professional in the medical health team.

The principles of two-way communication in everyday living, to be offered at Red Hill School in San Anselmo Tuesdays from 7:30 to 10 p.m., will concentrate on speech skills and improving listening habits for better communication with family, in committee work and on the job. Lothar Salin is the instructor.

Women's Clubs And The Amendment

If the proposed 23rd amendment to the Constitution of the United States passes it will be without the help of the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and the Business and Professional Women (BPW) of Marin County.

Although presidents of these women's organizations said it was part of the national policies of their respective organizations to support equal rights for women all said it had not been made national policy to support the amendment which says: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

The amendment was approved by the House of Representatives Aug. 10 at a time when the organizations were not meeting and none of the presidents knew if the amendment would be discussed in fall meetings.

Mrs. Raymond Kaufman, president of the Marin Branch of AAUW said the status of women "is one of the things we watchdog," but she said she was "unfamiliar with this particular piece of legislation."

Angela Dismuke, president of the central Marin chapter of BPW said her group hadn't met during the summer and she did not know what they would work on this fall.

The Southern and Central Marin Leagues of Women Voters study topics are decided upon by a national convention. Mrs. John Ahern of San Francisco, a member of the League's national board said, "The League is concerned with equality for all people and we didn't feel we should support the amendment. The delegates did not choose to adopt it as a study topic."

Best man was Thomas Miller of Riverside, twin brother of the bridegroom. Serving as ushers were Ray Romelli of Valley Ford, Harvey Linville, Ted Ulberg and Ralph Kostka, all of Santa Rosa.

THE COLBALT treatment room at Marin General Hospital has been made cheerful through the efforts of Dr. George A. Jack and Mrs. Perry Harris. 'IT NEEDED SOMETHING'

Photographs In Radiotherapy Section

By JOAN LISETOR

Beyond the x-ray department ot Marin General Hospital is the radio-therapy section — a rather cheerful place.

Before Dr. George A. Jack came to head the department last year it was a dreary, depressing place. The nurses who work for him and the patients receiving cobalt treatment brought plants and flowers to try to perk up the waiting room, offices and treatment room, and that helped a little.

Then in July of 1969 Mrs. Perry Harris began taking cobalt treatment, and the little bit of perking up was not enough for her.

SHE HAD some Audubon prints framed, and they were hung in the treatment room. Then the walls were painted a cheerful blue — better than the original color Jane Harris describes as pea soup yellow.

The stark waiting room was the next target. It needed a planter box, decided Mrs. Harris. So she and other friends of Mrs. Stanley Eager donated that. Mrs. Eager died in January after a 14-year-battle with cancer, and Mrs. Harris has established the Pat Eager Radiotherapy Fund in her honor.

"The Audubon prints were all right because we had to have something," says Mrs. Harris, "but the cobalt treatment room needed more."

Dr. Jack and Mrs. Harris decided on photographic murals.

"The four minutes or so when you are in the treatment room seems like an eternity because you have to lie perfectly quiet," explains Mrs. Harris. "You have to have something to concentrate on."

A NURSE in the department recalls a patient who had to consult a psychiatrist because she couldn't bear the quiet while under treatment. The psychiatrist suggested a radio, which satisfied her ears, but her eyes still needed something on which to concentrate.

Looking for the right photographs, Mrs. Harris contacted a photographer famous for his California scenes.

"I wrote to him several times, and while I was waiting to hear I saw just what I wanted in a bank in San Francisco," Mrs. Harris says.

She found out that the photographs were created by Gabriel Moulin, whose commercial studio is located next door to her husband's yachting outfitters company in San Francisco.

Mrs. Harris and Dr. Jacks selected seven photographs. The Audubon prints were moved to another treatment room, and Mrs. Moulin's were hung so patients are now viewing Cypress Point in Monterey, the Golden Gate and San Francisco Bay Bridges and other California scenes.

The photographs were purchased through the Jane Harris Radiotherapy Fund. Contributions to that fund, the Pat Eager fund and the Stuart Good Linear Accelerator Fund will be used to purchase equipment now that the aesthetic needs of the department have been taken care of.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He Hopes His Brothers Will Help Him Howl For Liberation

DEAR HELEN:

Maybe some of those women can answer me this:

If men are so liberated and women so repressed, how come the girls can wear men's clothing — jeans bought off the boys' rack, shirts belonging to husband, brother or boyfriend, pullover from the men's department, anything and everything except their undershorts — and this is stylish. But if a man dares put on a dress, it's fetish time! Men and women alike shun him and the psychiatrists collect.

Also, a dame can get boozed up and do a strip in a night club bringing only laughs from the customers. But let a man try it and right away he's a sex maniac. He ends up in the pokey or the nut hatch.

One of those females can proposition a guy at a bar and who cares, but let a man approach a woman with the same thing in mind, and she screams for a cop — even though she hasn't got anything to lose.

If these little ladies got all the equality they wanted, how long would it take them to squawk when men became airline stewards, stenographers, and nurses in great number? And think of jockey or athletic clubs getting picketed because they didn't provide ladies' rooms! If they took over traditional men's jobs, they'd soon demand special treatment.

When the women consent to fight our wars for us, start picking up the checks, and don't feel affronted when they are sued for alimony, I'll vote for equality — but first I hope my brothers will join me in howling for men's liberation too. — UNFAIR

DEAR UNFAIR:

Nope, 'taint fair. What is "liberation" for the gals is sometimes termed "libertinism" in men. You guys might organize a resistance group. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Scared to Death" speaking. I want to tell you that name doesn't apply any more. Thank you for answering my letter, and not cracking wise as others might have done.

I am the man who said he males and still liked to put on was raised in a family of fewomen's clothes. I feared this would ruin my coming marriage, though I am definitely not homosexual.

Soon after writing to you I felt a sense of relief, so just before our scheduled marriage, I told my fiancee the truth. Instead of being shocked, she said, "I've been wondering when you'd tell me." As I was stammering, she said she understood, and asked me to model my ladies' wear, including a dress.

We have been married for a month, and I often relax at home at night in what might be called "womanish attire," which is an extremely comfortable toga-like robe. Now that I no longer have to feel ashamed, I find dressing this way is less important. It probably was a fetish, but my wife is making me see that I'm all male, and the man of the family even if sometimes neither of us wears the pants. Somehow, her sympathetic teasing and her ability to understand makes me — NO LONGER SCARED TO DEATH

DEAR NLSTD:

Nor should you be. Consider the Romans, the Athenians, the Scots. It isn't what you wear but why you wear it, right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

An old, old saying seems especially approprite now with pollution, and other pesty problems bothering us: "If you aren't a part of the solution, you're a part of the problem." — CONCERNED

DEAR CON:

That slogan has been pinned to my bulletin board for going on three years. Every time I get a particularly tough question, I feel like ripping it down. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Novato 4-H Girls Return From Hawaii And Sewing Contests

Many Novato girls have been busy in 4-H work this past week.

Shirley Bomio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bomio represented Marin County at the 4-H dress revue held at the 4-H Leadership Conference at the University of California at Davis last week.

She will now compete with 11 other 4-H girls in the state in record book competition, and the winner will go to the national 4-H Congress in Chicago in November.

A graduate of Novato High School and a student at College of Marin, she is in her ninth and final year as a member of the Novato Olompali 4-H Club.

Joanne Skowronek and Lisa Wilburn, members of the Novato 4-H Aggies, won special gold bar medal awards for competition in the clothing division at Davis.

Returning from Hawaii after attending a leadership conference at the University of Hawaii and being entertained by the Hawaiian 4-H girls, are five Marin County girls, who raved about their reception there.

Attending the conference were Peggy Cummings, Miwok 4-H Club, Susan Dimmick, Novato Stars; Emily Eckhoff, Novato Olompali, Jean Thomas, Novato Valley; and Debbie Woods, Novato Jets.

The girls all stayed in the dormitory at the university and each girl had an Hawaiian girl as a roomate. Their chaperone was Miss Beverly Mager of San Rafael.

They were met at the airport in Hawaii by James Shigeta who is in charge of the 4-H Foundation in Hawaii. The theme of the conference was "Talk, See and Do." They toured different places of communications such as the International Business Machines Co., the telephone company and civil defense facility.

"I loved it, I want to go back, the people were really nice," was the response of the girls on their week's stay.

Debbie, Susan and Emily will be juniors in high school this fall, Jean Thomas will be a senior, and Peggy Cummings was graduated from high school in June.

Dance Studios Used Emotional Pressure To Sell Their Lessons

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — A recent ruling by a Federal Trade Commission examiner against four dance studios in the Washington area illustrates the tricky steps that such businesses take with some trusting consumers.

The examiner concluded that the studios had romanced prospective students with fake contests and dance-analysis tests, plus what he called "intense, emotional, and unrelenting sales pressure." The aim was to sell long-term contracts for dancing lessons.

One victim of such pressures was a 69-year-old widow who signed seven dance contracts in one year for a total cost of $17,820. "It was not hard to sign on the dotted line," she said, "because I was more or less pressured into doing it."

When she later became very ill, she got the studio to add a provision in the contract allowing that unused hours "may be willed in case of death." She said she couldn't bear to have all that money go to waste in case she died before the lessons were completed.

Another witness was a divorcee who signed up for $7,000 in instructions. "I tried to say no and get out of it," she told the FTC, "and I got very, very upset because I got frightened at paying out all that money and having nothing to fall back on. I remember I started crying and couldn't stop crying. All I thought of was getting out of there." When she could not raise the total sum, the studio reduced the contract to 250 hours for $4,300, at a rate of more than $17 per hour.

Many victims of such tactics are widows and divorcees who want companionship more than instruction. Their finances are often determined in advance by the studios, according to another witness who formerly conducted interviews for one of the studios cited by the FTC.

He described how the so-called "approval test" was built up to a peak of importance. As a result, he said, some likened the test to an appearance before a judge and jury.

"At this high emotional state," he said, "the student was persuaded to purchase dance instruction. The amount of the contract would depend on the finances of the student, which were ascertained (earlier). The aim of the studio was to sell the student the largest possible program."

The FTC examiner found that advertised contests purporting to offer gift certificates, free lessons and reduced rates were not bona fide, but instead were "lures to get prospects into the studio where they are subject to sales talks to buy further lessons or sign long-term contracts."

The FTC examiner ordered the Washington-area studios not to offer any contracts for more than $1,500, or to tell prospective students that upon completing the course they would achieve a specified standard of proficiency.

One clue to the degree of pressure involved is the "cooling-off period" which the FTC suggested, during which a contract may be canceled without obligation. The usual period of time allowed for contract cancellations in other businesses is three days — that is the cooling-off period given by some firms selling products from house to house, for instance.

For contracts made cheek to cheek, the FTC recommends a cooling-off period of seven days.

That puts dance instructors in a class by themselves when it comes to emotional selling.

Mrs. Virginia Collbran Is Chief Of UBAC Fund Raising

Mrs. Virginia B. Collbran of Belvedere, who has trod both sides of the road in United Bay Area Crusade functions, — allocating contributions to agencies and the spending of those allocations by agencies — is now serving as the county's key fund-raising leader.

Ginny Collbran heads the UBAC Women's Division for the 1970 campaign and, backed by some 500 other volunteers, will contact contributions throughout the county in the once-a-year appeal.

The 1970 campaign, kicking off Sept. 23 with the Marin workers' luncheon at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, seeks $16,850,000 for support of health, welfare and youth organizations in the five Bay Area counties.

With first-hand knowledge of the money needs of voluntary service organizations, Mrs. Collbran is enlisting virtually her entire campaign force from women who also work the year around in crusade and crusade agencies.

Her own record of crusade-affiliated work began when the family moved to Marin from her native Maine in 1946. She volunteered as an American Red Cross Grey Lady at Letterman and Mare Island hospitals and served on the board of the Marin Chapter of Red Cross.

As her daughter, Cindy, and son, James, reached the joining ages, Mrs. Collbran "went through the ranks" in Boy and Girl Scouting, from Den mother and Brownie leader to volunteer executive posts in Marin Councils and later the Bay Area Council of Girl Scouts.

She has supported and led Crusade-supported health and welfare services. She was the first president, in 1961, of Marin Circle of Florence Crittenton Home, which is the Crusade-backed non-sectarian home for unwed mothers in San Francisco, serving all other Bay Area counties, and has been a member of the board and committee chairman at Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo.

MRS. VIRGINIA COLLBRAN

With this varied background of spreading United Crusade allocations to meet expenses within agencies, Mrs. Collbran accepted a volunteer job on the other side of the coin—determining the allocations to agencies from campaign contributions.

For the past five years, she has served with Baywide budget panels, made up of 250 men and women who annually visit agencies and review agency programs and operating costs and who have the final say on where the money goes.

Vows Said By Couple

Sandra Lee Whitehead became the bride of Sheldon S. Frisella in a Saturday ceremony at the Episcopal Church of St. Francis in Novato.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her twin sister, Mrs. Douglas G. Alexander Jr. of Corte Madera. Other attendants were the bride's sister, Joanne Whitehead of Novato, Mrs. Donald Johnson of Menlo Park, the bridegroom's sister, and Gail Rogers of Novato.

Frank Frisella Jr. of San Carlos served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Charles Whitehead III of Novato, brother of Sandra; Douglas G. Alexander Jr. of Corte Madera, and William Mann of San Carlos.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Charles F. Whitehead of Novato and the late Captain Whitehead (USMC), was given in marriage by her grandfather, Charles F. Whitehead of Corte Madera.

After the wedding a reception was given at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club.

Following their wedding trip to Yosemite and Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds will live in Redwood City.

DOMINICAN CONCERT — San Francisco Symphony musicians, from left, David Smiley, Anne Adams and Lloyd Gowen will perform Tuesday for the first time as a trio.

Trio Will Open Fall Concerts

Three musicians from the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra will open the fall concert season at Dominican College of San Rafael with their first public performance as a trio at 8 p.m. on Sept. 8 in Angelico Hall.

The recital by David Smiley, violist, with Anne Adams, harpist, and Lloyd Gowen, flutist, will feature the Duet for Viola and Harp, completed in 1965 by David Sheinfeld, San Francisco Symphony violinist.

Also performed will be Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach's Trio in A Minor, No. 2; Hindemith's Sonata for Viola Alone, Opus 25. No. 1; and Debussy's Sonata for Flute, Viola and Harp.

Smiley is a member of the Dominican College faculty, where he teaches viola and violin. He is starting his tenth year with the San Francisco Symphony and Opera orchestras and has played with the Bloch and Golden Gate String Quartets. He holds a master of music degree from the University of Southern California. The viola he will play was made by Sanino in 1878.

Miss Adams was a scholarship student at the Julliard School of Music in New York under the French harpist Marcel Grandjany. She is principal harpist for the San Francisco Symphony and Opera Orchestras and teaches privately and at Mills College.

Gowen is principal flutist with the San Francisco Symphony and teaches at Stanford, San Francisco Conservatory and Mills College. He studied with William Kincaid at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia. He will play a solid gold flute that was made for him.

The concert will mark the first public performance in Marin by Smiley, who lives in Mill Valley.

Road To Unleaded Gasoline May Be Fraught With Health Danger

DETROIT (UPI)—The rush to change from leaded to unleaded gasoline as fuel for automobiles may be fraught with dangers both to health and pocketbooks.

There is evidence that the use of lead-free gasolines in existing engines of cars not only can damage them but also can cause emissions that are more harmful to health than at present.

The auto companies probably can solve both problems but these engines are in the future. Present engines, even the 1971 models, simply cannot cope satisfactorily with either problem.

Gasoline is composed of an incredibly complex combination of various kinds of hydrocarbons. On the light end of this molecular spectrum are what are called olefins and other aromatic hydrocarbons which, essentially, add to the power of gas and so-called octane or antiknock rating.

Lead tends to boost octane rating of gasolines without a high amount of the aromatics. But to take lead out and still retain a 91-octane rating needed for proper performance of all of today's engines except the very high compression ones, requires the addition of more aromatics.

But these are the "bad actors" in the creation of smog. It is these hydrocarbons which, in the presence of oxides of nitrogen and sunlight, are converted to the highly toxic elements in air that create smog.

There is also evidence that these olefins and other aromatics create in the atmosphere certain elements that are known to cause cancer in mice. While the amounts in air are far below the doses given mice in laboratories to cause cancer, the heavier concentrations caused by increasing these eromatics in gasolines are not healthful.

Some scientists discount any increased danger from the aromatics as a cancer-causing danger, but they are concerned that the smog-causing elements would increase.

When the engineers develop and install catalytic converters, this may be academic because the converters will be able to reduce the hydrocarbons to a minimum.

The danger here is that motorists in present cars using unleaded gas will increase rather than reduce atmospheric pollution.

And they may wreck their engines doing it, too. General Motors discovered this some time ago when engineers experimenting with catalytic converters ran engines with lead-free gas. They found that valve-seat wear after less than 12,000 miles was so bad that the engine heads had to be replaced. The second set of heads did the same after even less mileage. It not only damaged the heads but had raised the pollution emissions sharply.

Engineers can solve that, too, by putting hard-metal valve seat inserts into engine heads. But that is costly.

American Motors Corp. already has recognized the problem in introducing its 1971 engines, which will run on unleaded gas. AMC advised motorists to alternate between leaded and unleaded gas rather than switching to unleaded gas altogether.

Military Spending In U.S. Falls To Four-Year Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The impact of military spending on the nation's economy declined to the lowest point since 1966 in the second quarter of this year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Harold C. Passer, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs, predicted: "Further reductions in defense-related economic activity will be forthcoming."

The department said defense purchases of goods and services accounted for 7.9 per cent of the Gross National Product in the April-through-June quarter, down from 8.3 per cent in the first quarter. Defense purchases accounted for 9 per cent of the GNP in 1968 and for 8.5 per cent last year.

Manufacturers' new orders for defense products declined 3.3 per cent in the second quarter but shot up 76. 6 per cent in July, the first month of the third quarter.

Passer said he was unable to explain the July increase but said it might have been the result of a "timing phenomenon," either resulting from statistical aberrations in the seasonal adjustment or from an unusually large number of contracts that were held up until the last fiscal year ended June 30.

Passer said the decline in defense-related activity indcates the nation's economy is shifting from wartime to peacetime conditions.

He said the change was "taking place during a period when national economic policies have been focused on bringing inflation to a halt."

MAYBE SHE PEGGED MATE AS A CAD

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Would you believe an advertisement to sell a 1969 Cadillac in first class condition with low mileage for the sum of $50?

Nobody did for several days when a "little old lady" placed it in Boise. But finally somebody nibbled.

And, sure enough it was all true and there were no "gimmicks" to trick the buyer. Seems the "little old lady," a Boise resident who prefers to remain nameless in the incident, had a good reason for offering the car at that price.

She recently became widowed and her late husband specified in his will that the car or the proceeds from its sale were to go to his girl friend.

Fairfax Trustees To Study Transfers

Fairfax School District trustees will review their policy on inter-distrivt transfers at a meeting at 7:45 p.m. today in the district office at 58 Park Road.

The Farifax district was told at its last meeting that transfer of a Fairfax student to the Mill Valley School District would be accepted by Mill Valley only if Fairfax paid tuition for the student. Fairfax has accepted students from other districts on a no-tuition basis previously.

Creek Session Set Tomorrow

The Larkspur Planning Commission will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the city hall to review plans for the north bank of Corte Madera Creek.

"This will be an open-ended discussion on recreational development along the creek and preservation of the marsh land," said commission chairman Robert H. Lee.

Several Bay Area conservationists are expected to offer suggestions at tonight's meeting, said Lee.

Book Sale To Benefit County Free Library

Books ranging from rare to popular, 10,000 in all, will be sold Sept. 11 and 12 by the Friends of the Marin County Free Library for the benefit of the library.

The sale will be held at the Co-Op Center, 71 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with prices reportedly nominal on most books.

Collectors' items, donated by Marin residents, will be offered including presentation copies, first and limited editions, private press issues, antique and rare books.

Proceeds will be turned over to the library staff headed by County Librarian Bruce Bajema for library improvements.

One of the first needs, according to Bajema is for more books with 69,000 needed to bring the library up from its current 176,000 volumes to 245,000 set as a standard by the American Library Association.

Other needs seen by Bajema are recordings, film and filmstrip projectors, locked and lighted display cases and Marin history in all forms.

Among the large collections of children's books to be offered at the sale are several early L. Frank Baum works, including "Father Goose," a Gertrude Stein, illustrated by Clement Hurd, and volumes from the "Seven Little Sisters" series printed in 1861.

Among the collectors' items are books printed by McLoughlin Brothers and William Doxey and multi-volume sets of Kipling, Ruskin, Poe, Stevenson and De Maupassant, many of them leatherbound.

One of the more amusing books in the Americana collection is a yellowed, three-inch thick "La Creole Cook Book," which was: "Specially compiled for the Van Fleet Mansfield Drug Co., Memphis, Tenn. Sole proprietor of that wonderful preparation La Creole Hair Restorer with complete instructions on household management."

Among the advertisements throughout the book were one-liners such as: "Samson didnt' use La Creole Hair Restorer because he didn't need it — at first," and "Plantation Chill Cure contains no arsenic and will cure you."

The book also contains "medicinal recipes," such as "The worst case of smallpox can be cured in three days simply by use of cream of tartar," and bleeding lungs "can be cured by taking a teaspoonful of strong salt and water every five or six minutes."

One of the antique volumes, dated 1813, is in the form of a series of letters about a tour through Sicily and Malta, another dates, 1843, is "The Fortunes of Hector O'Halloran and his man Mark Antony O'Toole, by W.H. Maxwell and illustrated by J. Leech.

There also is a book entitled "Tenting on the Plains," by Elizabeth B. Custer, widow of Gen. George A. Custer, dated 1887. The book is dedicated "to him whose brave and blithe endurance made those who followed him forget, in his sunshiny presense, half the hardship and the danger."

Donations for the sale can be taken to Marin County branch libraries through Friday.

Group Will Eye Purchase Of Clubhouse

Members of the San Marin Recreation Club decided in a special meeting Saturday to form a membership organization and attempt to purchase the club to keep it open, interim group chairman Donald M. Van Dyke reported today.

Owner if the club, Sunset International Petroleum Corp., is undergoing bankruptcy proceedings, and the probable ultimate owner, G. and R. Associates, has said that it would close the club unless it can operate with no further expense to the company, Van Dkye said.

A 26-member committee was formal Saturday to develop the organization and a second committee of similar size to negotiate purchase of the club, Van Dyke said.

Youth Burned, Booked In Gas Siphon Attempt

An 18-year-old Terra Linda youth, who reportedly tried to siphon gasoline from a school bus while smoking a cigarette, was both burned and booked, sheriff's deputies have reported.

The gasoline ignited, resulting in a fire that caused about $1,500 damage to three buses at the Dixie School District maintenance yard Friday night.

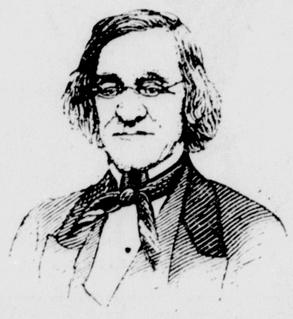

Mark Steven Hanger of 202 Orange Blossom Lane, discovered near the scene suffering burns, was arrested on suspicion of vandalism and petty theft at 11:46 p.m., deputies reported.

Released on his own recognizanve, he is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Teams Meeting In Strike Threat

Under the shadow of a possible strike or slowdown by Marin County sheriff's deputies at midnight tonight, last-minute negotiations continued this noon at the Civic Center between the county and the 210 safety employees.

Sheriff's deputies, county firemen and communications employees are working under the old 1969 contract, which was extended from July 1 to 12 o'clock tonight.

James Marshall, state conciliator from San Francisco, shuttled back and forth this morning between the two negotiating teams, each meeting in separate rooms.

In one room were County Administrator Alan Bruce, Assist. Administrator John F. Barrows, and personnel director Maren Rinne.

In an adjoining room were the safety employees negotiating team, headed by Randall M. Prevo, general manager of the Marin County Employees Association; sheriff's Sgt. Wade R. Powell; Newl G. Weaver, president of the employees association; and Alfred Curry, shop steward for the employees group.

Prevo said his team is still holding out for a 12.5 per cent raise for sheriff's deputies. He and Powell had no comment on what action would be taken if today's negotiations fail.

The safety employees last week rejected a county proposal of 7.5 per cent raise for all safety employees except cooks and clerical workers.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Two Suspects In Possession Of Hashish

Two San Quentin men were booked into Marin County jail Saturday on suspicion of possession of hashish for sale after a California Highway patrolman found in their car a bag believed to contain the drug.

Thomas Maurice Purbaugh, 21, of 100 Main Street, driver of the vehicle, and Robert Earl Kay, 22, of the same address, a passenger, were arrested heading north on Francisco Boulevard at Bellam Boulevard about 11:30 a.m.

The officer said he noticed an auto without a right windshield wiper and no front license plate and pulled it over for a check. During his investigation, he said he noticed a brown paper bag on the floor of the car. The officer opened it and reported he found several cellophane-wrapped packets believed to contain hashish.

Both men were freed on $3,125 bail and to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Wimmer Chosen For Building Inspector Post

Herbert F. Wimmer, 55, of Pinole, will become chief building inspector for Marin County to succeed Hans J. Berge, who retired on July 1 at age 65.

Wimmer will begin working on Sept. 21 at a salary of $1,166 per month. His appointment will be confirmed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

Wimmer has been chief building inspector-planner for the City of Pinole for the past two years, and served as Superintendent of buildings and planing, acting director of public works and building inspector for the city since 1965. From 1962 to 1965, he was building inspector for the City of Berkeley. Prior to 1965, he was a general contractor.

Fifty-seven candidates applied for the Marin job, and 18 were interviewed by an oral board on Aug. 3. From the top five, Wimmer was picked by public works director Donald R. Frost.

Ferryboat Service Interrupted

A malfunction in the port steering linkage of the Golden Gate Bridge District's new Sausalito ferryboat today interrupted service for several hours.

It was the second breakdown on the service. The first was two weeks ago, the first day of weekday service, and involved engine failure. It was returned to service last Tuesday.

The malfunction was discovered just as the vessel was landing at the Ferry Building in San Francisco at 9:05 a.m., but the landing was made with no difficulty, according to district officials.

Service was to resume on schedule from San Francisco at 1:15 p.m.

Minor Injuries In Third Street Auto Collision

Two persons received minor injuries in an auto accident at the intersection of Third and Netherton streets at 4:40 p.m. Saturday, San Rafael police reported today.

Police said Joanne F. Stoller, 22, of 940 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, suffered a cut head and complained of hip pain, after the car she was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Carroll R. Stoerker, 45, of 620 E Street, San Rafael, when Stoerker drove through a red light.

She was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael, police said although the hospital said there was no record of her being treated there.

U.S. 101 Three-Car Crash Kills San Francisco Woman

A 64-year-old San Francisco woman was fatally injured in a three-car collision Saturday night on the south side of California Park Hill along southbound Highway 101, north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Killed was Bernice Elizabeth Langer of 285 Stratford Drive, who suffered internal and head injuries and was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

California Highway Patrol officers reported that a car driven by her husband, Carl Dowse Langer, 67, traveling in the center lane skidded into the center divider at 10:45 p.m.

Still under investigation are the circumstances which led to Langer's car going out of control, officers said.

After hitting the divider, Langer's car was struck on the right side by a car driven by Janet Leslie Farren, 24, of 16 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, which had just come over the crest of the hill, officers said.

The Farren car then collided with a car driven by Charles Lester Miller, 61, of Belmont, San Mateo County. A car driven by Cynthia Louise Caignon, 23, of 802-A Spring Street, Sausalito, pulled off the highway to avoid a collision, officers reported.

Langer, who suffered a cut forehead and multiple body scrapes, Mrs. Farren, who suffered a headache, and James Farren, 28, of 16 South Knoll Road, Mill Valley, her passenger, who suffered a cut upper lip, were treated at Marin General hospital.

Funeral for Mrs. Langer will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Ebenezer Lutheran Church, San Francisco. She was a native and lifelong resident of San Francisco.

Surviving are her husband, Carl, and a daughter, Jean Peters.

Mrs. Langer's was the 24th traffic fatality in Marin this year as compared to 20 during the same span last year.

Political Autumn Starts Officially On Labor Day

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Bikini-clad girls will still frolic on the beaches and vacation campers will clog mountain highways, but for California politicians autumn officially arrives one week from today.

The fall campaign for governor kicks off on Labor Day—traditional final holiday of summer — with old-fashioned barnstorms by two candidates as diverse as the state itself.

Neither Gov. Ronald Reagan nor Democratic challenger Jess Unruh believes the polls which show the Republican incumbent a virtual shoo-in for re-election.

"He's not a shoo-in at all," says Tom Reed, Reagan's campaign chairman. "Political campaigns have a way of tilting the other way when you least expect it."

California's other featured political race, between Republican Sen. George Murphy and Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney, partially begins this Thursday.y

Tunney, accompanied by his father, former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, will inaugurate his campaign amid banners, bands and hotdogs in his home district of Riverside. But Murphy, whose seat President Nixon realizes the GOP must retain for the party to wrest control of the Senate, won't officially commence his re-election effort until Sept. 14.

It would be hard to find two more contrasting candidates than Reagan and Unruh.

Reagan, 59, is a handsome former Hollywood actor who never sought public office until four years ago when he ran as a "citizen politician" and defeated incumbent Democrat Edmund G. Brown by nearly one million votes. He completed with Nixon for the Republican presidential nomintaion and still is regarded as a leading national spokesman for the party's conservative wing.

Unruh, 47, is the son of illiterate Texas sharecroppers who became a tough professional politician and close friend of the Kennedys. Good looks is not one of his strong points. As Assembly speaker—a post he held seven years — Unruh earned the nickname "Big Daddy."

"The 'Big Daddy' image is the 'Big Daddy' fact," contends Reed, who also is Republican national committeeman.

" 'Big Daddy' is a boss who has operated in a big-handed fashion with marginal integrtiy. I don't think the people want that in their governor's mansion. I think this really is the number one issue in the campaign. The governor, whether or not you agree with his principles, he has them. He's man of integrity."

Unruh answers, in part, that Reagan is a weak leader who bemoans problems but doesn't know how to solve them.

"One of Jess' strengths," says Unruh campaign manager Phillip H. Schott, a former legislative aide, "is that he can get the job done if the people will give him a crack at it."

"Reagan stands up and wrings his hands and says how awful things are," Schott continues, "but he made them awful. That's what gets me." He notes Reagan still has not been able to push a tax reform program through the legislature, welfare costs soar and campus violence has spread.

"That's a patently absurd statement," says Reed. "Of course the campus problem has gotten worse. It's worse all over the country. But the voters want a man like Reagan who will take a firm stand for law and order, not for appeasement."

Unruh will hit hard on the theme, according to Schott, that "in terms of jobs and prices, California sticks out in worse condition than the rest of the nation."

The retiring legislator will aim his campaign at bluecollar Democrats who helped elect Reagan in 1966 but now face reduced take-home pay due to the inflation-recession spiral.

"The people still feel that economic problems can be solved by Democrats, not Republicans," says Schott.

Unruh has his own economic problems politically. Campaign contributions have been relatively small for a gubernatorial race. So the Democrat has decided not to buy campaign billboards, and television commercials are doubtful.

"We haven't got the money for TV," Schott says, "and Reagan would spend five times as much anyway. It's not a thing we can win on toe-to-toe."

Reagan has had little trouble raising campaign contributions. His effort is expected to cost at least $3 million.

The governor will kick off his campaign in Orange County, home of his greatest strength. After a Labor Day address to retail clerks at the Orange County Fairgrounds, Reagan will fly to the San Francisco Bay Area the next day for another round of campaigning. He will politick throughout the state during the next few days.

Slithering Snake Shakes Office

A 10-inch snake, slithering inside a paper box in the county counsel's office, sent secretaries running this morning at 10:30, but it turned out to be a harmleess gopher snake.

Jack Heskett, appraiser in the assessor's office, heard the girls screams slapped a lid on the box, and turned the reptile over to the agricultural commissioner, R. Allan Ballard. He released it to the grounds maintenance crew.

Mary Ann Gallardo, secretary in the county counsel's office, spotted the snake wiggling inside a paper carton in the back of her office. "It looked about this long" said Miss Gallardo, indicating about two feet.

She said she has no idea how the snake got into the civic center.

Eviction Panel To Be Discussed

A proposed eviction panel — to assist in tenant evictions —will be discussed by commissioners of the Marin County Housing Authority tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

According to Wallace K. Shepherd, authority acting director, the panel would involve tenants and members of other organizations in the eviction process and help alleviate misunderstandings about evictions.

Commissioners will also award bids for outdoor lighting for the authority's modernization program for 300 public housing units in Marin City, Shepherd said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Van Dellen

Allopurinol (Zyloprim) continues to be an excellent remedy for gout, especially in the advanced form of the disease. In many instances, the drug has eliminated urate crystals in the tissues surrounding the joints and has led to the dispersion of uric acid stones in the kidneys. The product represents an entirely new concept in gout therapy.

In gout, the amount of uric acid in the blood usually is increased. The chemical originates from purines in certain foods and accumulates in the blood of those with gout because they have an inherent disorder of the kidneys that slows down the excretion of uric acid. The excess invades the joints, crystallizes, and irritates the parts. Allopurinol blocks the final stage in the chemical production of uric acid. Xanthine now becomes the end product and it is easily disposed of because it passes through the kidneys 10 times faster than does uric acid.

SECONDARY GOUT develops is persons with acute and chronic leukemia, polycythemia, psoriasis, and in some malignant diseases. Certain drugs, such as the diuretics, do the same. Many persons with too much cholesterol in the blood also have an excess of uric acid. Kidney trouble may be responsible for the failure to eliminate the chemical. Allopurinol is as helpful in secondary gout as it is in primary gout.

The big toe is the favorite target in an acute attack of gout. The pain usually develops suddenly at night and the digit becomes red, swollen, and so tender to the touch, that even the weight of the bedsheet cannot be tolerated. Gouty episodes may follow physical exertion, too much alcohol or coffee, or a high purine diet. The best remedies for an acute bout include colchicine, aspirin, Butazolidin, or a cortisonelike product.

ALLOPURINOL and probenecid are preventives that keep the uric acid within normal limits after the acute attack subsides. They are so effective that the gouty person can be more lenient in his diet.

BRONCHIECTASIS

REPLY

In bronchiectasis, large amounts of thick sputum are produced. Inhalations of a digestive enzyme, such as pancreatic dornase and trypsin, often loosen the tenacious material, making it easier to cough up. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on bronchiectasis.

SPORTS INJURY

J.B. writes: I am a 15-year-old boy who plays in competitive active sports. Very often the part above the back of the heel of my foot gets sore like a muscle was pulled. Could you please tell me what this is?

REPLY

This may represent an injury to the tendon achilles resembling a sprain. If it is higher, the calf muscle also is involved.

CAUSES OF PANTING

P.C. writes: What causes panting?

REPLY

Too little oxygen from a failing heart, lung disease, overexertion, excitement, and extreme fatigue. Panting may also stem from habit, nervousness, and emotions.

THREE KIDNEYS

E.O. writes: If a yerson has three kidneys must the extra one be removed surgically?

REPLY

No —the more the merrier, so long as the structures are healthy and functioning properly.

Algerians Force Plane To Yugoslavia

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Three Algerians waving pistols and a Molotov cocktail held a scimitar-like dagger to the throat of an Air Algerie pilot today and forced him to fly them to Yugoslavia where they asked for political asylum.

The plane, a turboprop Convair 640 with about 30 persons aboard, was ordered to Albania, but the tiny Communist country refused it permission to land and the pilot took the hijackers to Dubrovnik, on the Yugoslav Adriatic coast, after stops in Sardinia and Italy.

The pilot, identified only as a Capt. Ieros, told officials, "I am utterly exhausted. I've been in that plane since 6 a.m. Sunday, a good deal of the time with a dagger at my neck. I need some rest."

Yugoslav officials said it appeared the request for political asylum would be granted. The three Algerians, all described as about 30, refused to give their names. They seized the plane on a flight from Annaba, Algeria to Algiers.

(However, in Algiers, the operations office of Air Algerie announced the three hijackers were arrested by Yugoslav authorities at Dubrovink airport. They said the passengers and crew were safe and would return to Algeria later today.

The hijackers ordered the crew to fly first to Cagliari on the island of Sardinia where they released 11 of the estimated 36 passengers aboard. They told the pilot to fly them to Tirana, the Albanian capital, but instead the plane was forced to land at Brindisi, Italy, only 50 miles across the Adriatic from Albania.

Theyy were equipped with a map showing approaches to the airport at Vlore, Albania, but the Albanians, only European allies of Communist China, said no and the plane continued to Dubrovnik, the first hijacked plane known to have landed in Yugoslavia.

Officials in Dubrovnik said the plane would take off around 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) for the return flight to Algeria. They said there were about 25 to 30 passengers aboard.

First word of the hijacking came when the pilot radioed Elmas field at Cagliari early today and asked for permission to land, refuel and be given a map showing the approaches to the airport at Vlore, a south-central Albanian coast town.

When the plane landed in Cagliari, 11 of the 3 persons aboard — including nine women and two men—were allowed to debark.

The passengers who were released said when the flight was 10 minutes out of Annaba, a city on Algeria's eastern Mediterranean coast, on its way to Algiers the three men entered the pilot's cabin and ordered him to fly to Albania.

The pilot told them the plane did not have enough gas and it was decided they would stop in Cagliari to refuel.

One of the hijackers kept a curved, eight-inch knife at the pilot's neck during the entire operation, a passenger said. When the stewardess tried to protest the hijacking, she was put "under restraint," the passenger added, apparently meaning she was tied up.

Connection Between Hashish Planes Eyed

HERAKLION, Crete (UPI)—Police from six nations searched for a connection today between U.S. planes seized here and at Lyon, France, with wholesale loads of hashish aboard.

Lebanese, Greek, Italian, British, French and American police cooperated in the investigation of the planes. One aircraft was seized at Lyon during a routine customs examination, the other during an unscheduled landing here following an international chase through the skies.

"Since both the plane that landed here Saturday and this one in Lyon were carrying the same cargo for the United States we cannot exclude some connection between the two," a senior Greek police official said Sunday night.

The five Americans arrested here on charges of illegal possession and importation of narcotics were going before a judge today. They were held in isolation after police found 1,452 pounds of "excellent quality" packaged hashish aboard their twin-engined Convair. A U.S. embassy official from Athens was to handle their case in court.

They were identified by police as John Moore, 41, New York State, pilot; Phillip E. Ammos, 30, California, Co-pilot: Jerry O'Connel, 28, California; David Manel, 30, Ohio, and Robert Black, 29, Illinois. No home towns were available.

Their plane allegedly flew from Lebanon and landed here after a chase by Lebanese helicopters and British jets based on Cyrpus. The jets tried to force the plane to land at Cyprus.

Beirut police sources said the plane took a cargo of smuggled cigarettes to Lebanon in exchange for the hashish, which a Heraklion police spokesman said was worth as much as $5 million in the United States.

"It was the largest haul we have ever made," he said.

He said the five Americans carried a large but unspecified sum in U.S. money but had no weapons,

Even before they were arrested, the five were given cholera shots since they had come from a region where the disease was reported.

They could be sentenced up to 10 years each in jail if convicted of importing narcotics or posessing them. Nine Americans now are serving Greek prison sentences of up to seven years for similar offenses.

The plane seized in Lyon, its pilots said, had flown from Turkey via Brindisi, Italy, and was en route to the United States via Scotland.

A total of 600 pounds of hashish was confiscated at Lyon from the twin-engine Beechcraft.

Police identified the two men held there as Al Clemons, 30, and Auguste Males, 24, both employes of a Miami-based airplane charter service. They said they found a snub-nosed revolver and a Walther automatic pistol on board.

Panther Is Convicted In '69 Slaying

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Black Panther Lonnie McLucas was convicted today of murder conspiracy in the 1969 torture slaying of former Panther Alex Rackley.

The guilty verdict was returned in the sixth day of deliberations by a jury of 10 whites and two blacks after Superior Court Judge Harold M. Mulvey rejected a defense motion for mistrial.

McLucas could be sentenced up to 15 years in prison.

He was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to kidnap and binding with intent to commit a crime.

The jury had deliberated for 37 hours.

McLucas is the first of eight Panthers — including National Chairman Bobby G. Seale--to be tried in Rackley's death.

The judget set Sept. 18 as the sentencing date. McLucas left the courtroom smiling.

The formal written note requesting a mistrial was delivered earlier today to the judge in his chambers. The defense contended the jury was "apparently hopelessly deadlocked." The judge rejected the mistrial motion.

13 Killed As Train Hits Bus

SALTA, Argentina (UPI)—Thirteen persons were killed and 42 injured when a freight train slammed into a bus at an unmarked level crossing about 60 miles from the Bolivian border Sunday, police said today.

They said the bus was carrying 70 persons on a Sunday outing for a private company. There were a number of women and children among the dead and injured, police said.

The bus was destroyed and the first four cars of the freight train were derailed by the impact, police said.

Bartholomew Diaz, a Portuguese, discovered and named the Cape of Good Hope in 1487.

Make Your Own Peace

You can say anything you want about the world. You can say it's beyond help. That man is more evil than good. That you never asked for the world you got. And you could be right. You can say anything you want about the Peace Corps. That it's just do-gooders. That it doesn't help peace. That it hasn't made any difference. The Peace Corps isn't disagreeing. That's not what it's about. The Peace Corps doesn't shout, "Come make peace." Peace doesn't come that easily. It's more of a separate peace. Maybe yours. No banners. No bands. No medals. The Peace Corps might be for you if you could enjoy feeding children. Or repairing a tractor. Or teaching birth control. Or building a schoolhouse. Even if no one ends up using it. (Don't think it hasn't happened.) The Peace Corps has no delusions of grandeur. Ask anyone who's been in it. But there are enough people who come out of the Peace Corps with things they've learned they can't forget. Good things. There are more ways than you can find to help the world. The Peace Corps is just one way. It's for someone who would rather do something. Anything. Instead of nothing. It could be your way. Write The Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

Goldwater Shoots Down Appointment Of Newsman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., persuaded the State Department to drop its appointment of Arthur J. Olsen as director of the Office of Public Affairs because of articles he wrote critical of Goldwater during the 1964 presidential campaign.

The State Department confirmed that Olsen, former foreign correspondent for United Press and The New York Times, would not get the office to which he had been named Aug. 18.

Olsen was to have taken up his duties as the department's official spokesman today.

Robert J. McCloskey, press adviser to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, acknowledged there had been "objections to Olsen's appointment," and that after "serious review" it had been agreed Olsen would remain in his present position as public affairs officer for the Bureau of European Affairs.

McCloskey's statement did not say what the objections were or who made them, but official sources said they came from Goldwater, who had warned Rogers that Olsen was "personally obnoxious" because of stories he wrote for the Times linking Goldwater with extreme rightist elements in Germany during the campaign.

Students Wait Cholera Check

KITAKYUSHU, Japan (UPI) —Thirty-nine Japanese students just back from a visit to Korea were in quarantine today because six members of the party showed symptoms of cholera.

The 39-member group from Tokyo's Meiji University returned from Pusan to Shimonoseki, Japan, by ferry boat Saturday.

White House Drug Drive To Be Seen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The results of President Nixon's suggestion that network television shows deal with the dangers of narcotics use will be evident to viewers during the new video season starting in September.

As the show business newspaper "Variety" puts it, the networks "will launch an unprecedented drive against narcotics addiction" in response to the White House request with numerous prime time series offering stories "warning one way or another of the dangers of being hooked," Samples:

—The Sept. 18 debut of Andy Griffith's new CBS-TV series, "Headmaster," in which he portrays the head of a small private high school, concerns "the problem of . . . students who 'turn on' with dangerous drugs—and their effect on a student who doesn't."

—Also on Sept. 18, the season premiere of NBC-TV's "The Name Of the Game" deals with "a Senate subcommittee hearing on narcotics and a young girl who is ruining her life with drugs." Presidential aide Robert Finch will appear as himself in this episode.

—An "Ironside" episode will tell of a successful engineer who has become a narcotics addict.

—NBC-TV's new "Four-In-One" series will have one of its programs, "Psychiatrist," tell of an ex-addict who backslides trying to get off drugs "and is placed on methadone, a controversial synthetic drug."

In a related type of series drama that tries to be topical and constructive, ABC-TV's high-rated "Marcus Welby, M.D." will present on its Sept. 22 season premiere a story about a case of teen-age venereal disease.

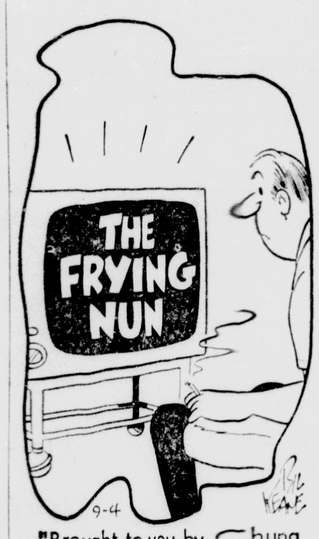

The story, "A Very Special Sailfish," concerns a high school girl who successfully completes a diet, becomes a beauty and gets involved "in her school's version of the swinging set. Promiscuity and venereal disease follow."

"Welby" executive producer David Victor notes that the episode "shows what happens to her mother and father, to her special boyfriend... It's not something that happens to somebody else. It can hit any family."

Film Of Sex Book Set

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Paramount will make a movie of the popular non-fiction book, "Evehything You Always Wanted to Know about Sex —But Were Afraid to Ask."

Channel Chuckles

"Brought to you by Chung Sen Won Ton Soup and Egg Rolls."

Over 30? More Jogging Needed

CHICAGO (UPI)—A man over 30 has to jog 45 minutes a day, four or five days a week, for three months before making a significant health improvement, according to a University of Illinois researcher.

Alli Tooshi, a former college wrestler from Iran, made the report after completing a 20-week experiment with 30 volunteers. The first eight weeks of the experiment were spent in getting the subjects fit to jog up to 45 minutes, he said.

Tooshi said subjects who regularly jogged for 45 minutes during the final 12 weeks reduced their average cholesterol level from 201 milligrams to a safe 173 milligrams per 100 milliliters of blood.

Eight Killed In Hotel Blast

PEDASO, Italy (UPI)—Gas leaking from tanks connected to kitchen stoves blew apart a small hotel Sunday, killing eight persons, police said.

Authorities said the victims were residents of this town on the Adriatic coast. One was a man called in to repair the gas leak.

Police said if the explosion had occurred an hour later, the hotel restaurant would have been crowded with lunching tourists.

Most of the victims were hotel employes.

Manufacturing Jobs Decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department says job opportunities in manufacturing are declining, especially in the instruments, machinery and electronic equipment industries.

The cutback in job openings was attributed to defense spending reductions and the general economic slowdown.

The bureaus of Labor statistics and Manpower Administration said in a joint statement the total number of vacant jobs in manufacturing in June, 1970, was 123,000 as opposed to 240,000 a year earlier.

In the instruments manufacturing industry in June, there were 7 vacancies for every 1,000 jobs. A year ago the figure was 21 per 1,000.

Bright's Winning Return To Dipsea

THE WINNER — Sixty-year-old Norman Bright of Seattle, who held the Dipsea Race Record since 1937, returned for the first time yesterday and led a field of more than 1,000 runners across the 6.8-mile course from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach.

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

A 60-year-old Seattle school counsellor, a 19-year-old College of Marin sophomore and a stout-hearted supporting cast of more than 1,000 men, women and children teamed up yesterday to make the 60th running the most memorable of all the Dipsea handicap races.

Sexagenarian Norman Bright, whose name has been synonymous with the Mill Valley to Stinson Beach classic since his record of 47 minutes, 22 seconds was set in 1937, returned for the first time yesterday and merely finished first. Incredible!

RECORD

But, while the winner was just catching his breath, Don Makela, a blond, mustachioed distance star from COM via Novato, broke Bright's venerable record with a clocking of 46 minutes, 22 seconds over the fog-shrouded 6.8-mile course. Remarkable!

And, to add further fuel to this cross country drama run under leaden skies, 30-year-old Richard Delgado of Woodacre also broke Bright's record with a 47:01 run. Wow!

Bright, getting a 15-minute handicap, covered the mountainous course in the time of 59:46 and corrected clocking of 44:46.

Delgado, the skinny, curley haired math teacher at San Rafael High who is well known and honored in distance running circles, had a two-minute handicap and finished second in corrected time of 45:01, just five seconds behind the winner with a sensational finishing kick.

Makela started from scratch, fought his way through the darnedest pedestrian traffic jam the old Dipsea trail has ever known, to finish third. But what a show!

MARIN A.C.

Marin Countians made further headlines as Makela led the Marin Athletic Club to the team championship, along with teammates Wes Hildreth, Darryl Beardall, Bob Biancalana and Larry Hoyt; 17-year-old Novato High School star Ron Elijah was the first high schooler to finish 12th in 49:01, and Don Pickett of Tiburon, the 1968 winner, was the fastest over-40-year-old in the field. He's a fast 42, coming in 13th in 55:03.

Dipsea chairman Bill Devlin of the sponsoring Mill Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce said: "I'm sure we had more than 1,000 runners. At the finish line we ran out of more than 900 identification tags and a lot more finished after that." That easily surpassed last year's 733 starters.

Total entries, times, winners, etc. are all considered unofficial until an IBM brain expectorates the official results "probably in a week or so," according to a Jaycee official.

Bright, who ran for the San Francisco Olympic Club just as he had in 1937, beamed to the crowd: "Wasn't this fun today?" The West Seattle High School counsellor visited the Dipsea last year as a spectator for the first time since his famous 1937 run. "I'd hoped to see my record broken then," he said, "so I decided to run this year. I started training last November and have run 1,910 miles in practice for this race today, including about 20 times over this course. No, I wasn't at all disappointed to see the record broken. In fact, I'm glad."

NOVATO LAD

Makela, a stocky 5-foot-7, 140 pounder who has been running competitively for about four years, first came into prominence at Novato High where in 1968 he won the Marin County Athletic League cross-country championship. Last spring, as a freshman at College of Marin, he placed second in the Camino Norte Conference two-mile. Next month he'll be back at the Kentfield campus shooting for conference, northern California and state junior college cross-country honors.

This was Makela's fourth Dipsea. His best previous performance was a ninth place in 1967 and his best previous RECORD SMASHER — Don Makela, 19-year-old Novatan, streaked out of the fog to smash a 33-year-old record in the 60th running of the famed Dipsea Race. The College of Marin track star covered the distance in 46 minutes, 42 seconds. Richard Delgado of Woodacre also broke the old record in 47:01. The Dipsea is a handicap race. Makela finished third behind Delgado and winner Norman Bright.

Madden Still Has Time For Jokes

Raiders Bombed By Pack

OAKLAND (UPI) — Coach John Madden keeping in line with the Oakland Raider motto "Pride and Poise," managed to utter a wisecrack after his team's worst beating since 1967.

"Our play was probably worse than the score indicated," Madden quipped Sunday after the Green Bay Packers thrashed Oakland 37-7.

"I can't think of anything we did right. We looked good on the ground at times only because the Packers were laying back a bit against the run," Madden said.

The defeat was the worst the Raiders have suffered since being beaten 48-0 in a 1967 preseason game against Kansas City.

Daryle Lamonica threw four pass interceptions in the first half and reserve quarterback Ken Stabler added three more in the second.

The mistakes, combined with sloppy execution on the line, helped Green Bay run away to an awesome 24-0 lead after only 12 minutes had elapsed.

Following a field goal by Booth Lusteg to open the scoring, Bart Starr put together a pair of quick touchdown drives for a 17-0 lead. Then linebacker Dave Robinson picked off a Lamonica pass and lumbered 23 yards for the final first period tally.

Lamonica snuck across the goal line in the second period to climax the only Oakland scoring drive of the game.

Linebacker Fred Carr, a continual tormentor of Lamonica, scored in the fourth period on a 55-yard run with a fumble recovery. Then Green Bay signal caller Don Horn closed the damage with a six-yard pass to Rich McGeorge.

The victory made the Packers 2-0-2 in the preseason and left the Raiders with three losses in four games.

Lamonica offered no excuses for himself or his teammates.

"We're going to have to get serious about playing football," he said in the dressing room.

Oakland next faces its Bay Area rival, the San Francisco 49ers, in an exhibition game Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

Sacramentans Defeat Koss

Muzio's of Sacramento dropped Paul Koss Supply into the loser's bracket of the Northern Pacific Regional Softball Tournament yesterday with a 4-1 victory in the Stockton heat.

Koss Supply's only run came in the third inning when San Rafael's Ron Reagan got aboard on an error and scored on a double by Rich Mantuffel off the left field fence.

Koss Supply will meet Hayward next Thursday night when the two-weekend tournament resumes.

THE FRIENDS

Football Saved At Sonoma State

The financial crisis in the athletic department at Sonoma State College is a long way from being solved, but it looks now as if the 1970 football program, at least, has been saved.

Edward Hochuli, secretary of the Friends of Sonoma State, an organization which has been conducting a campaign to save the school's sports program, announced Saturday that enough money has been raised to finance insurance for the football team.

The athletic department has been practically bankrupt since last June when the school's student body voted to abolish student government, thus depriving the department of most of its $16,500 annual budget.

THE GOAL

Athletic Director Dr. Edward Rudloff had set a goal of $6,000 to be raised by Sept. 1, an amount which would have covered insurance for all sports and football equipment. $5,300 has been raised, and since it now looks as though the initial figure will not be reached in time, alternate plans are being arranged to finance other fall sports for both men and women.

Earlier in the summer the Friends loaned the school money for equipment.

The Friends have accounted for $2,700 and the Alumni Association $350, both through advanced ticket sales. A thousand dollars are assured through advertising funds in the football program and members of the athletic department contributed another $950. The rest of the $5,300 came from other sources.

SUPPORT

Persons or businesses can help support the sports program by purchasing season ticket packages from the Friends. Twenty-five dollars buys one reserved seat ticket for each of the four home football games and 11 home basketball games, plus membership in the organization. For more information persons can get in touch with Rudloff or Publicity Director Bob Lipman at the college.

Slumping Athletics Return To Home

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland A's have been betrayed by the supposed ace of their pitching staff.

Jim Hunter, a consistent winner early in the season, has claimed only two victories since the All-Star break. Trying for the seventh time to notch win No. 16, the Catfish was blasted from the hill as the A's absorbed a 6-5 beating Sunday by Detroit.

The loss was the seventh of a dismal nine-game road trip in which Cleveland, Baltimore and the Tigers battered Oakland's starting pitchers and darkened the A's hopes for a drive toward the first place Minnesota Twins.

SEVEN OUT

Oakland failed to take advantage of Minnesota's loss Sunday to New York. Thus the A's remain seven games behind in the American League West pennant fight. After a day off today, they open a six-game homestand Tuesday night against Chicago and Kanass City.

Hunter survived only five innings, giving up four runs and seven hits. Five of the Detroit safeties against Hunter went for extra bases. The defeat went to reliever Bob Locker, so Hunter's record remained 15-12.

Locker blew a 5-4 Oakland edge when he allowed three hits, the final one a tie-breaking single by Dick McAuliffe, in the eighth inning.

BIG BLAST

Reggie Jackson had given the A's the lead with a mammoth two-run homer in the top of the eighth. Jackson's blast, his 16th, sailed into the upper deck

An Easy Davis Cup Victory

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Blond Stan Smith, putting all the power of his 6-foot-4 frame behind the racket, slammed a shot past two West Germans for match point in the easiest Davis Cup victory in the history of tennis.

The Mutt and Jeff Southern California doubles team of Smith and Bob Lutz, both 23, crushed Wilhelm Bungert and Christian Kuhnke in straight sets Sunday, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

SINGLES

Arthur Ashe, 27, of Gum Spring, Va., defeated Bungert, 6-2, 10-8, 6-2, and Cliff Richey, 23, of San Angelo, Tex., beat Kuhnke 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, in singles matches Saturday at Harold T. Clark Stadium.

Never before has an American team won the Davis Cup in three matches, all in straight sets. The nine sets took a total of only four hours. Only the great Australian teams of 1962 and 1967 have defended the cup so efficiently.

The swift American triumph reduced the singles matches today to exhibitions with nothing but personal and national pride at stake. Richey, still smarting from criticism of his selection on his past record

Miss Walsh Triumphs In Doubles

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, who beat Eliza Pande of Palo Alto for the national junior women's tennis championship two weeks ago in Philadelphia, met her in both the singles and doubles finals of the U.S. Women's Amateur Championships Saturday at Wilmington, Del., and came away with a win and a loss.

Miss Pande took the season edge in her rivalry with Miss Walsh by defeating her, 3-6, 9-7, 6-2 in singles, but Miss Walsh and Gail Hansen, also of Palo Alto, came back to down Miss Pande and Janet Newberry of La Jolla in the doubles finals, 6-3, 7-5.

Miss Walsh's other loss to Miss Pande this year came in the California women's championships.

A Great Month For Giants; There's Still Second Place

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"It's a shame we couldn't have gotten started earlier," manager Charlie Fox was saying.

This was minutes after his San Francisco Giants had swept the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3 and 2-1, Sunday to complete August action with a 20-11 won-loss record.

First place is an impractical goal for the Giants this year but second now seems within reach, provided they play in September the way they did in August.

The Giants who have scored 12 victories and lost six against strictly Eastern Division competition the last two weeks, are idle today before beginning a six-game road trip in Cincinnati Tuesday night, a game in which Gaylord Perry shoots for his 18th victory for the third time.

EAST RACE

San Francisco's play since Aug. 11 has been primarily responsible for making a race again in the Eastern Division. Sunday's sweep left the Pirates, who now have lost six straight, only a game ahead of the Cubs, two ahead of the Mets and 5 1-2 ahead of the Cards.

In the West, the Giants are 15 1-2 games behind Cincinnati and four behind second place Los Angeles. The Giants play both clubs six more tiues this year.

In Sunday's doubleheader, the Giants, who have 30 games left to play, looked more like pennant contenders than the Pirates.

They needed hitting in the opener because of early shaky pitching, and they got it. In the nightcap, with rookie Dred Cambira pitching a fine game, the Giants needed an equally good pitching perfomance, and again they got it.

34TH HOMER

Willie McCovey drove in two of the opening game runs with a double and his 34th homer. Bobby Bonds, who had two doubles, Willie Mays, Kenny Henderson and Dick Dietz chipped in with an RBI each in support of McCovey.

Frank Reberger started the opener and left in the second with the Giants ahead, 3-2 and the Pirates with two men on via a pair of walks. Jerry Johnson pitched the next 3 2-3 innings to pick up the victory and Rich Robertson added four scoreless relief innings in his best showing in a long time.

Ron Bryant, with his first big league complete game, Jim Hart and Johnny Stephenson were the heroes of the nightcap. Bryant pitched a six-hitter, struck out eight and walked two to even his record at 5-5. Hart doubled leading off the eighth and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Tito Fuentes and a sacrifice fly by Stephenson.

McCovey's fielder's choice grounder which the Pittsburgh infield messed up drove in San Francisco's other run in the opening inning.

An Old Putter Does Job For Bobby Nichols

CLIFTON, N.J. (UPI) — It was a $300,000 golf tournament but for Bobby Nichols, the difference between victory and defeat was only five bucks.

Nichols won the Dow Jones Open by a stroke Sunday, the worlds richest golf tournament, but he said he never expected to win it and didn't think he played all that well.

He credited the $60,000 first place check to an old, beaten-up $5 putter he pulled out of a closet at home last week.

VALUABLE

"That thing looks like a dog's been chewing on it, but it's been a very valuable putter to me," said Nichols. "I've done everything to it, even put it in a vice at home and fooled with it."

The bargain-basement putter was a purchase Nichols made in 1964 and used to win the PGA championship that year. But he retired it a couple of years ago and brought it out again only for this tournament.

At the 18th green Sunday, he used it to run in a birdie putt that gave him a one-stroke victory over Labron Harris.

"I don't feel like I played any better, but I putted well and that was the difference," said the likable Nichols, who spends a lot of his time tending to duties as home pro at Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio.

"I can't win unless I putt well. I'm not like Nick (Jack Nicklaus) or (Arnold) Palmer or (Billy) Casper, guys who can go out there and win every four weeks or so. It's been a long time since I've win."

NOT CERTAIN

49ers Impressive Against Broncos

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers finally have proven they can put the football beyond the goal line.

San Francisco regrouped from a pair of morbid preseason showings to defeat the Denver Broncos 23-7 Saturday night in Eugene, Ore.

The victory was the first for the Niners in 1970 and their first in exhibition play since 1968. Coach Dick Nolan now has a three-year preseason record of 2-13.

Quarterback John Brodie, entering his 14th season with San Francisco, enlivened an offense which had produced only seven points in each of the first two preseason contests.

19 OF 32

Brodie found the mark on 19 of 32 passes for 264 yards and three touchdowns. He connected on scoring plays of 13 yards to tight end Ted Kwalick, 56 yards to wide receiver Gene Washington and four yards to wide receiver Dick Witcher.

Steve Spurrier, benched as reserve quarterback, showed his worth as a punter. He kept the Niners in good field position throughout the game by averaging a healthy 44.8 yards on eight kicks.

Taking over following Spurrier's punts, the 49er defense stymied the Denver offense, forced three fumbles and picked off one interception.

TOP GAINERS

Jimmy Thomas and rookie Jim Strong combined for 80 yards in 15 carries to pace the San Francisco ground game while Washington, Kwalick and Witcher joined for 11 catches of Brodie's aerials.

"Brodie was very sharp," Nolan said. "He was due to begin sharpening his timing. He did a great job, and I felt that our defense had its third straight good game."

The only negative note was an ankle injury to Thomas, the severity of which will not be known for a couple of days.

time a 49:15. Asked about the toughest part of the course yesterday, he grinned: "Just getting through the crowd."

The course, which starts in the heart of beautiful downtown Mill Valley, includes such scenic attractions as the 671 steps one-half mile out of the start, Windy Gap at about 800-foot elevation, Muir Woods, Hog's Back Rise, Cardiac Hill leading to 1,500-foot Lone Pine Spring, thence the long grind home to Sinson Beach, where the population is suddenly doubled just by people running into town in their underwear.

Last year's winner, 11-year-old Vance Eberle of San Jose, finished 41st yesterday.

HONORS

Some of the other honors: Wes Hildreth, a Harvard graduate, was first Mill Valleyan to finish, 11th; Marty Wright, 12, was first Stinson Beach resident to finish in 68th position; Mary Cortez, 16, of Redwood City was the first female to finish.

Mill Valley Mayor George Wickham and Dipsea Queen Arlinda Sebring helped Jaycee officials distribute trophies at the finish line.

The first 20 finishers and their elapsed times were: 1. Norman Bright, 59:46; 2. Richarl Delgado, 47: 01; 3. Don Makela, 46:42; 4. David Cortez, 53:45; 5 Bill Gray, 51:37; 6. Jack Kirk, 62:50; 7. Bill Scobey, 48:21; 8. Ed Sias, 56:42; 9. Howard Labrie, 48:50; 10. Darryl Beardall, 50:54.

by the thought of collecting the largest check in PGA tournament history.

"I was concentrating so hard I had trouble swinging the club," he said. "I didn't think it would go in...I never thought it would go in. I figured it would hust hang there on the lip, and it did."

It did, for a split second, and then the approxmiate 10-footer fell into the hole.

Only moments earlier, Harris, the 1962 U.S. Amateur champ who is winless as a pro, had made a seven-foot birdie putt at 18, a 600-yard par-5, and it looked like he and Nichols were headed for a playoff.

Nichols, with a 3-under-par 69 Sunday, finished at 276. Harris had a final-round 70 for 277 and the $34,200 runnerup check.

Nichols' last individual victory was in the 1966 Minnesota Classic, although he teamed with George Archer to capture the PGA team championship in 1968.

CHANCES

"I've had good opportunities to win four or five times, but I've blown them," Nichols said. "I haven't putted well, that's why I used this putter this week."

Dan Sikes finished with a 68 for 279 and 21,300 for third place. Larry Hinson was fourth at 280, Charles Coody fifth at 281.

Bruce Devlin, Orville Moody —who set a course record with his 64 Friday—Homero Blancas and John Miller were at 282. Tom Weiskopf and Bruce Crampton at 283.

Some of golf's big names had their problems with the long, narrow 7,085-yard par-72 Upper Montclair Country Club course, including Arnold Palmer. Palmer never was in contention and finshed with a 75 Sunday for 295 total after going to a desperation, cross-handed putting style on the final few holes. Only three players were below him.

Raiders Release Cannon

OAKLAND (UPI)—Durable Billy Cannon, a key figure in the growth of the American Football League, has been sliced from the roster of the Oakland Raiders.

In a mysterious and surprising disclosure Sunday, coach John Madden said simply: "Billy Cannon is no longer with the team."

MISSING

Cannon was missing from the field and the sidelines as well Sunday when the Raiders absorbed a 37-7 preseason beating from Green Bay. He had been in his usual position as starting tight end during Oakland's three previous exhibitions.

The 32-year-old Cannon, one of the biggest names in the history of college football, earned a doctorate in dentistry from the University of Tennessee during the winter. But he gave no indication that he was ready to quit football at this time.

"I can be a dentist the rest of my life," Cannon said in an interview several weeks ago. "We're so close to winning the world's championship anl frankly, I want to be a part of it. I can still run with speed."

FIRST PRIZE

The 1959 Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State University was the first major claim of the American Football League in its talent war with the established National Football League.

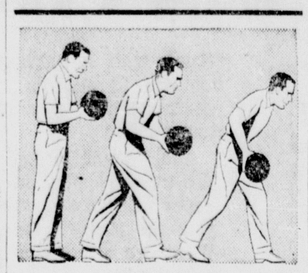

His presence in the inaugural year of 1960 helped the new league stay alive. After Cannon turned down a bid from Los Angeles of the NFL and signed with Houston of the AFL, other top college stars followed his lead. A decade later, the leagues called a truce and underwent a merger.

Cannon, a swift and powerful running back, led LSU to the national collegiate championship in 1959. He helped Houston win three successive division championships and two AFL titles between 1960-62.

Hampered in 1963 by a back injury, Cannon was traded the next season to Oakland. The injury, though healed, cut down Cannon's lateral movement and quickness as a runner. So Davis, then coach of the Raiders, switched him to tight end.

BOWLING TIPS

My approach is classified as unusual in that I barely lift my feet as I make it. This shuffling motion, I believe, makes a smoother delivery. If you adopt this style, you'll discover shorter steps are necessary. However, there is no disadvantage to this. The objective is smoothness.

McLaren Team Wins In Can-Am

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (UPI)—It was the McLaren team all the way again Sunday, but the track stewards rewrote the script and the wrong teammate won.

Peter Gethin, a 30-year-old Londoner who's been on the Canadian-American Challenge Cup circuit for just a few weeks, was declared the winner of the $80,000 Road America Can-Am after the McLaren team leader, Denis Hulme, was penalized 13 laps for getting a push from corner workers to get his car started.

Hulme had actually finished a couple of seconds and a couple of feet ahead of Gethin—coming from behind three times to do in. But the stewards, after meeting an hour and a half, declared Gethin, also on the McLaren team, the winner and said Hulme had finished the race on the 37th lap—after 148 miles of the 200 mile jaunt.

Intrepid Carries U.S. Hopes In America's Cup Challenge

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—"Ficker is Quicker."

That's been the word along the waterfront for weeks now. You see it on buttons and signs, and one pretty young lady was even spotted with it emblazoned across her shirt.

And finally on Sunday, the New York Yacht Club selection committee agreed and made skipper Bill Ficker's Intrepid the 21st defender of the America's Cup against Gretel II of Australia next month.

It took Intrepid six consecutive victories over Valiant before the committee decided Ficker really was quicker. The committee wanted to see how the two yachts would perform in brisk winds, like those off Newport in September, and Intrepid put on a real show when she got a chance on Sunday, coming from behind on the fourth leg to beat Valiant by 1:51 in 15-knot breezes.

SIX STRAIGHT

After losing the first rave to Valiant in the final eliminations, Intrepid spun off six consecutive victories. Throughout the summer, inclusing races against Weatherly and Heritage, Intrepid had 22 victories and five losses, while Valiant was 12 and 15.

"I got a few grey hairs in last Friday's race, when it was so close," the 42-year-old Ficker said. "And then in the last race I lost them again." Given a choice in his worrying, the yachting architect from Newport Beach, Calif., would probably prefer getting grey hairs, considering the deep tan covering his head.

Ficker and the Intrepid crew had one of their closest calls in the series in the last race, trailing from the start until midway through the windward fourth leg. Valiant had won the start by two seconds, and sat on Intrepid's weather beam for the first 20 minutes to hold a 29 second margin at the first mark. But Intrepid cut the lead to 22 seconds on the second let and 10 on the third by a series of quick tacks.

27 SECONDS

On the fourth leg, Intrepid split away from Valiant and then tacked back to reduce the margin even more. Valiant took a port tack, and Ficker brought Intrepid across to go ahead by 27 seconds at the mark.

By the fifth mark, Ficker had moved her into a 1:02 lead.

The seven-man selection committee decked out in their traditional blue blazers and white ducks, puttered up to the dock as soon as the yachts arrived.

After a polite, but brief "thank you" to Bob McCullough, skipper of Valiant, they tipped their straw hats in unison and went to Intrepid's dock to tell Ficker he would defend the 121-year-old bottomless cup that has never left the United States since it was won by the America in 1851.

McCullough and Valiant's crew also visited Intrepid for three cheers and a taste of victory champagne.

GRETEL II

Gretel II won four straight in a best-of-seven series against France, and the France's millionaire owner, part-time skipper, Baron Marcel Bich, still believes three of those victories were by luck, including the last one when he got lost in a heavy fog and had friends take him in tow 42 minutes after Gretel finished.

The Intrepid now goes against Gretel II in the best-of-seven America's Cup series beginning Sept. 15. And Ficker again must prove "Ficker is Quicker."

Jackie Ickx Wins First Of Season

SALZBURG, Austria (UPI)—Jackie Ickx of Belgium won his first Formula Two victory of the season Sunday by taking the international race at the Salzburg Speedway.

Ickx finished the race in one hour, three minutes, 24.3 seconds to beat Vittorio Brambiller of Italy and Dieter Quester of Austria.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Eastern Race Up For Grabs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With the Mets and the Pirates both in the doldrums, the Chicago Cubs are gaining ground slowly but surely in a division in which it seems no one is really interested in winning the championship.

Joe Pepitone hit a three-run homer with one out in the ninth inning to give the Cubs and righthander Bill Hands a 3-0 victory over the San Diego Padres Sunday and a sweep of their three-game series. Meanwhile the San Francisco Giants swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 7-3 and 2-1, and New York dropped a 9-5 decision to the Houston Astros.

GOOD SHAPE

Cub manager Leo Durocher said after the Chicago victory "we're in pretty good shape now." Pitching coach Herman Franks, a new addition to the coaching staff agreed, "I'd say our chances are pretty good."

Both are in trouble. The Pirates have dropped 10 of their last 13 and the Mets have lost eight of their last 11.

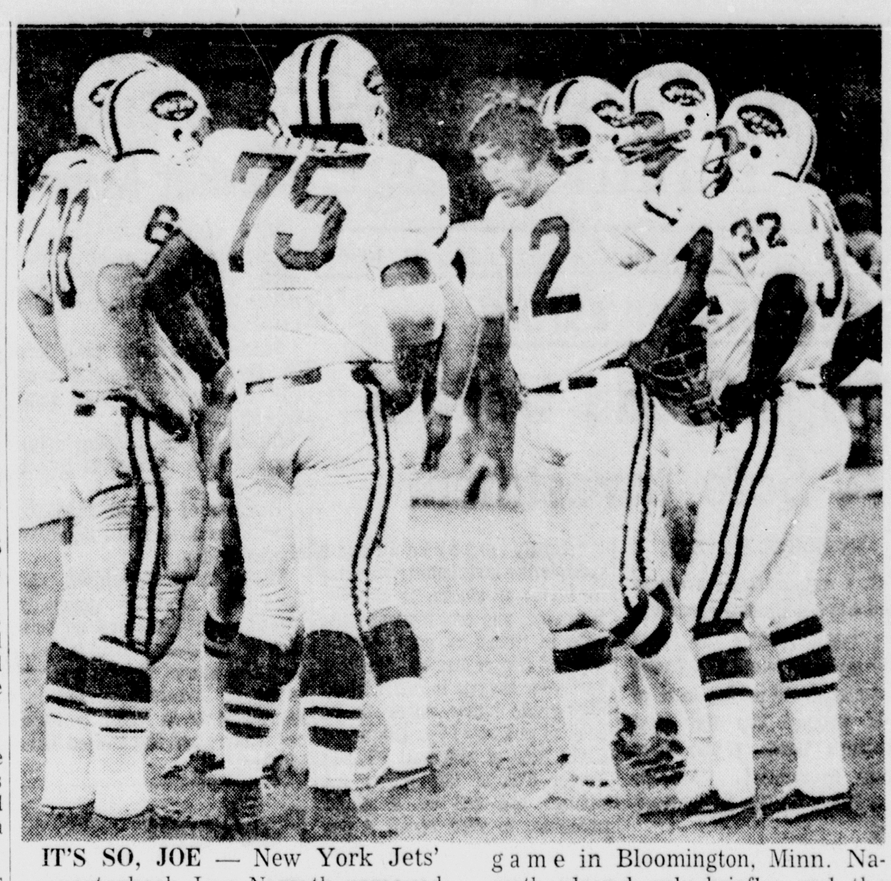

The Cubs, five games out a week ago, have closed to within one game of the first place Pirates, yet their play also has been something less than spectacular, with only six wins in their last 11 games.

All three contenders have played poorly in August, with the Mets showing a 12-18 log .400), the Pirates playing 14-15 ball (.483) and the Cubs the best at a mere 15-15 (.500). The Miracle Mets of 1969 aren't out of it, insists their manager, Gil Hodges. "We're just in a bad streak, the most crucial of the season," Hodges says.

OTHER SCORES

In other National League action St. Louis stopped Los Angeles 2-1, Montreal downed Cincinnati 5-1 and Philadelphia defeated Atlanta 4-2.

In American League play, Boston swept a twinbill from Chicago, 21-11 and 4-1, Detroit downed Oakland 6-5, New York beat Minnesota 5-2, Milwaukee defeated Baltimore 5-2, California nipped Cleveland 10-9, and Kansas City edged Washington 4-3.

IT'S SO, JOE — New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath removed his helmet and consulted his frustrated teammates during the second quarter of last night's exhibition game in Bloomington, Minn. Namath played only briefly, and the Jets were routed by the Vikings, 52-21.

GIANTS

four-hitter when he walked John Jeter after two out. Jeter then stole second and scored on a single by Dave Cash.

"That's the best game he's ever pitched," said Fox. "After that performance I'll try to run him back in there soon and give one of the regular rotation pitchers an extra day off."

Fox, of course, is wondering about the way things could have been had the Giants started playing this well a little sooner.

"I'll tell you," he said, "we could have been right up there scaring the Reds. These fellows (the Giants) look more like contenders, and are playing like contenders, than some of the clubs I've seen the last two weeks."

Bryant was as pleased as he could be with his performance.

"This is the kind of game I always knew I could pitch," said the curly haired lefthander. "I'll admit, though, it was the first time this year I've had all three of my pitches (fastball, curve and slider) working the way I wanted. It makes a difference."

of weakness on cement courts and temperamental outbursts, played Bungert and Ashe, trying to recapture first American ranking, took on Kuhnke.

HEROES

Until they arrived here, the two Germans were national heros. Bungert, 31, a Dusseldorf sporting goods wholesaler, and Kuhnke, also 31, a lefthanded Cologne lawyer, won six interzonal matches to qualify for the challenge round.

"We lost like sheep being led to the slaughter," said Ingo Buding, the German Davis Cupper, court captain and unofficial spokesman.

"Kuhnke and Bungert were asleep out there. I tried to wake them up, but . . ." said the doleful Buding.

Smith of Pasadena, had his scorching service at its best. His great reach and power made him impassable and ferocious at the net.

Lutz, of Los Angeles, stuggled to hold his service in the first set, but he won with ease later on.

GAME PLAN

Turville said the singles victories of Richey and Ashe "followed our game plan."

He said he thought the Germans would expect the 5-foot-7 Richey to follow his normal style and stay back at the baseline.

The 70-year-old tennis trophy will stay in the United States for a third straight year—its longest sojourn in America since the late 1940s.

Turville indicated confidence for next year, even if Ashe sticks to his plan to retire from cup competition unless it is opened to contract pros.

Cuozzo, Vikings Too Much For N.Y. Jets

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe who?

The Minnesota Vikings vs. the New York Jets. Joe Kapp vs. Joe Namath. A natural, right? Wrong.

The two clubs met in a preseason game at Bloomington, Minn., Sunday night with the Kapp-less Vikings whipping the Jets and their Broadway Joe 52-21.

Kapp, the quarterback who led Minnesota to its National Football League title last year but is a holdout this season, was hardly missed Sunday as backup signal caller Gary Cuozzo fired three touchdown passes in the first half for the Vikings.

Namath, late in reporting to camp as usual because of "personal problems" made his first appearance of the exhibition campaign a short one as he played only the second quarter during which time he completed only two of six passes and failed to move the Jets.

Cuozzo, who seems a more than capable replacement for Kapp, hit on nine of 16 passes in the first half, including scoring strikes of 42 yards to Bob Grim, 74 yards to Gene Washington and 14 yards to John Beasley.

The Jets were held scoreless until the third quarter when Matt Snell scored on a two yard run and the already tough Viking defense got good news Sunday when All Pro end Carl Eller ended his holdout. With Eller in the fold, can Kapp be far behind?

The only other game Sunday saw the Green Bay Packers score 24 points in the first quarter and roll to a 37-7 triumph over the Oakland Raiders.

The four-day long exhibition weekend ends tonight with the Philadelphia Eagles meeting the Lions at Detroit.

In Saturday night's action, Atlanta upset Super Bowl champion Kansas City 22-17 thanks to Tom McCauley's 98-yard return of a missed field goal attempt; Miami presented new coach Don Shula with a 20-13 victory over his former team the Baltimore Colts; Jess Phillips' two touchdowns sparked Cincinnati past Cleveland 31-24 as Bengals' coach Paul Brown also had the pleasure of beating his former team.

John Brodie tossed three touchdown passes as San Francisco beat Denver 23-7; flanker Jerry Levias tallied three touchdowns in helping Houston upset Dallas 37-21; David Ray's three field goals enabled Los Angeles to down San Diego 16-14; two touchdown passes by Bill Kilmer pushed New Orleans past Boston 26-20; and St. Louis downed Chicago 24-3.

Freehan Out For Season

DETROIT (UPI) — Catcher Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season because of back surgery scheduled later this week.

Freehan will undergo surgery Wednesday. He has a bith defect in his back, which has caused him considerable pain this season. Jim Price and rookie Gene Lamont will handle the catching duties in his absence.

SPORTS SHORTS

Mantle Back With Yanks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

NEW YORK — Mickey Mantle is back in a New York Yankee uniform, this time as a coach.

Mantle made his coaching debut for the Yanks Sunday during a game with the Minnesota Twins, handling three innings of coaching on the first base line.

The former Yankee star said he came back to baseball, "because I was tired of doing nothing."

Auto Racing

ONTARIO, Calif. — The lineup of 33 cars is set today for the inaugural California 500 at Ontario Motor Speedway Sunday next with Lloyd Ruby, the Texan who has a history of hard luck, in the pole position.

Ruby who has had many mishaps in the Indianapolis 500, the history-laden Memorial Day race for big cars, qualified on the new 2.5 mile oval here Saturday with a four-lap average of 177.567 miles an hour.

Tennis

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. — The Rocket is ready for Forest Hills this Wednesday for the U.S. Open Tennis championships.

Rod Laver, The Rocket, had little or no difficulty in the final of the $25,000 Marlboro Open Sunday, brushing aside Bob Carmichael, another Aussie who now resides in France. Laver whipped through in 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 and picked up the $5,000 top money.

Baseball

DETROIT — Pitcher Denny McLain of Detroit reacted to his second lengthy suspension of the season by asking to be traded and blaming the Tigers' general manager —a longtime supporter of his —for the team's collapse.

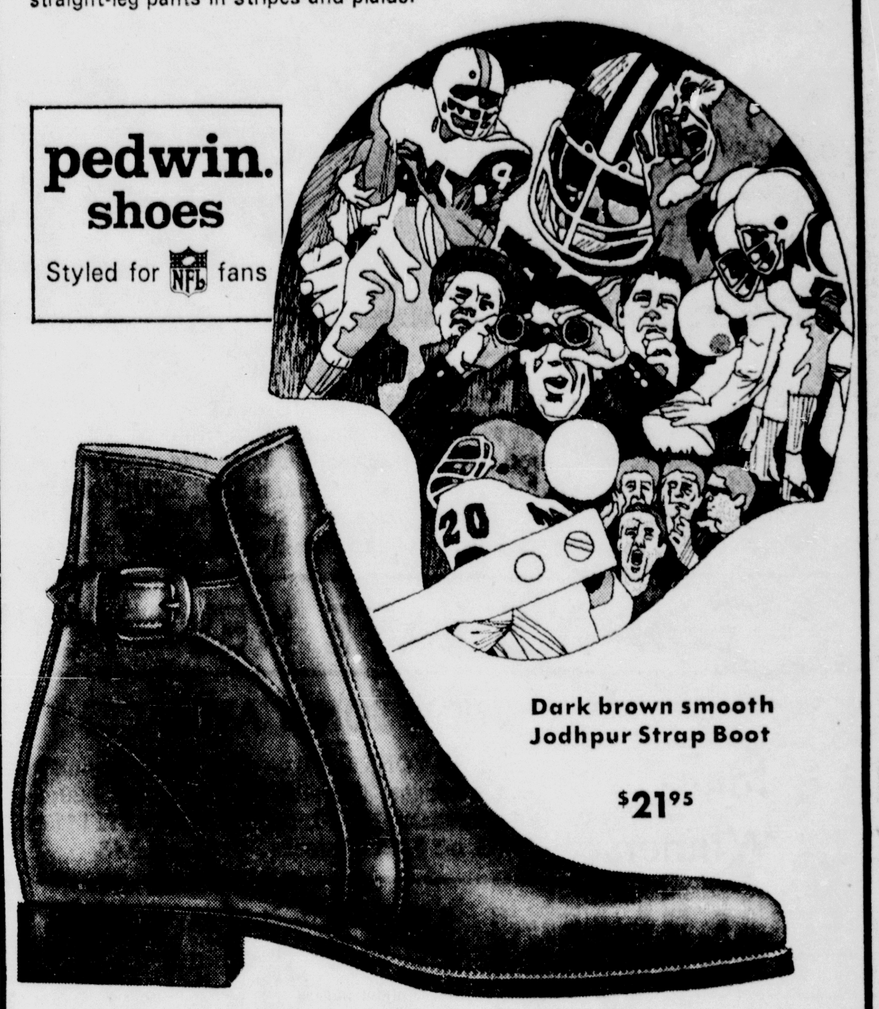

On Friday, Campbell suspended McLain for up to 30 days without his estimated $500-a-day pay for dousing two sportswriters with ice water.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

High-Grade Utilities A Safe Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am nearing retirement and have a sizeable amount in the bank earning the usual low rate of interest. A friend has suggested putting some of this money into Gulf and Western bonds. I also have other investments. What do you think of this suggestion? B.S.

A. Not much. Gulf and Western has $952 million in long-term debt, including two straight debt issues and three classes of convertible bonds. All are rated single B and sell to yield around 12 per cent to maturity, strongly indicative of the market's low appraisal of the quality of these bonds. As one approaches retirement, preservation of capital becomes increasingly important and a speculative investemnt, whether in bonds or stocks, is unwise. However, you can increase the rate of return on your capital without fear of loss by investing half your savings in short-term, high-grade utility notes to be held to maturity. Duquesne Light 8¼s of 1976 and Florida Power 8⅛s of 1975 carry AA ratings and sell at a slight premium to yield about 8 per cent to maturity. Either of these issued would suit your purpose.

Q. I have shares of Pacific Power and Light purchased at 23. The shares now trade at around 16½ and I am considering buying more. This will lower my average cost and raise my average yield. Do you think this is a wise move? R.E.

A. As long as you are primarily concerned with income rather than growth your plan has merit. A 10 per cent nincrease in Pacific P&L's common shares outstanding may restrict earnings improvement this year. The company has applied for rate relief in the three states it serves which would add 31 cents a share to annual earnings if granted. At recent trading levels, shares yield a generous 7.8 per cent, a portion of which is nontaxable as income. This tax shelter — last year 70 per cent of the dividend was exempt — will probably remain in effect until mid-1972. Because yield is figured on current share price, not cost, your average return is not affected by the purchase.

Gas Consumption Shows Giant Hikes

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — Of America's three major fuels, natural gas has made the greatest increase in use during recent decades, according to a geological survey conducted under direction of the Illinois State Department of Registration and Education.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association says the survey also revelaed that while energy consumption from fuels grew 82 per cent in a recent 10-year period, gas consumption rose 324 per cent.

Profit Taking Turns Stock Market Mixed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking turned the stock market mixed Monday after a strong advance last week turnover was moderate.

Shortly before the final bell, the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue ships was off 0.75 at 765.06.

But of the 1,572, issues crossing the tape, advances topped declines, 685 to 614.

Turnover of around 10,750,000 shares was down from 13,820,000 shares Friday.

Steels, rails, chemicals, airlines and aircrafts generally traded in fractions and on both ides of previous closings. Motors also moved over a narrow range as investors waited for developments in talks between car makers and the United Auto Workers.

Packard Owners Form Club

FRESNO (UPI) —During the first half of the century the Packard automobile was to status conscious car owners what the Rolls Royce and Bentley are today. Packards were presidential cars and several supreme court justices owned one.

In the late 1950's, the Packard went the way of the Edsel and the Packard Corporation tapered off production and began producing Studebakers. By 1959, Packards were out of production.

The love of Packards, however, lingered in many people and two weeks ago, a 23-year-old Fresno car salesman decided to launch a local Packard owners club.

A recent Fresno State College graduate, he said his idea met with such response - there are 50 Packard owners in Fresno - that he has decided to expand the club to the entire central San Joaquin Valley.

"We are inviting every Packard owner in the valley to join the club," Kendig said "Membership cards are free."

The club plans to meet the last Sunday of every month and go on motor tours around the valley. The first meeting was held here.

Kendig bought his first Packard, a 1955 Clipper, nearly three years ago. He says his parents had owned three and he had always wanted one.

What was their attraction?

"They were a luxury car," Kendig answers, "carefully made with a high performance engine and loaded with features which became standard only in the 1960's."

Because only a few Packards were made from 1957 to 1959 they have become collector's items and hence extremely valuable. Kendig says a 1958 Packard sedan or hardtop in good condition is now worth $5,000.

One Fresno club member, Doug Judy, owns 15 Packards. Another owns a 1909 Roadster worth $10,000. Kendig says there are probably some Packard owners in the valley who aren't aware that they might be driving a collector's item.

Sunday, he says, they might find out.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Lemonade And Pastry Shop Will Turn Out Complete Line

A new tenant has taken over the bakery space in the United Market on Third Street, formerly occupied by the Sugar Plum Bakers.

Jonas Curtis of Fairfax, through Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty, has leased the location and will open tomorrow as Kimbo's Lemonade and Pastry Shop, a corporation which he heads. The bakery is completely equipped and will turn out pastries, wedding cakes, bread and other baked goods. There will also be a fruit juice and coffee bar. It will have a separate entrance here and will open at 7 a.m. daily.

Curtis was formerly in the baking industry in Syracuse, N.Y. He has also had a furniture business — also known as Kimbo's (taken from his daughter's name). He plans to open other bakeries and is considering an additional retail outlet for his goods in Marin County.

A CENTRAL LOCATION for individual antique dealers and collectors to display their wares is planned by Anthony and Patricia Barbera of San Anselmo, who have bought the former R. G. Fontana building at 316 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

They will remodel the 3,-600-square foot structure extensively and divide it into 100-square foot areas partitioned by satin ropes. These will be rented out for a minimum of three months. The entire display, to be known as Collective Antiques, will be open Tuesdays through Sundays, with private viewings for decorators and preferred customers on the first Monday of each month.

Other services will include monthly newsletters to Bay Area decorators listing items available and to their tenants listing items in demand. Front show window displays will be on a rotation basis.

ROBERT F. MASON of Marinwood has been promoted to manager of the Greenbrae office of Wells Fargo Bank. Formerly assistant manager of the New Montgomery office in San Francisco, he succeeds Richard A. Olrich who has been assigned to West Bay Division headquarters. Mason joined the bank in 1962 with three years previous banking and business experience. At one time he was credit officer of the San Anselmo branch and subsequently assistant manager there.

Mason White

INSURANCE: Steven White of Mill Valley has been promoted to regional group manager of the San Francisco group office of Prudential Insurance Co. He has been with the company since 1965 and with the San Francisco office since 1966, recently as local group manager . . . San Rafael insurance agent Terry Jarcik and staff members Robert Parks of San Anselmo and Erling Finwall of Corte Madera attended a commercial property and casualty school at Stockton sponsored by Safeco Insurance Co. this month.

WHEN CLOSE RELATIVES work together, emotions often interfere with business decisions and operating efficiency.

A new leaflet is now available from the Small Business Administration, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, Box 36044, San Francisco entitled "Problems in Managing a Family-Owned Business" — number 208 in the Management Aid series. It discusses suggestions for solving management and disagreement on method of operation and other family-business problems.
